

The background of the slide is composed of numerous concentric, irregular shapes that resemble blobs or organic forms. These shapes are nested within each other, creating a sense of depth. The colors transition from a very light, almost white, central area to various shades of pink, lavender, and finally to a dark purple at the outer edges. The lines defining these shapes are thin and black, giving the overall effect a layered, topographical appearance.

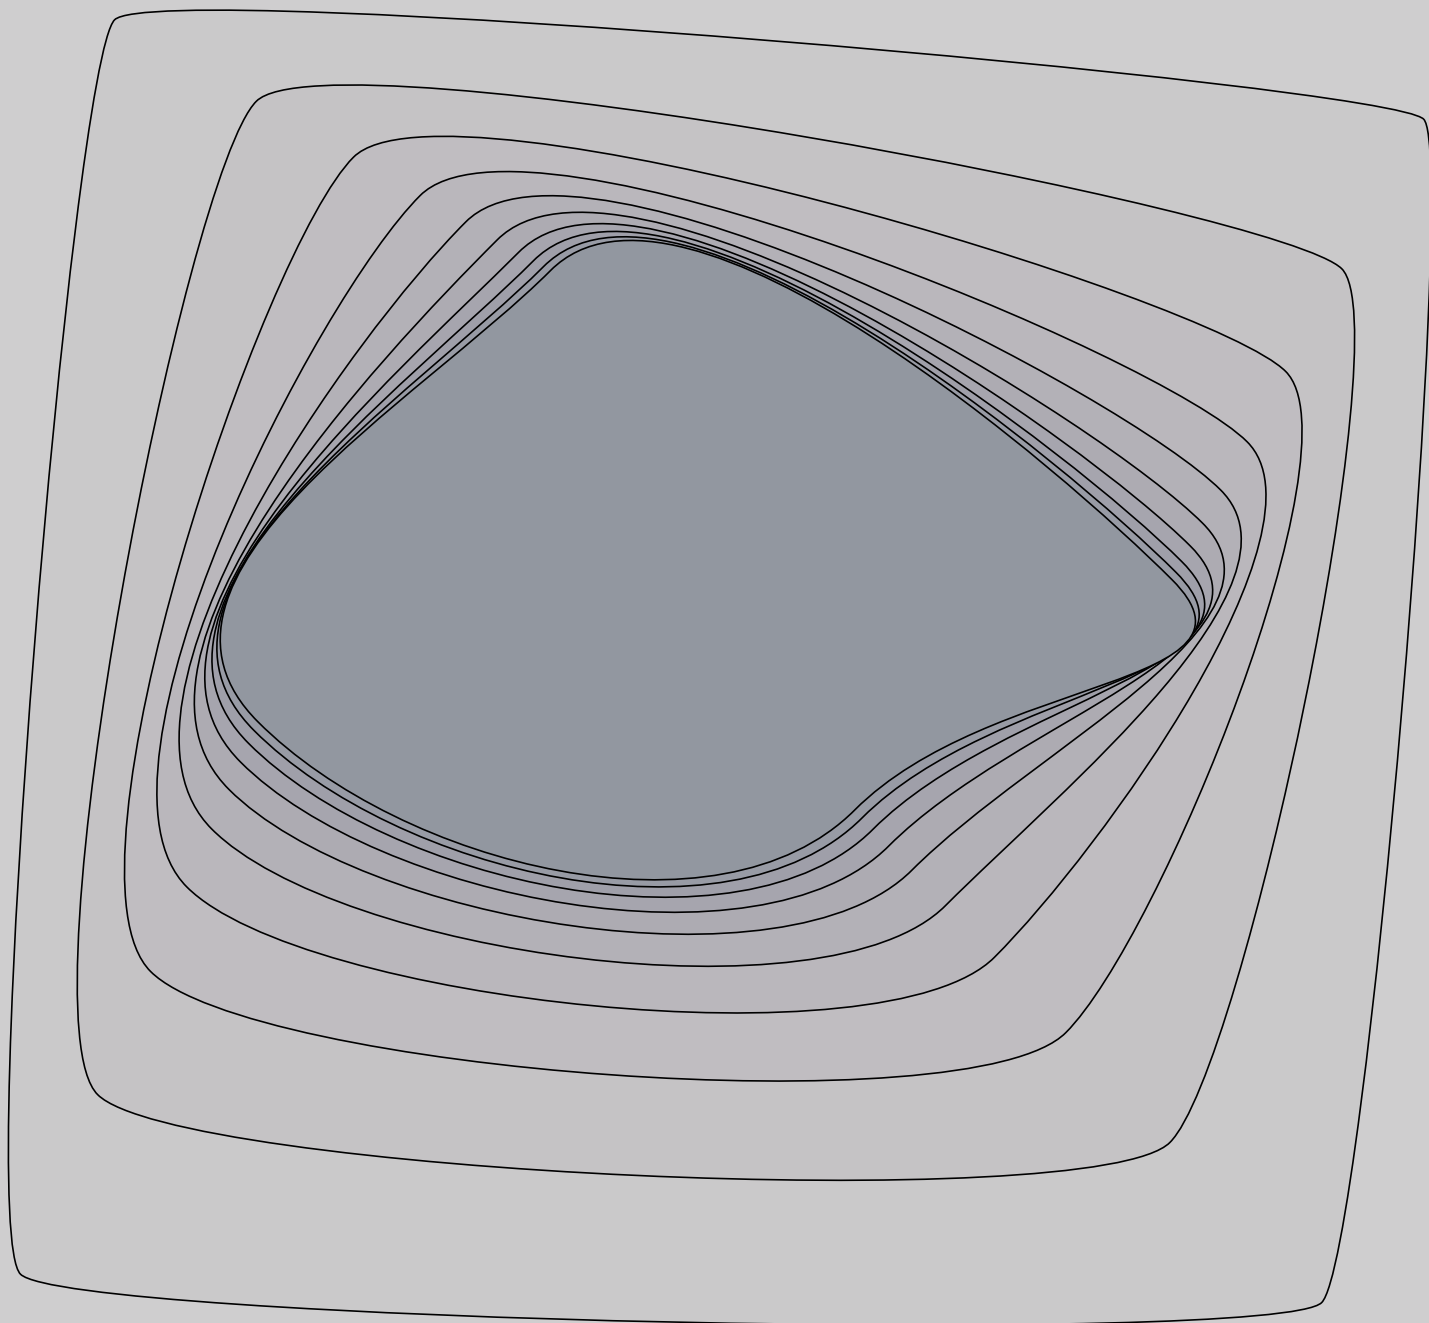

100 random blobs

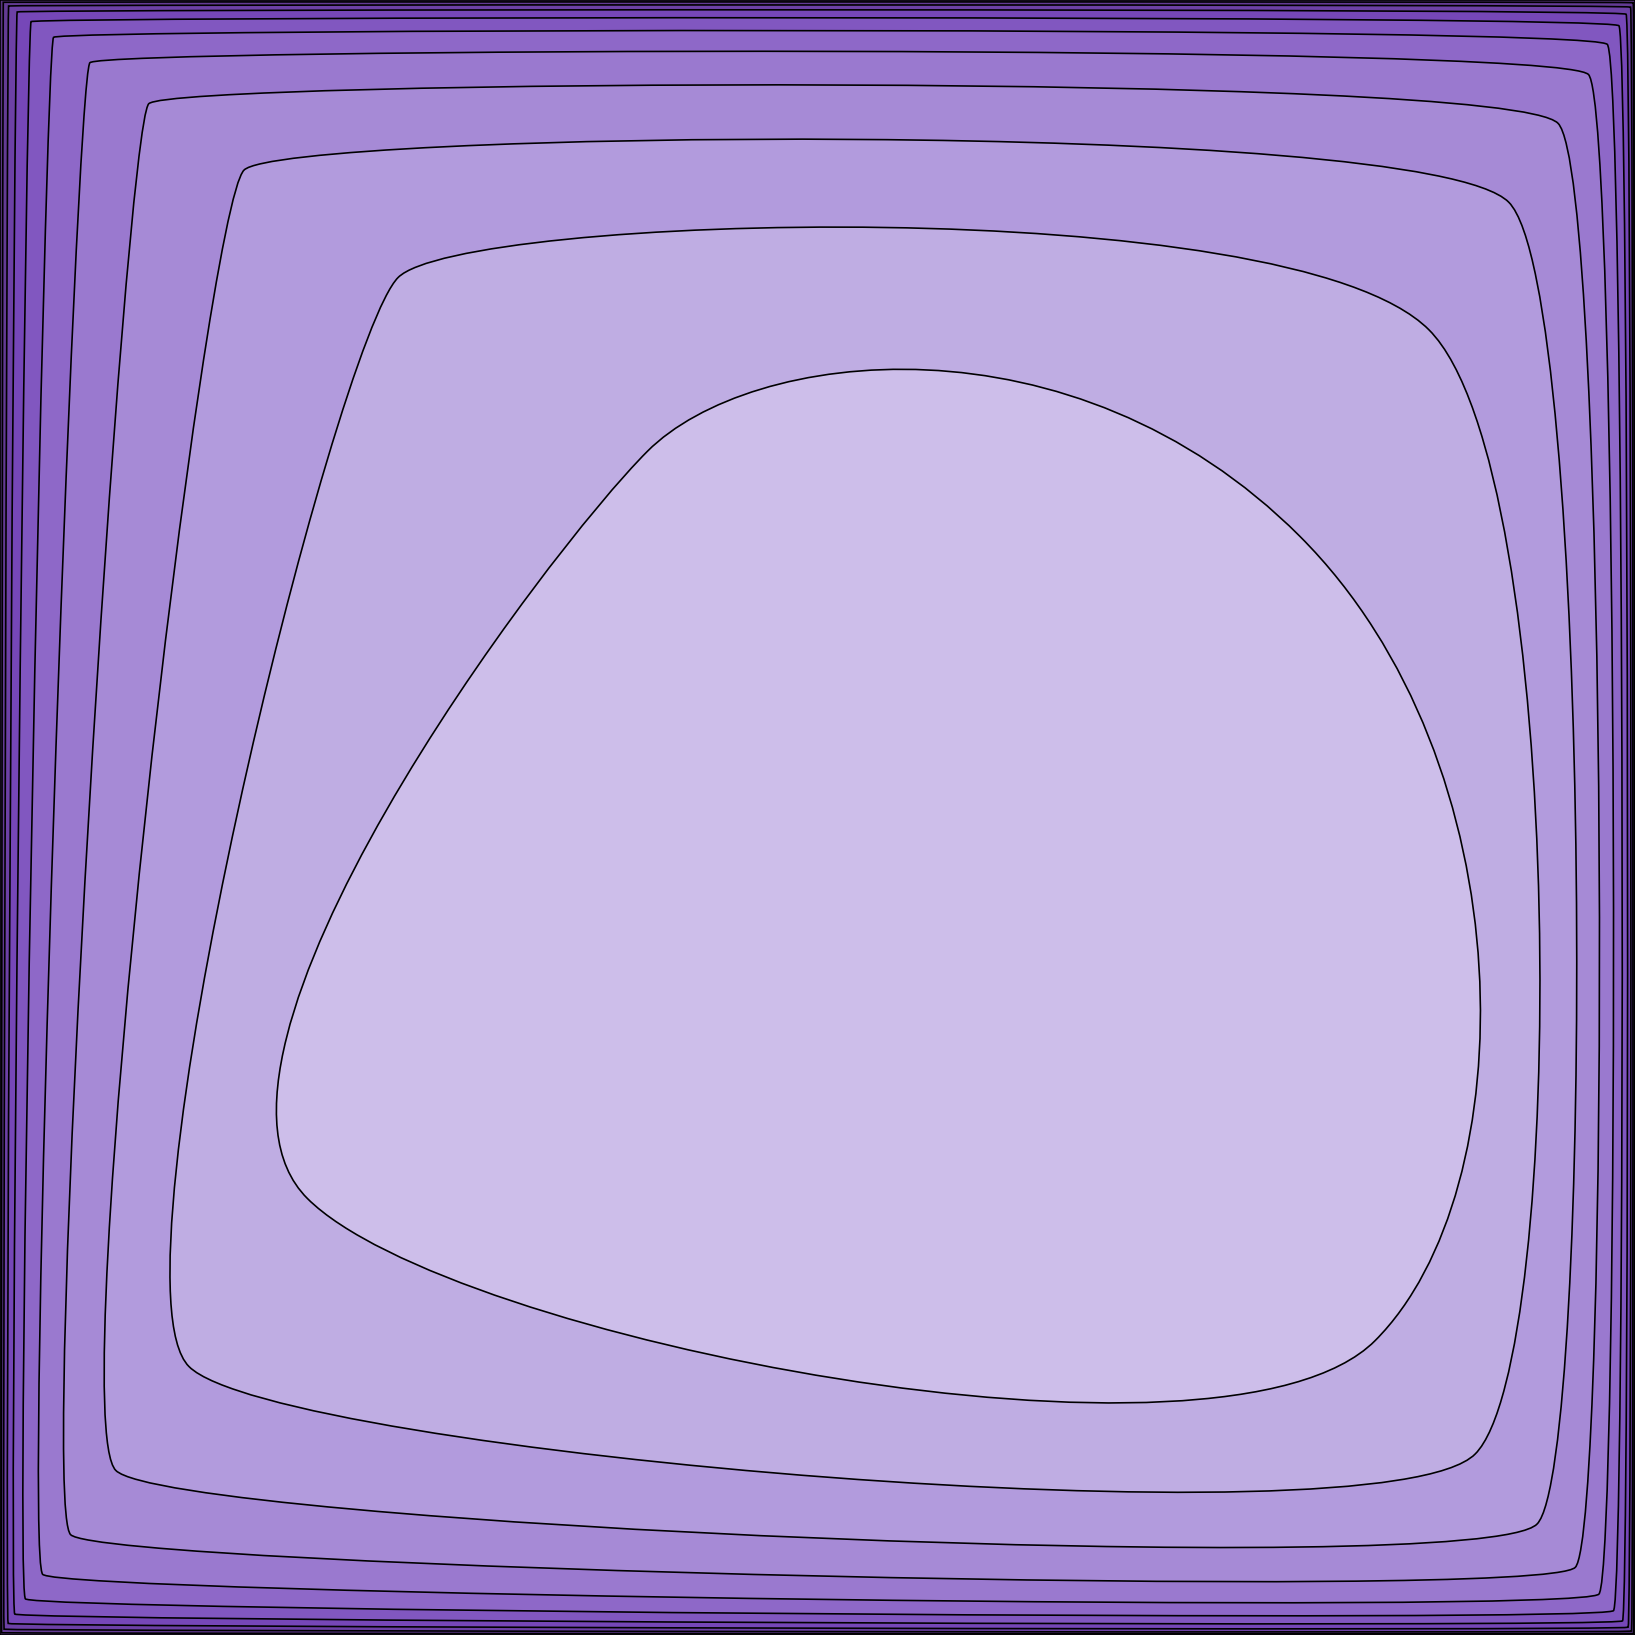

December the 4th, 2014 — Vasilis van Gemert

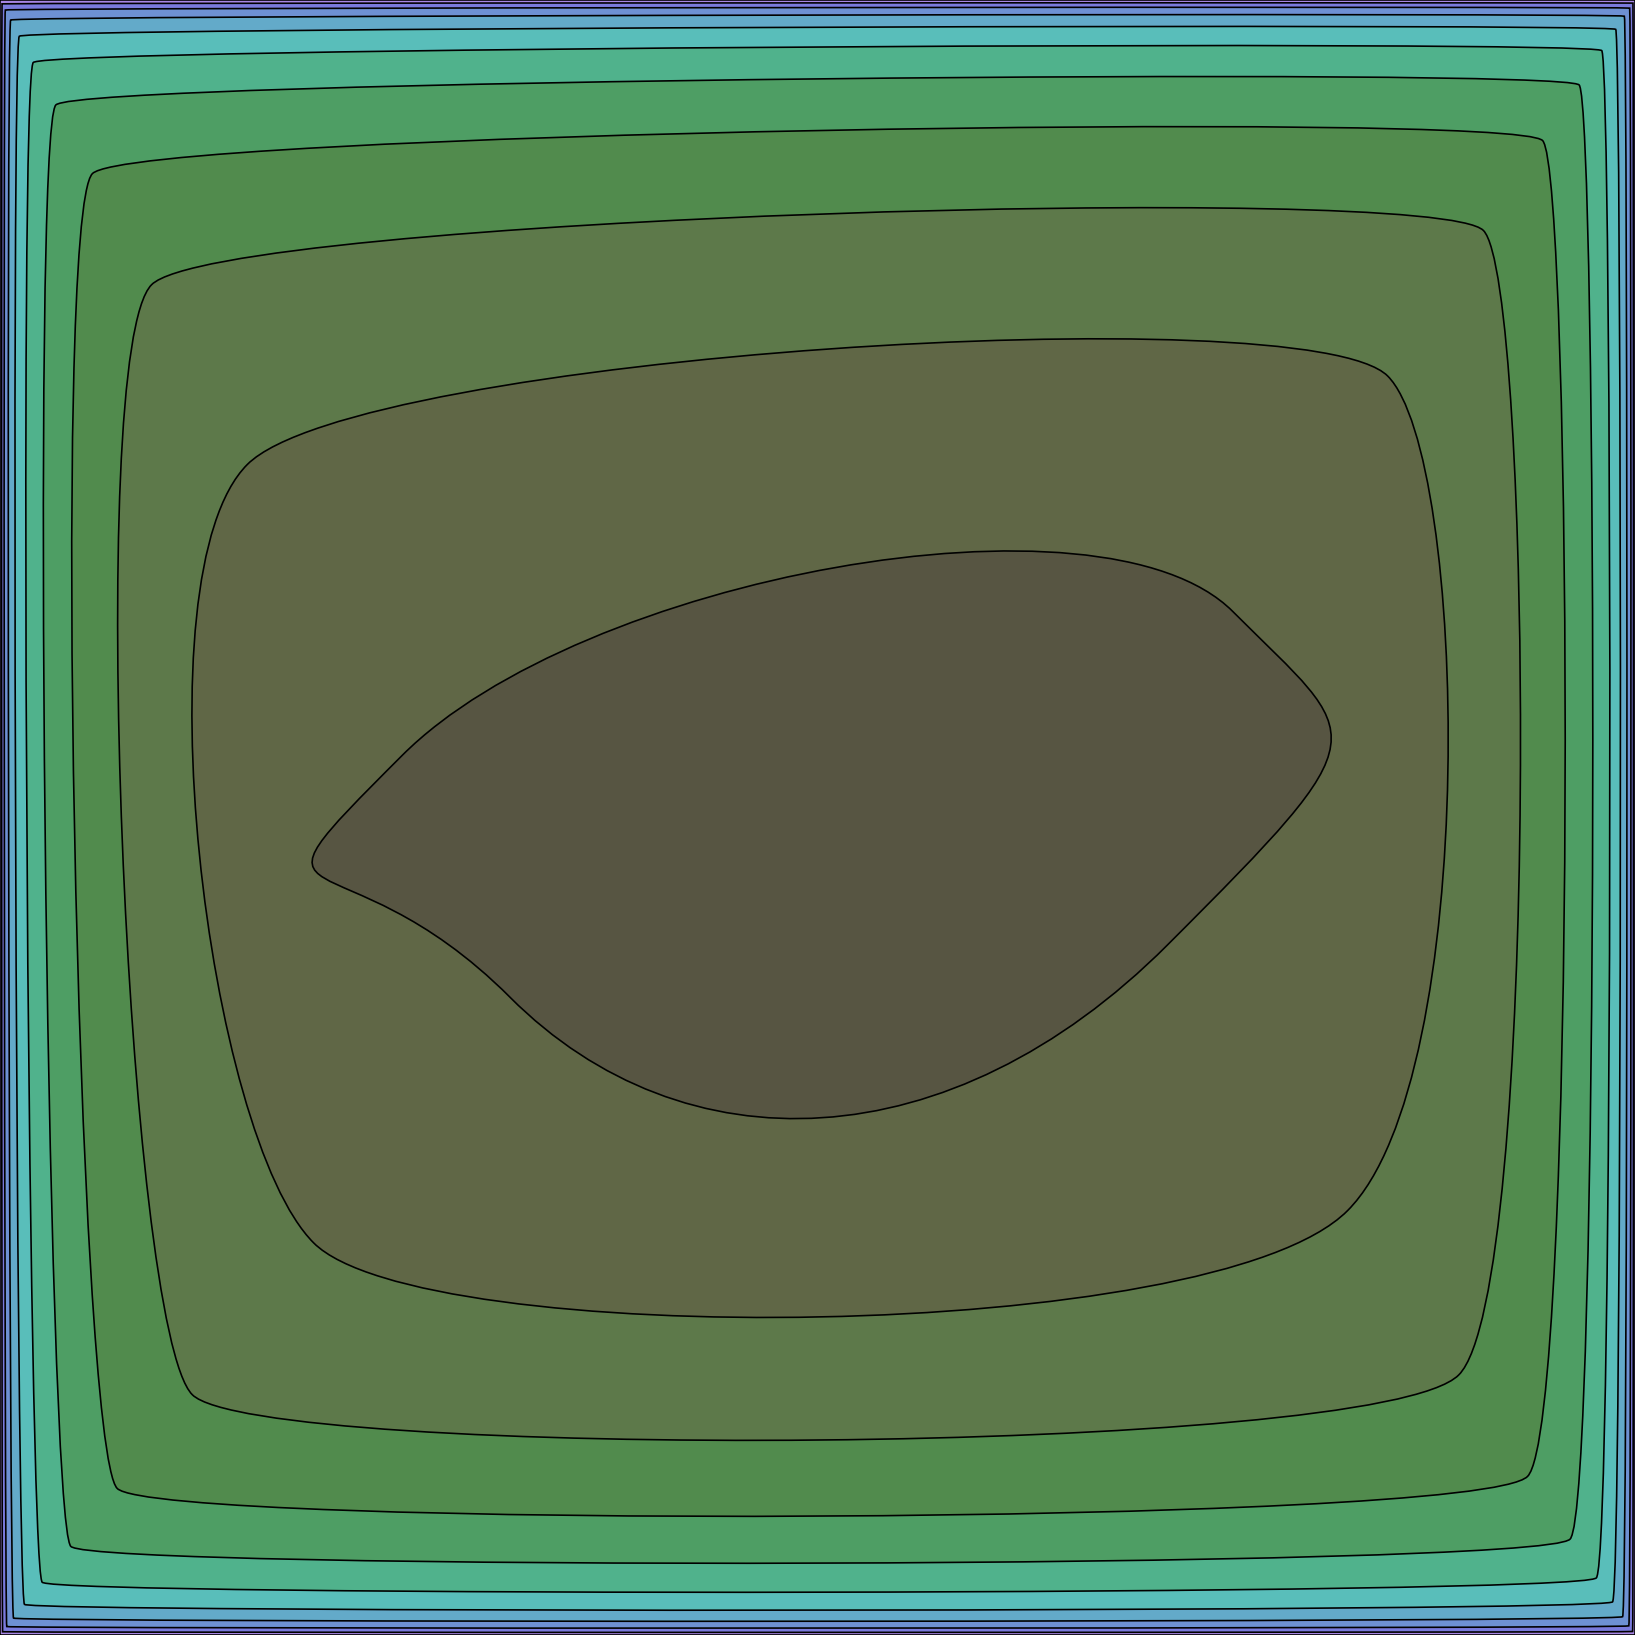

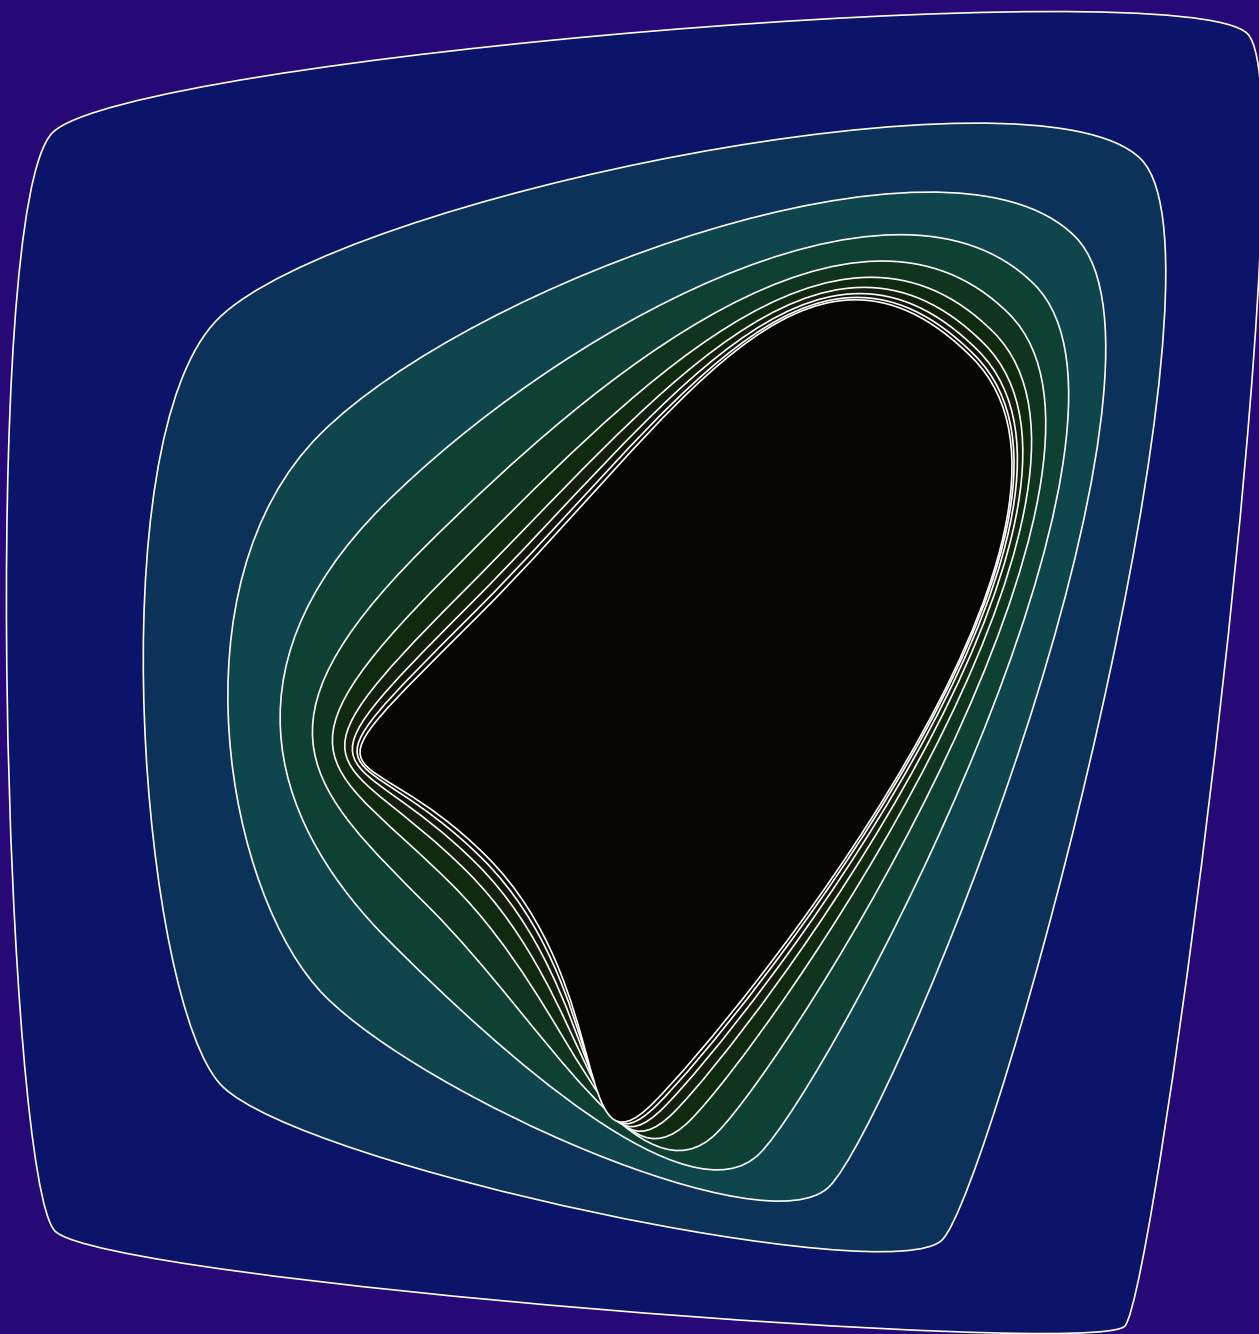

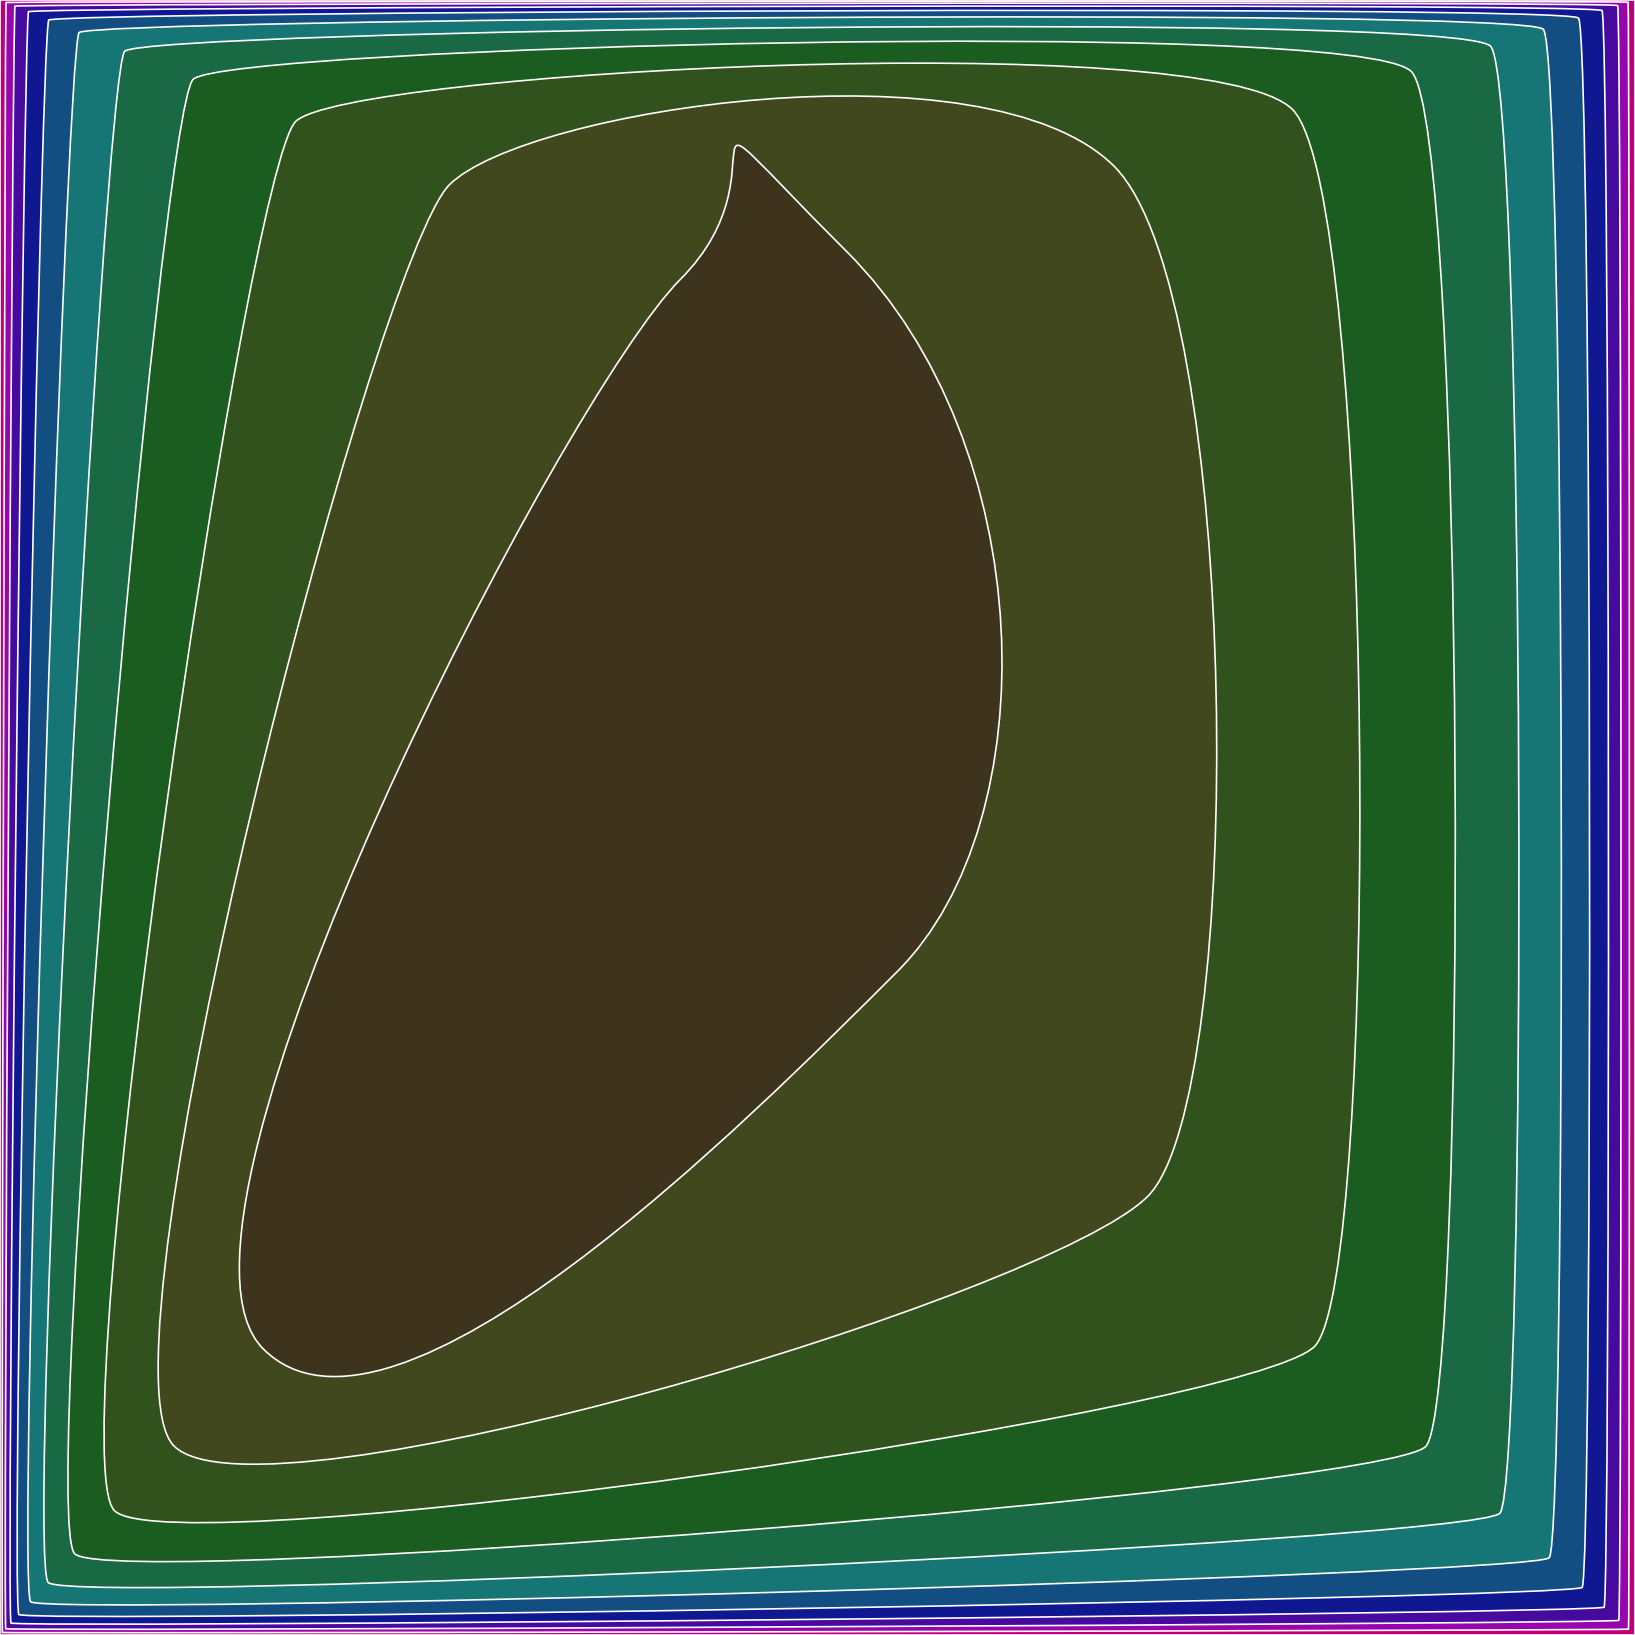

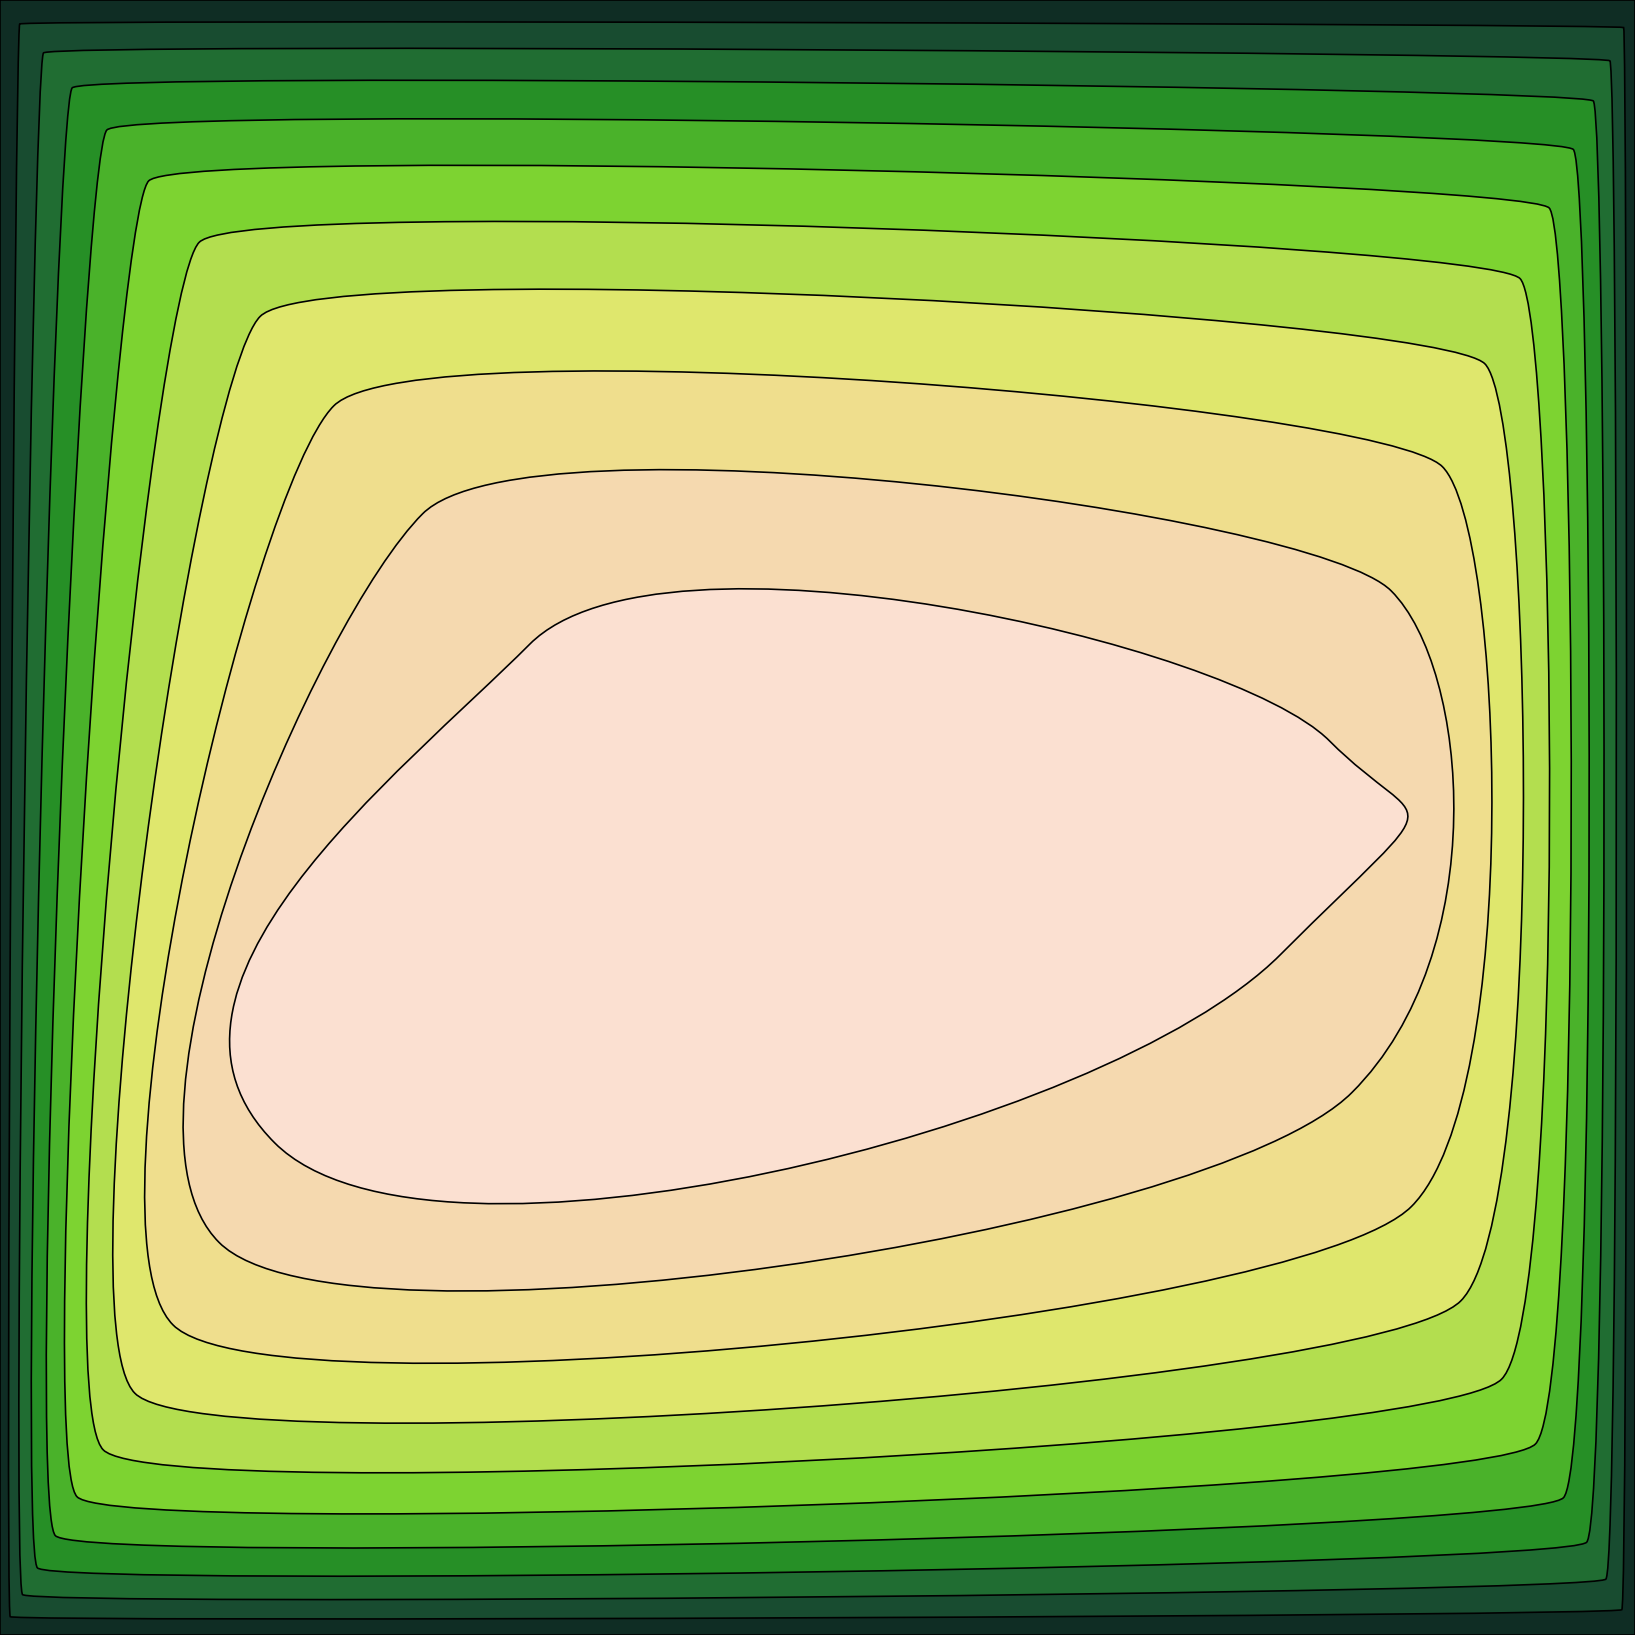

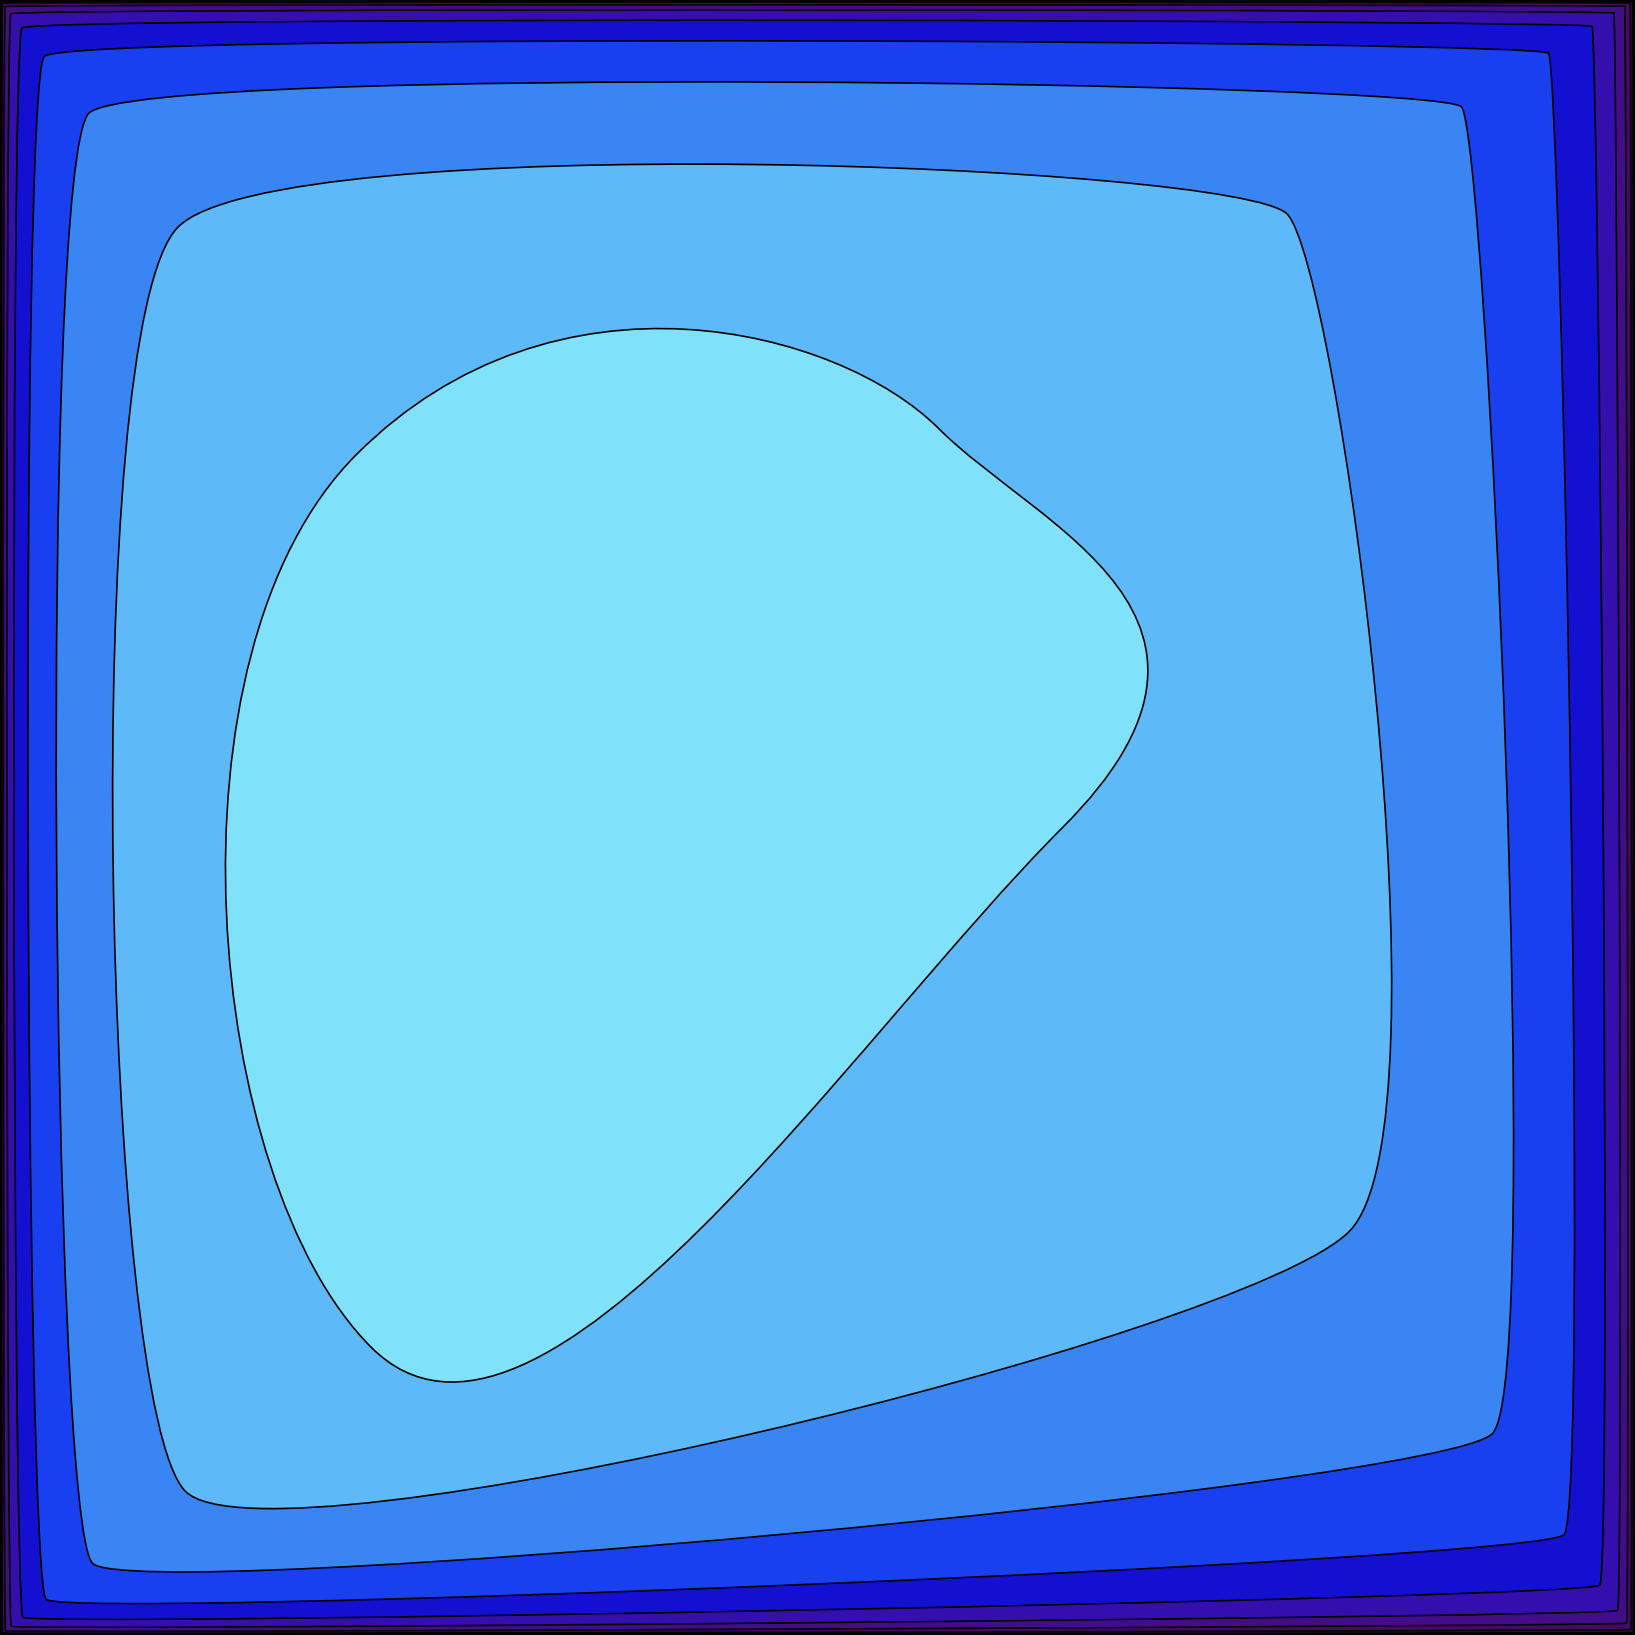

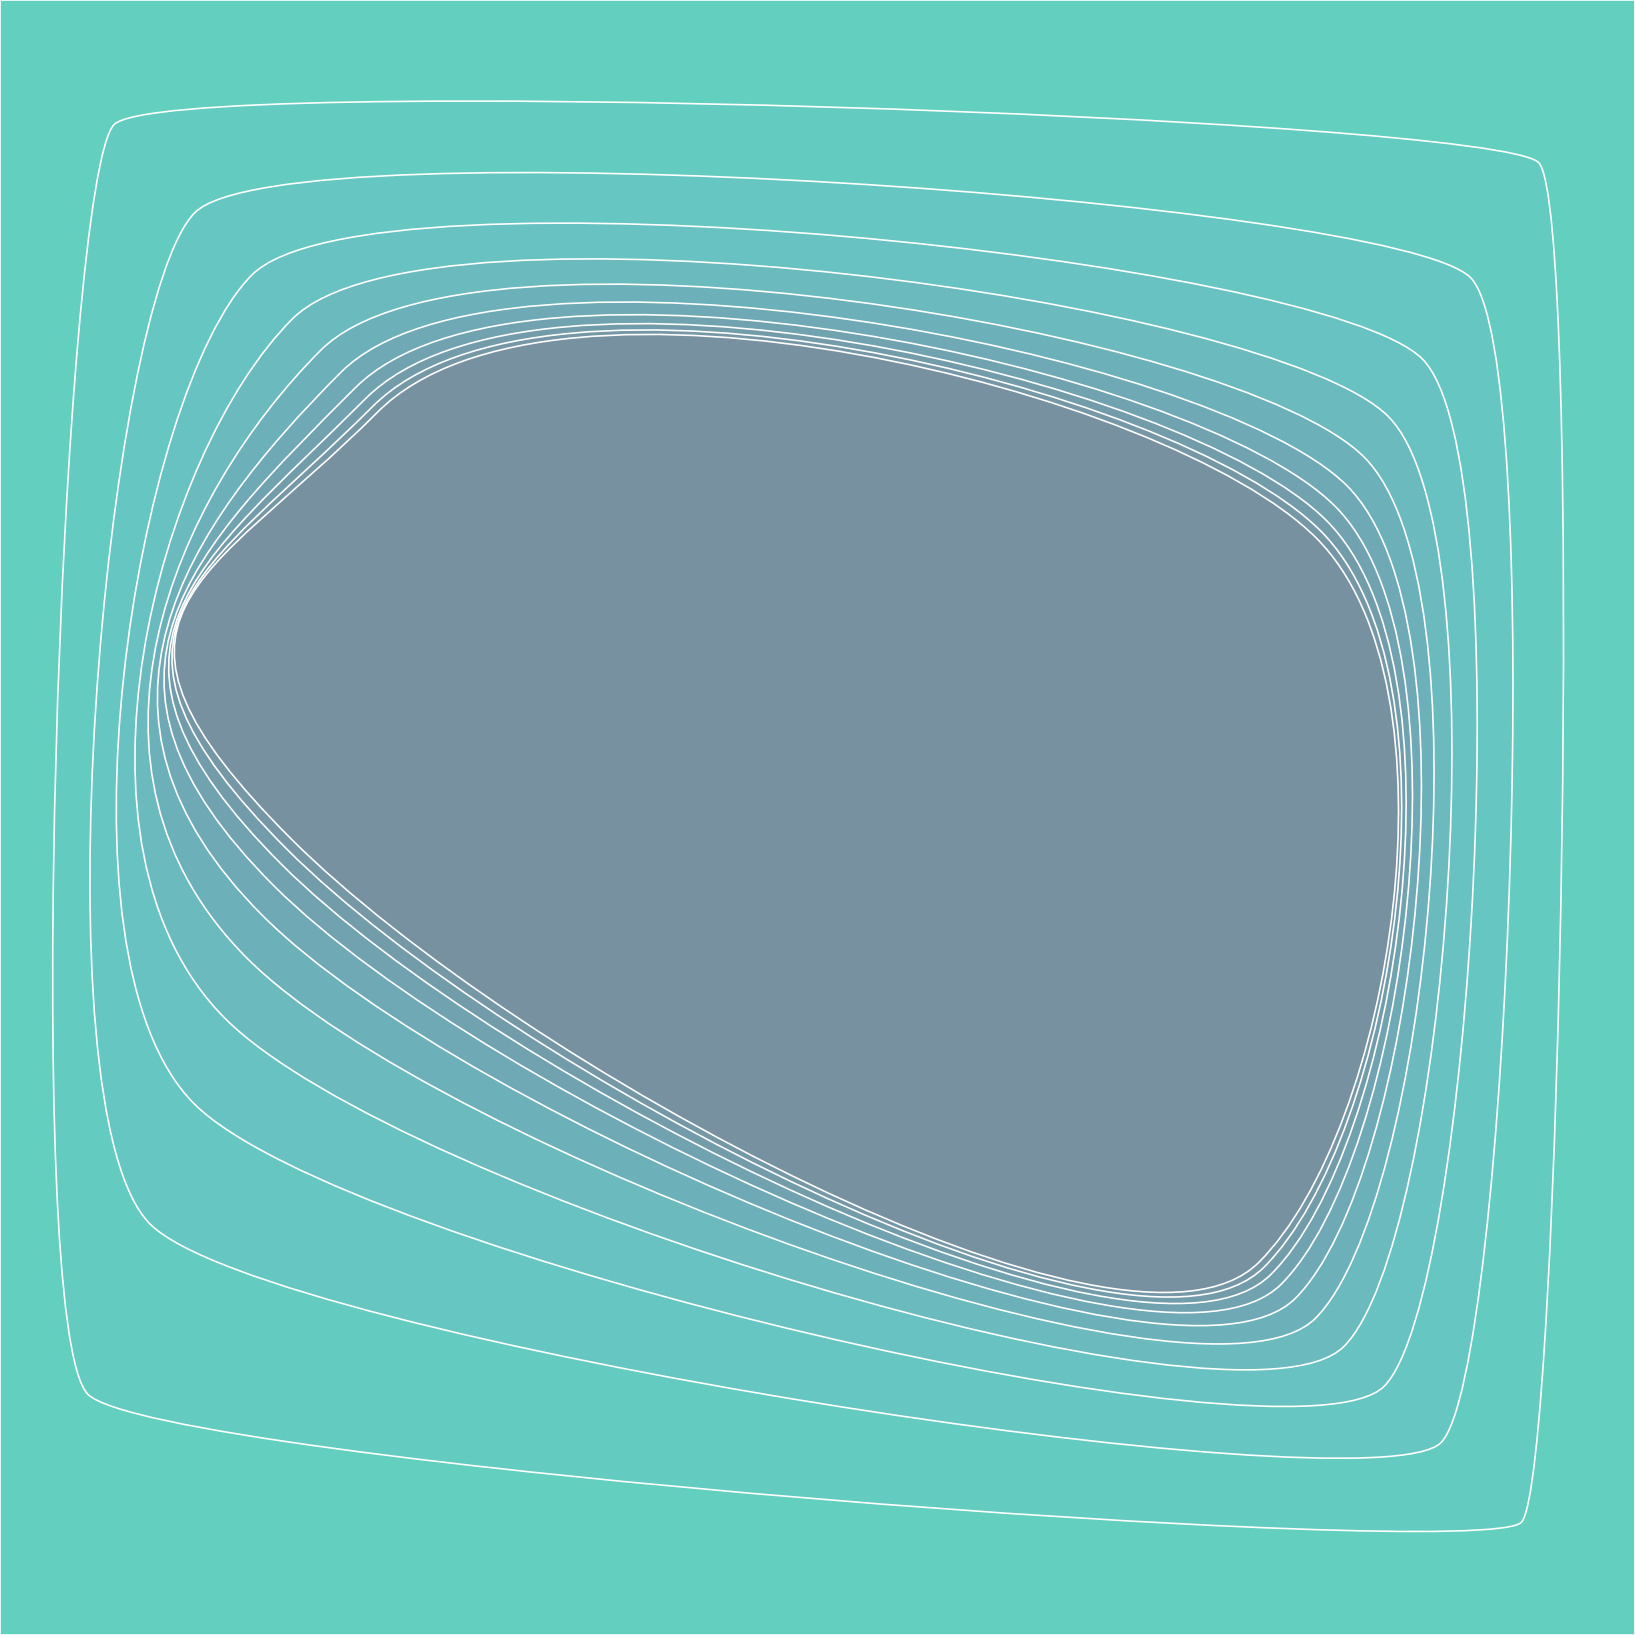

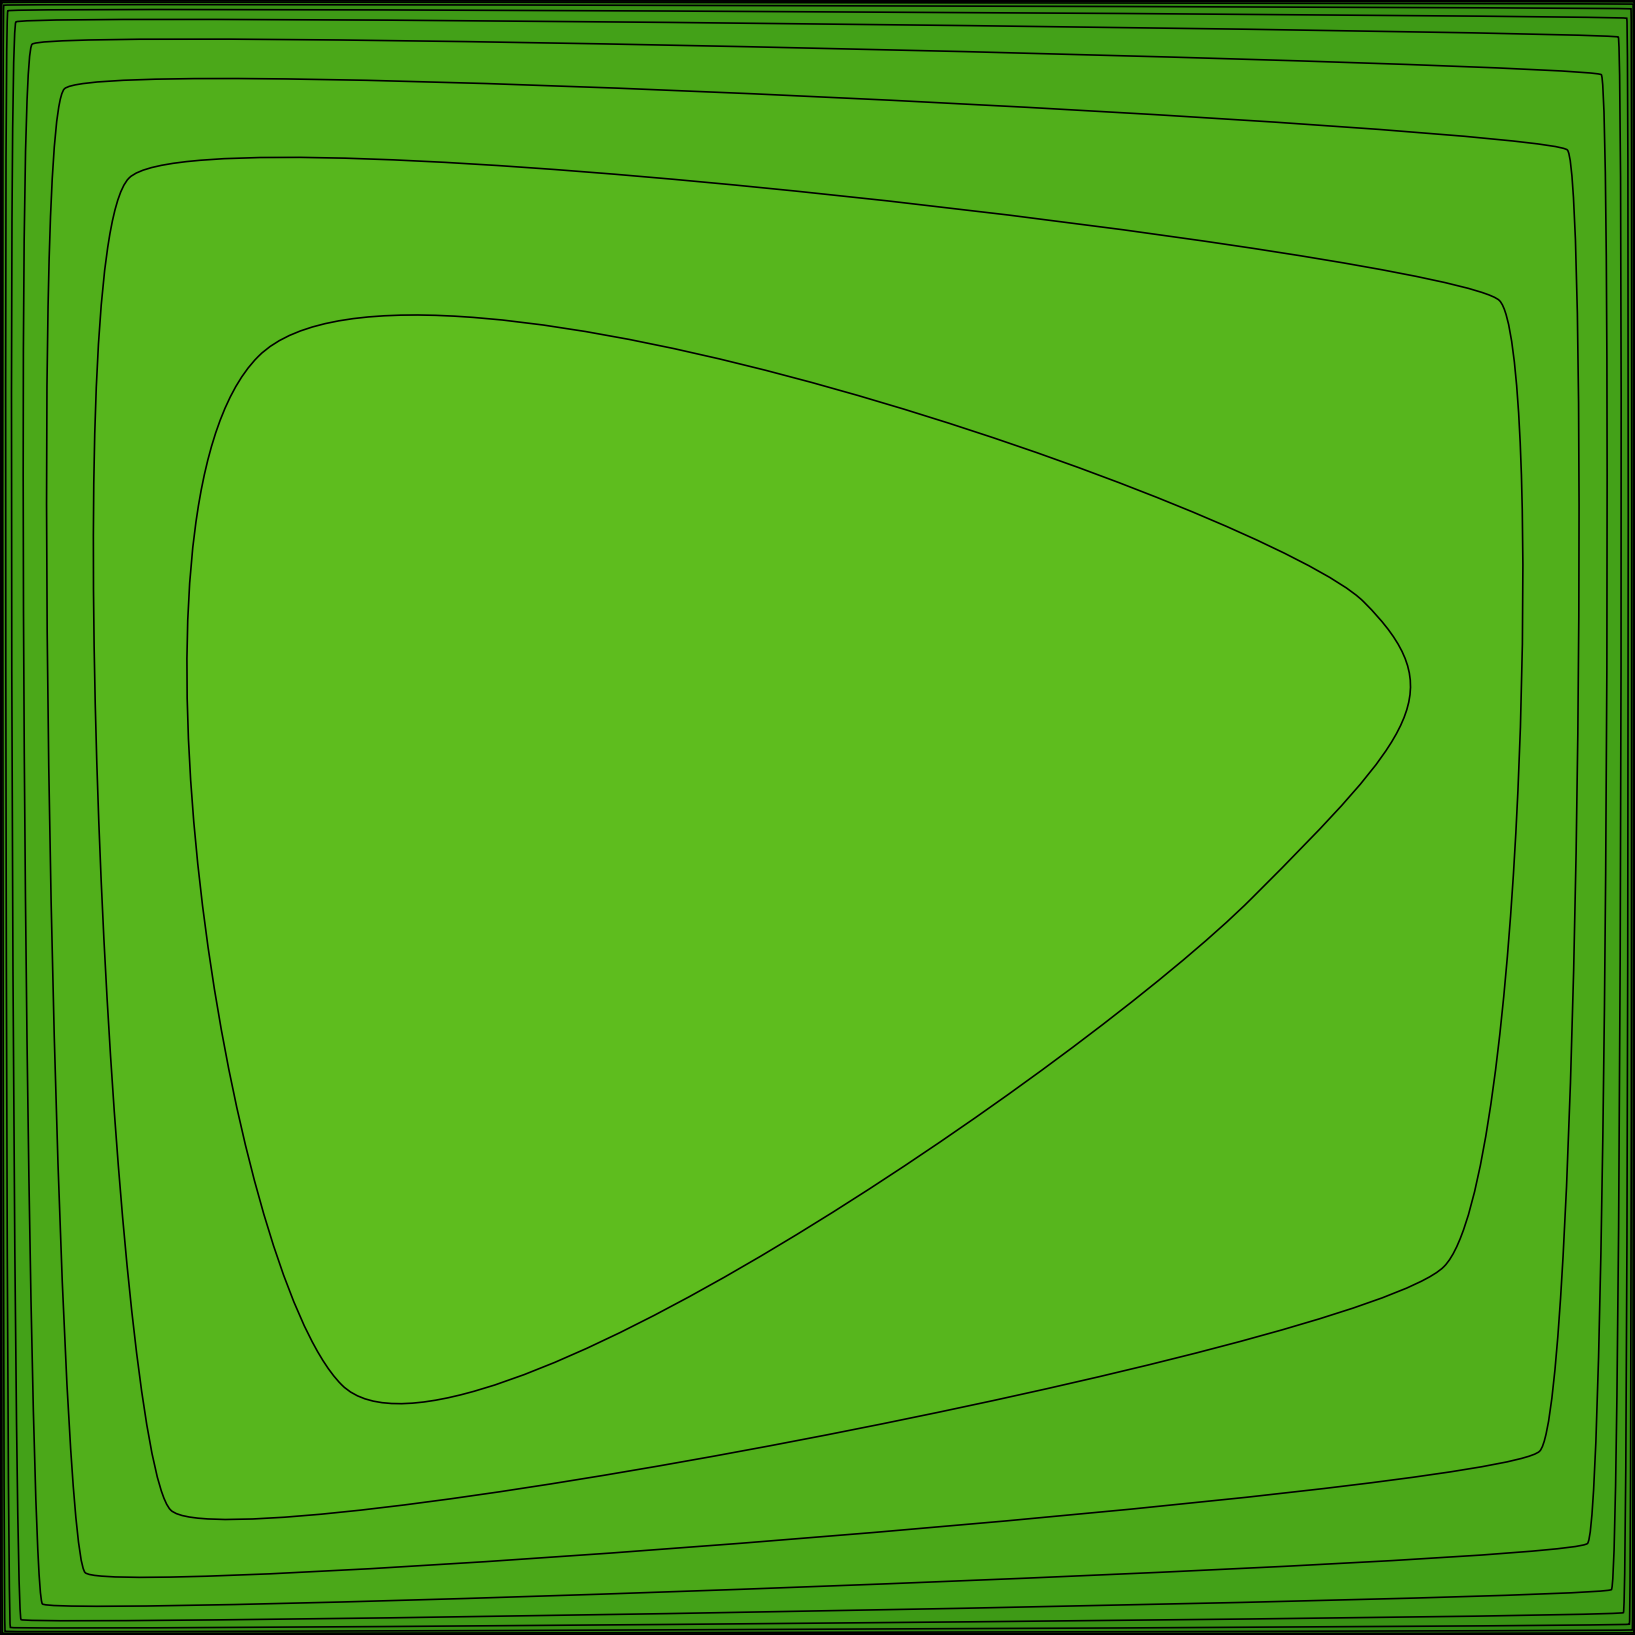

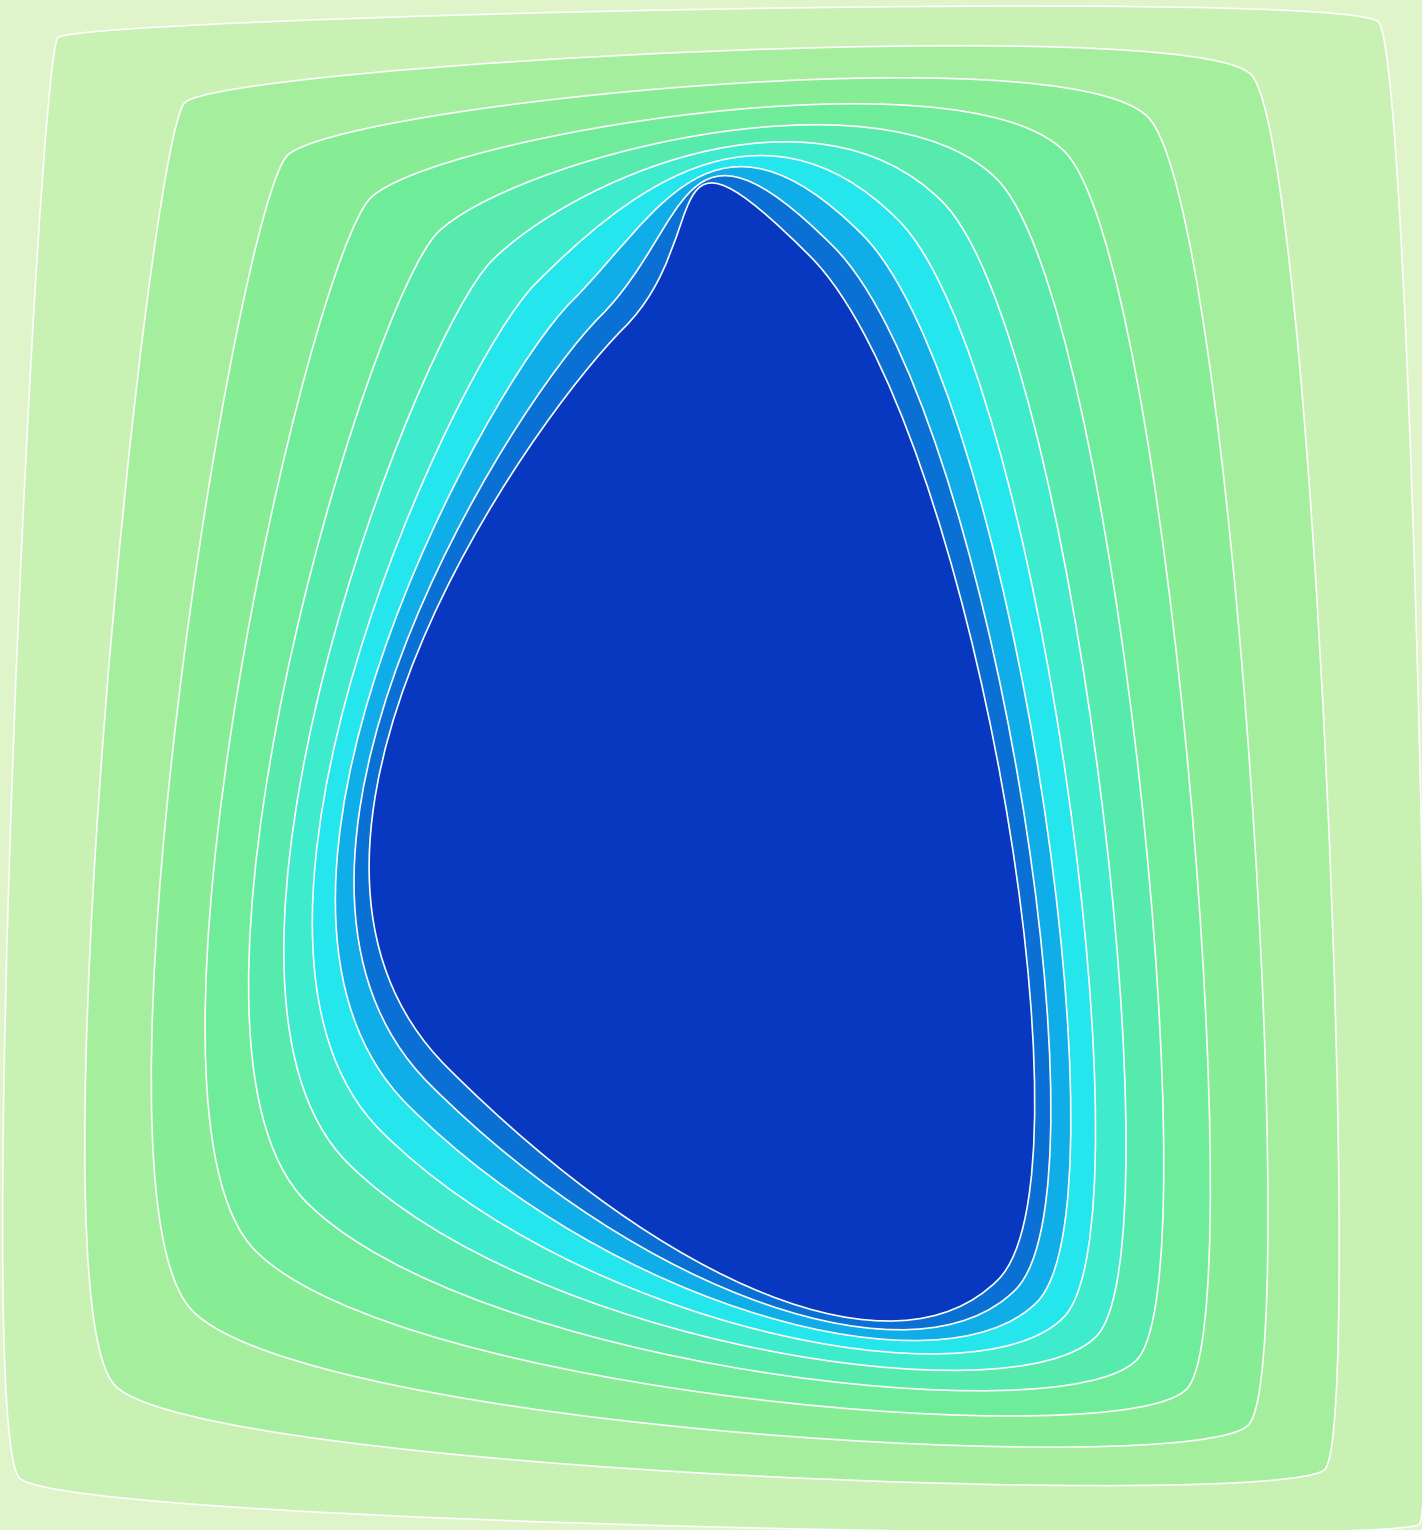

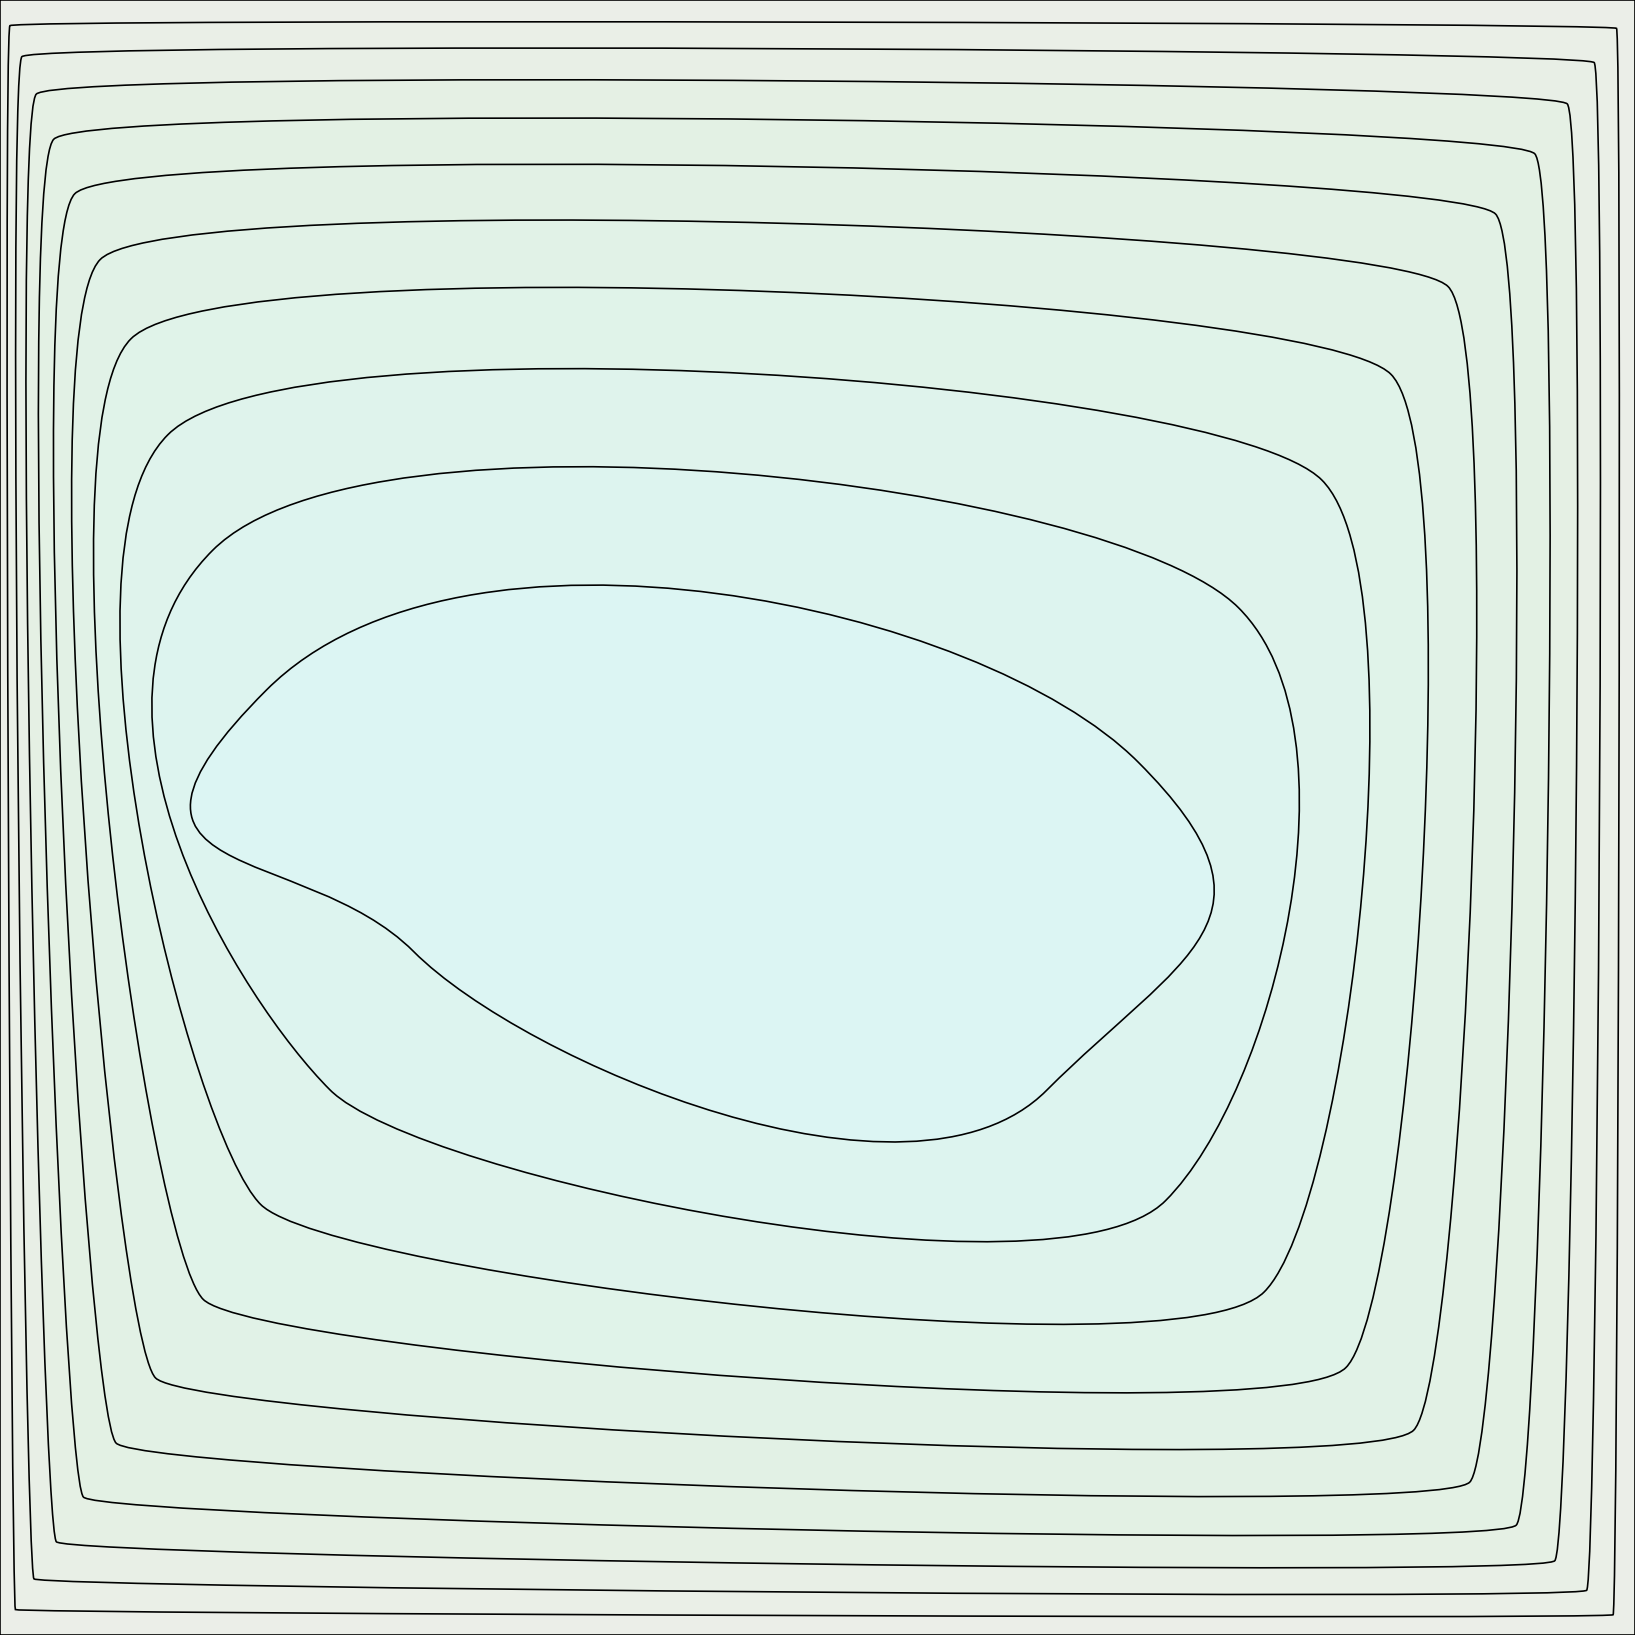

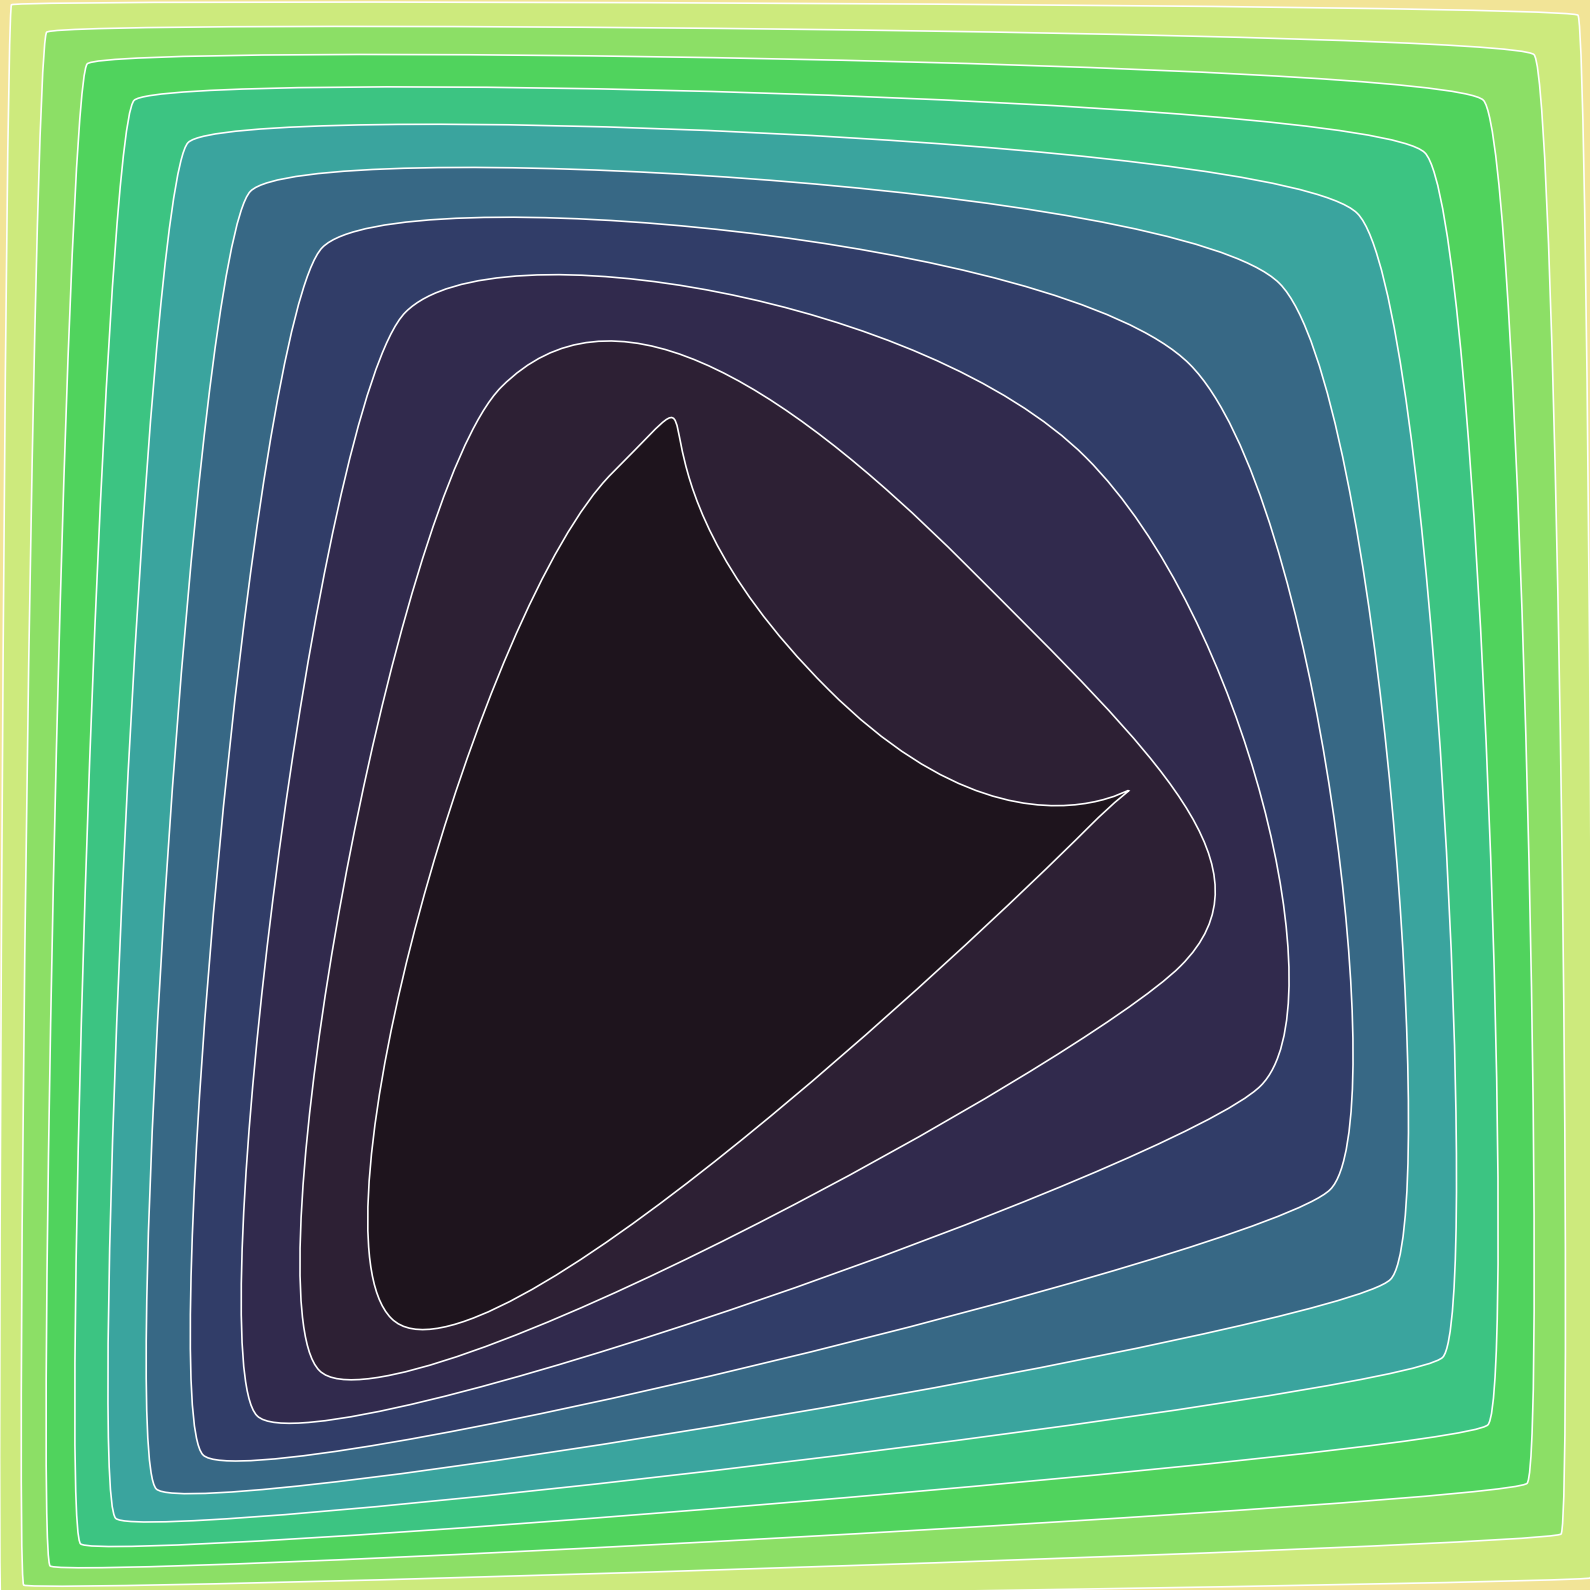

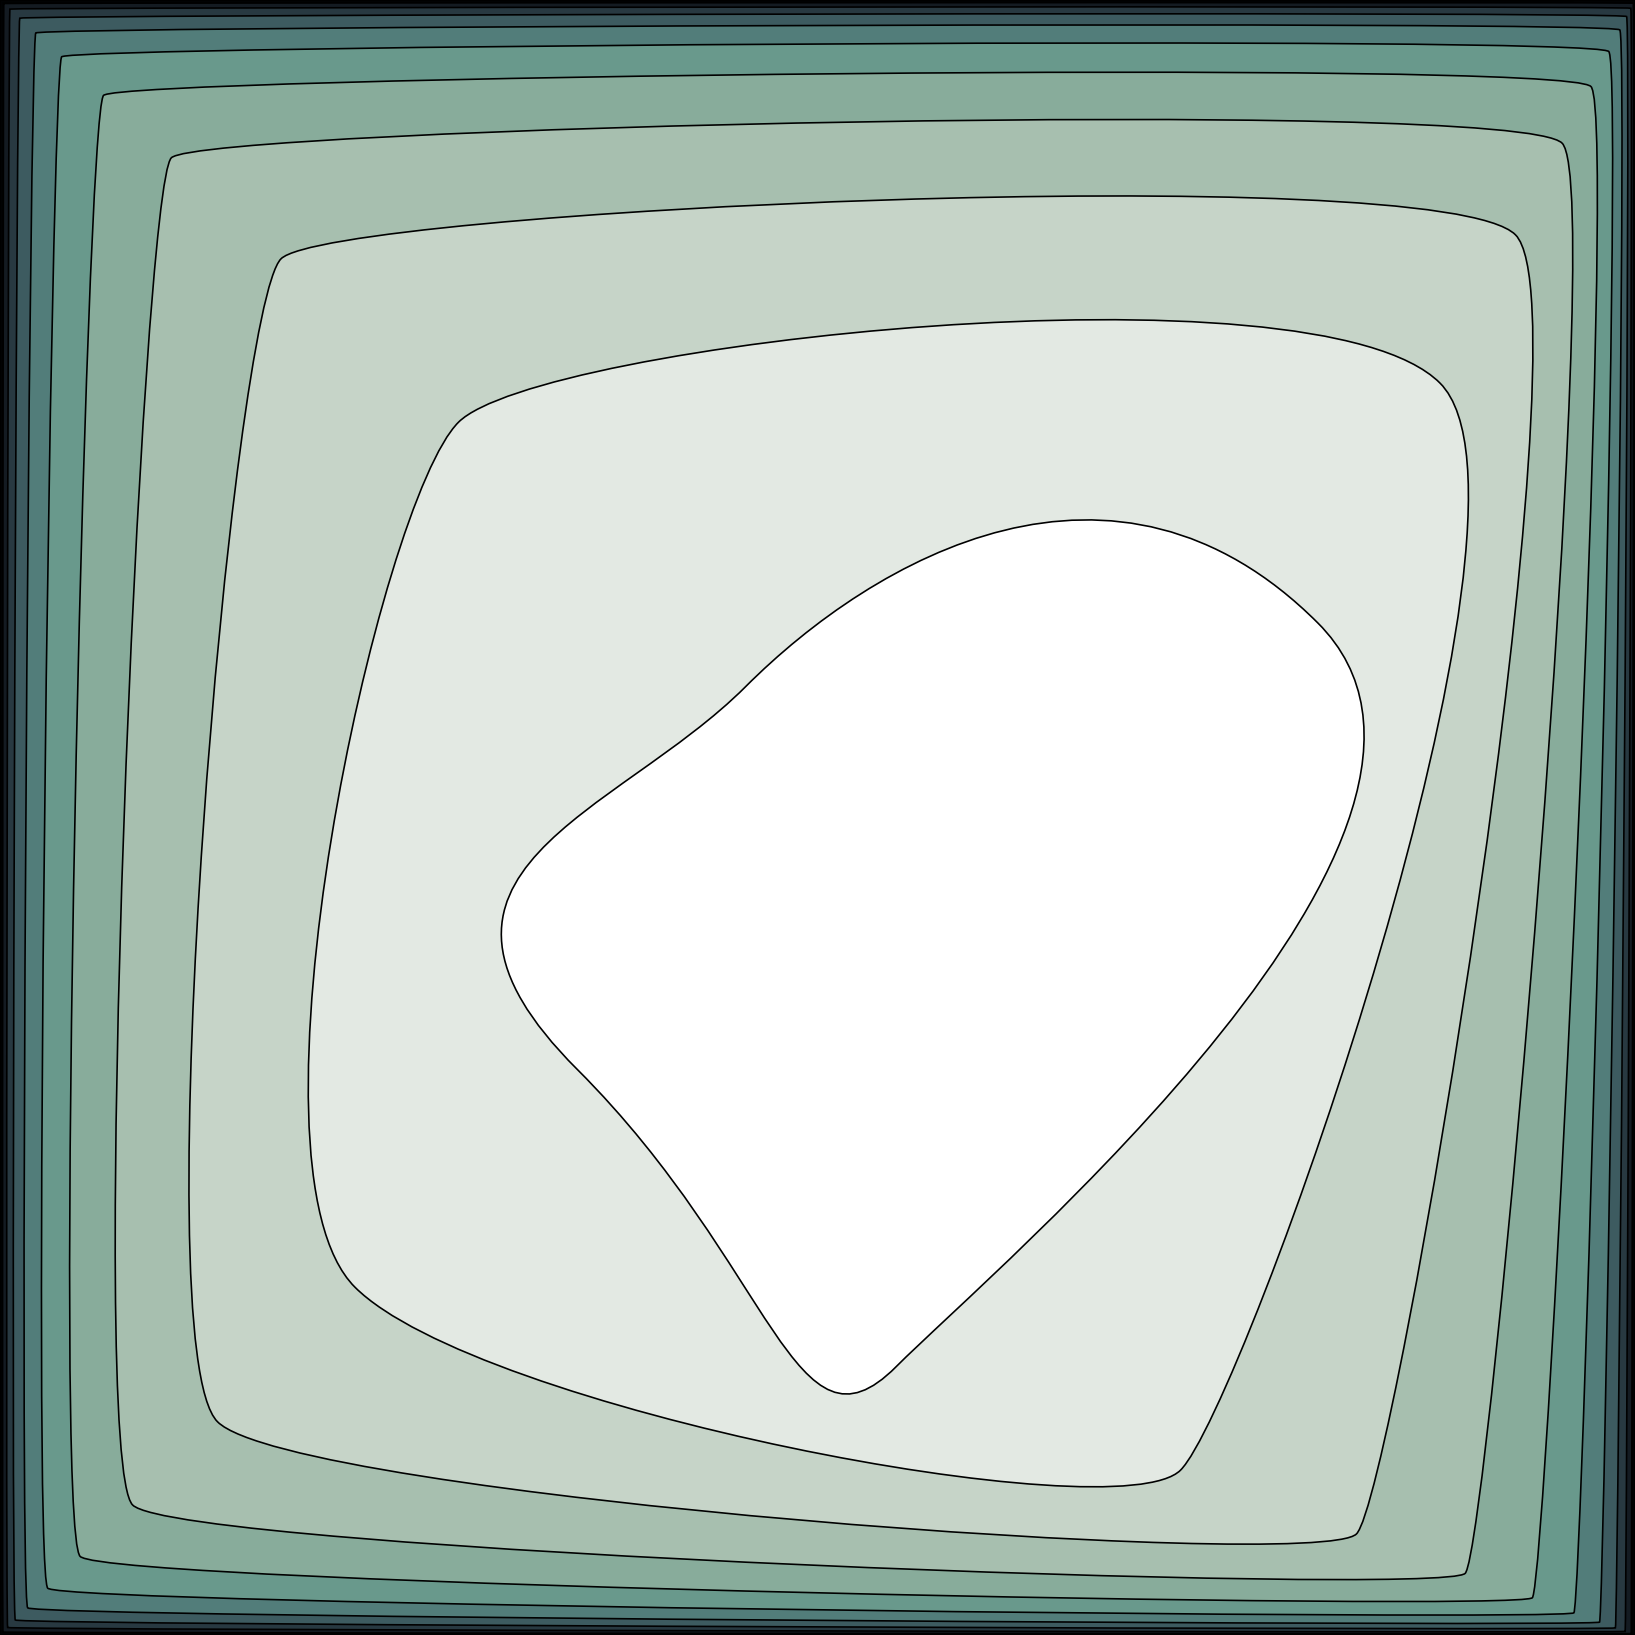

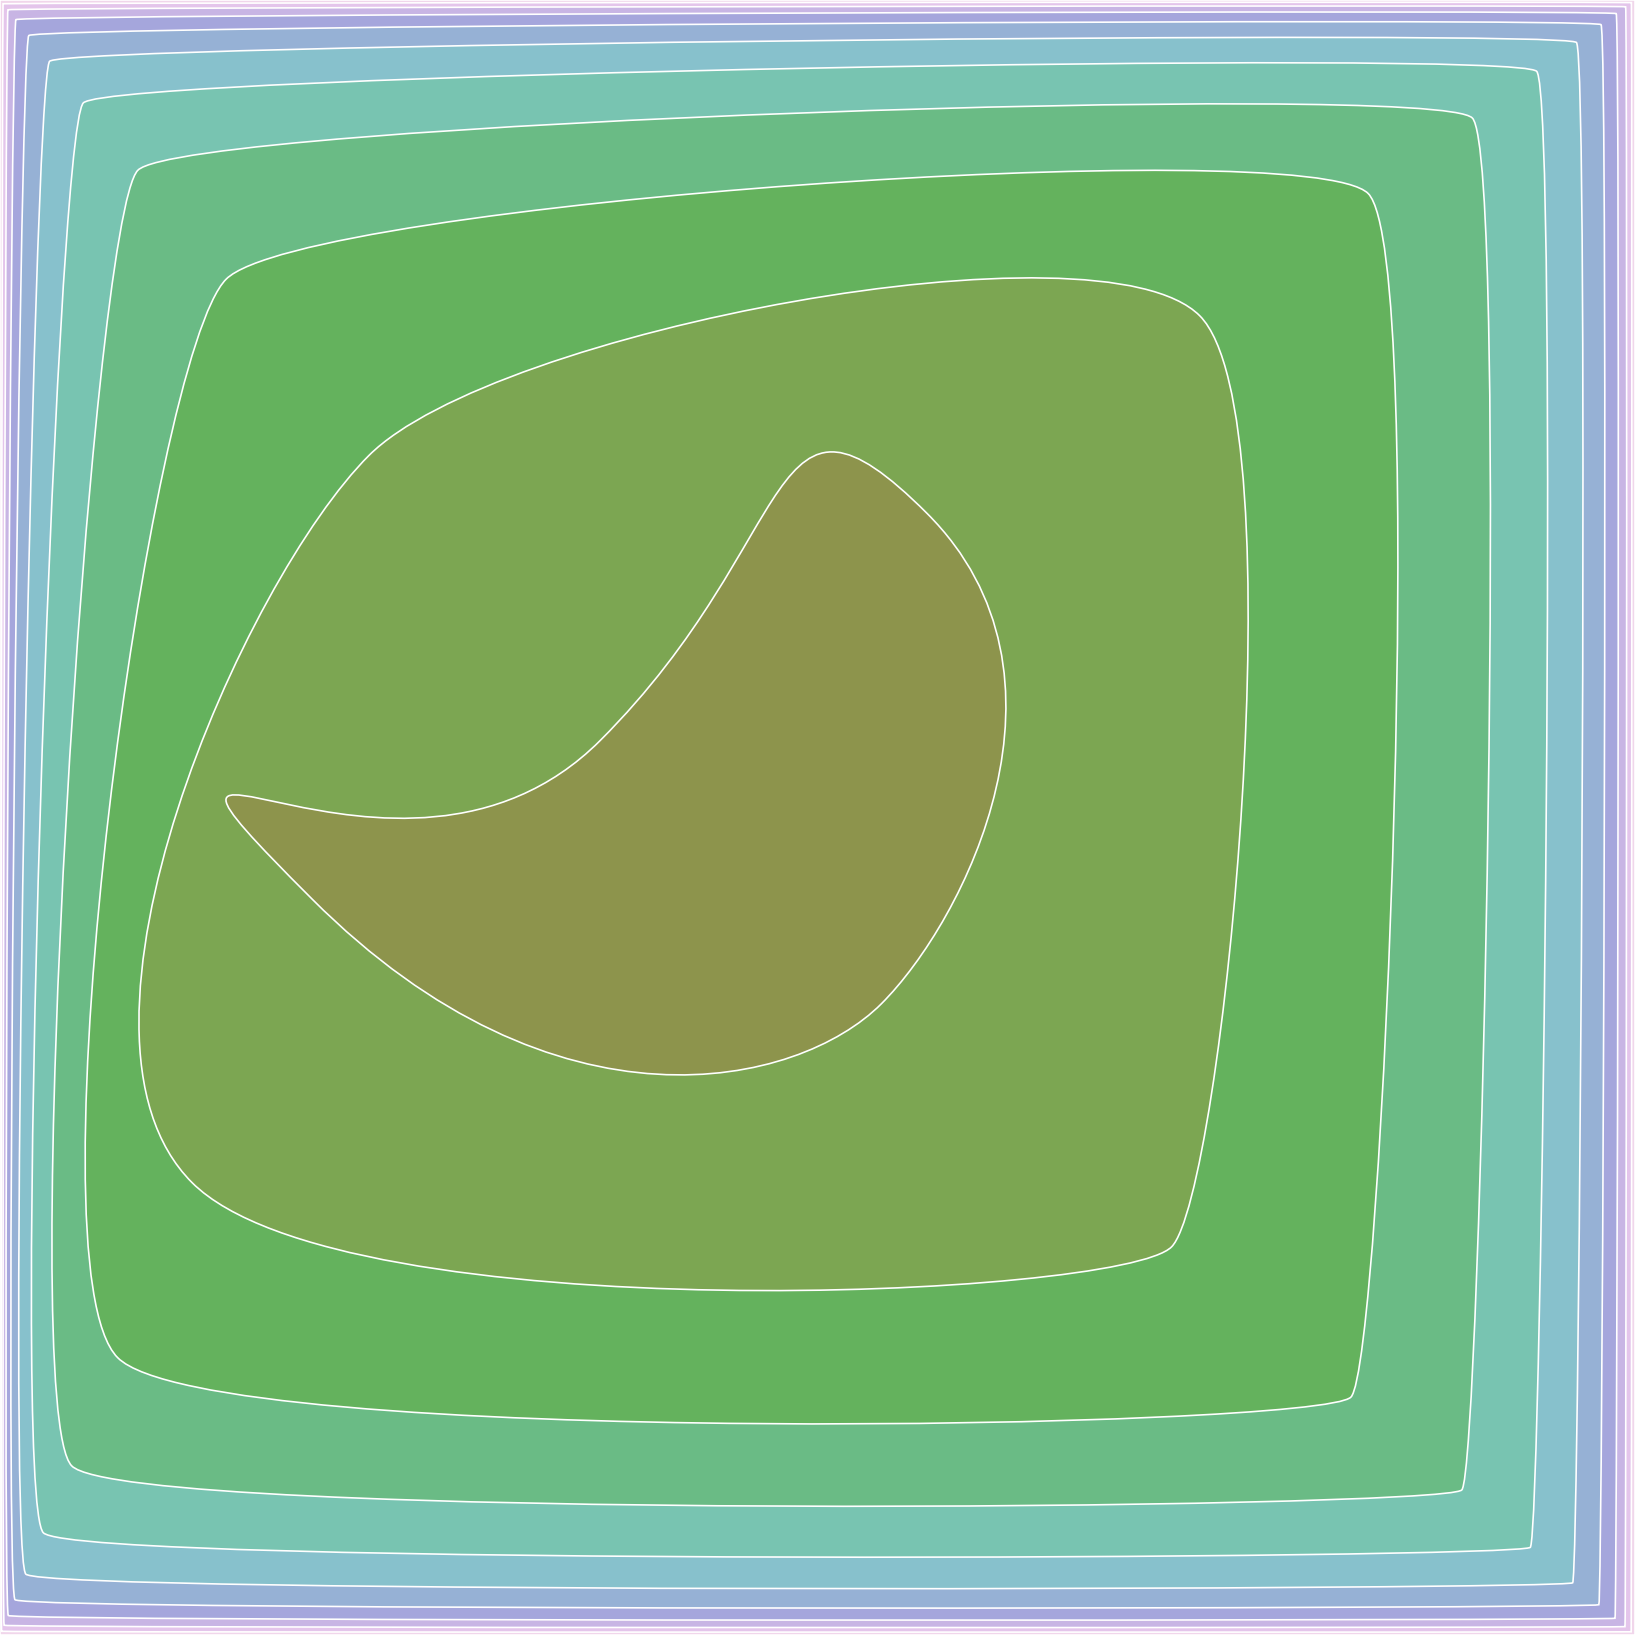

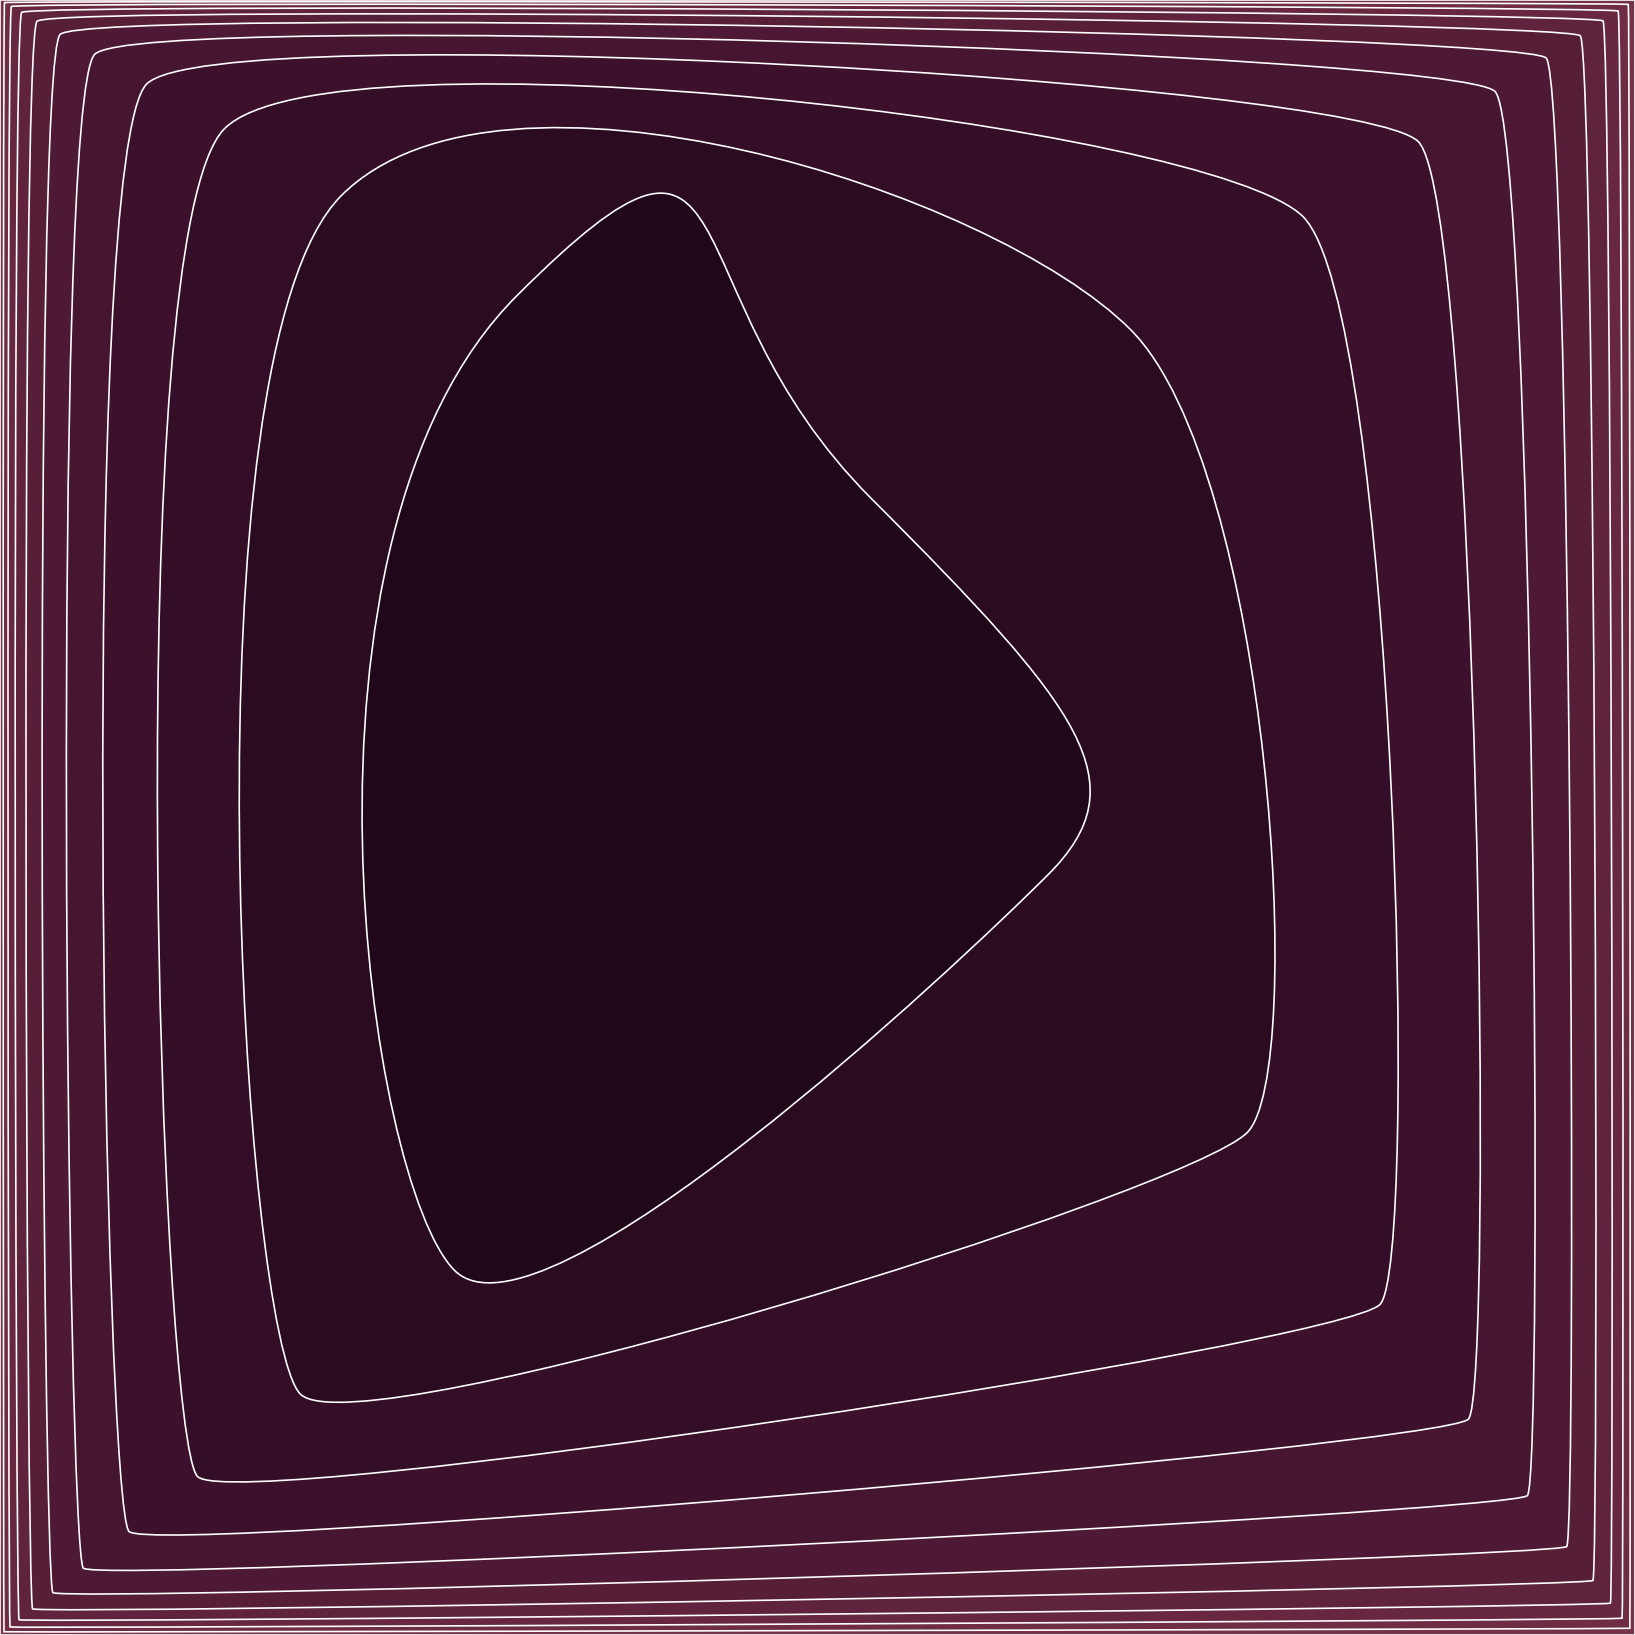

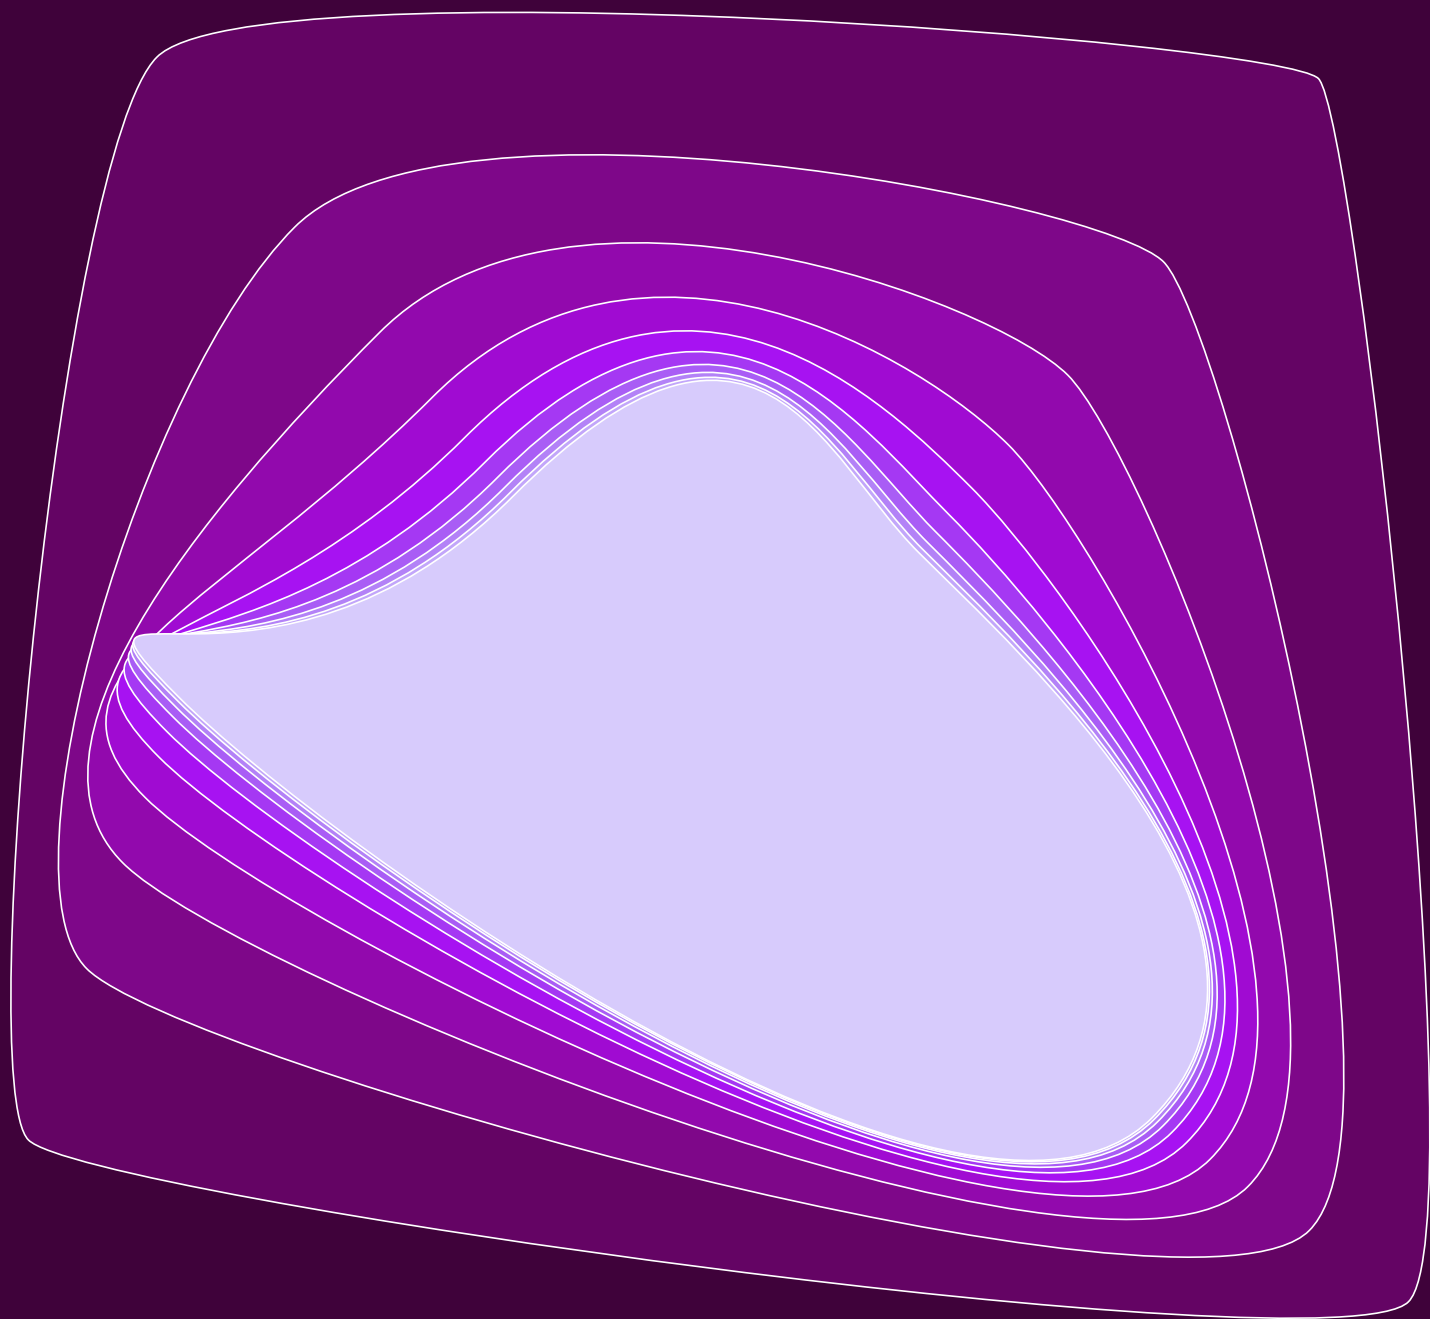

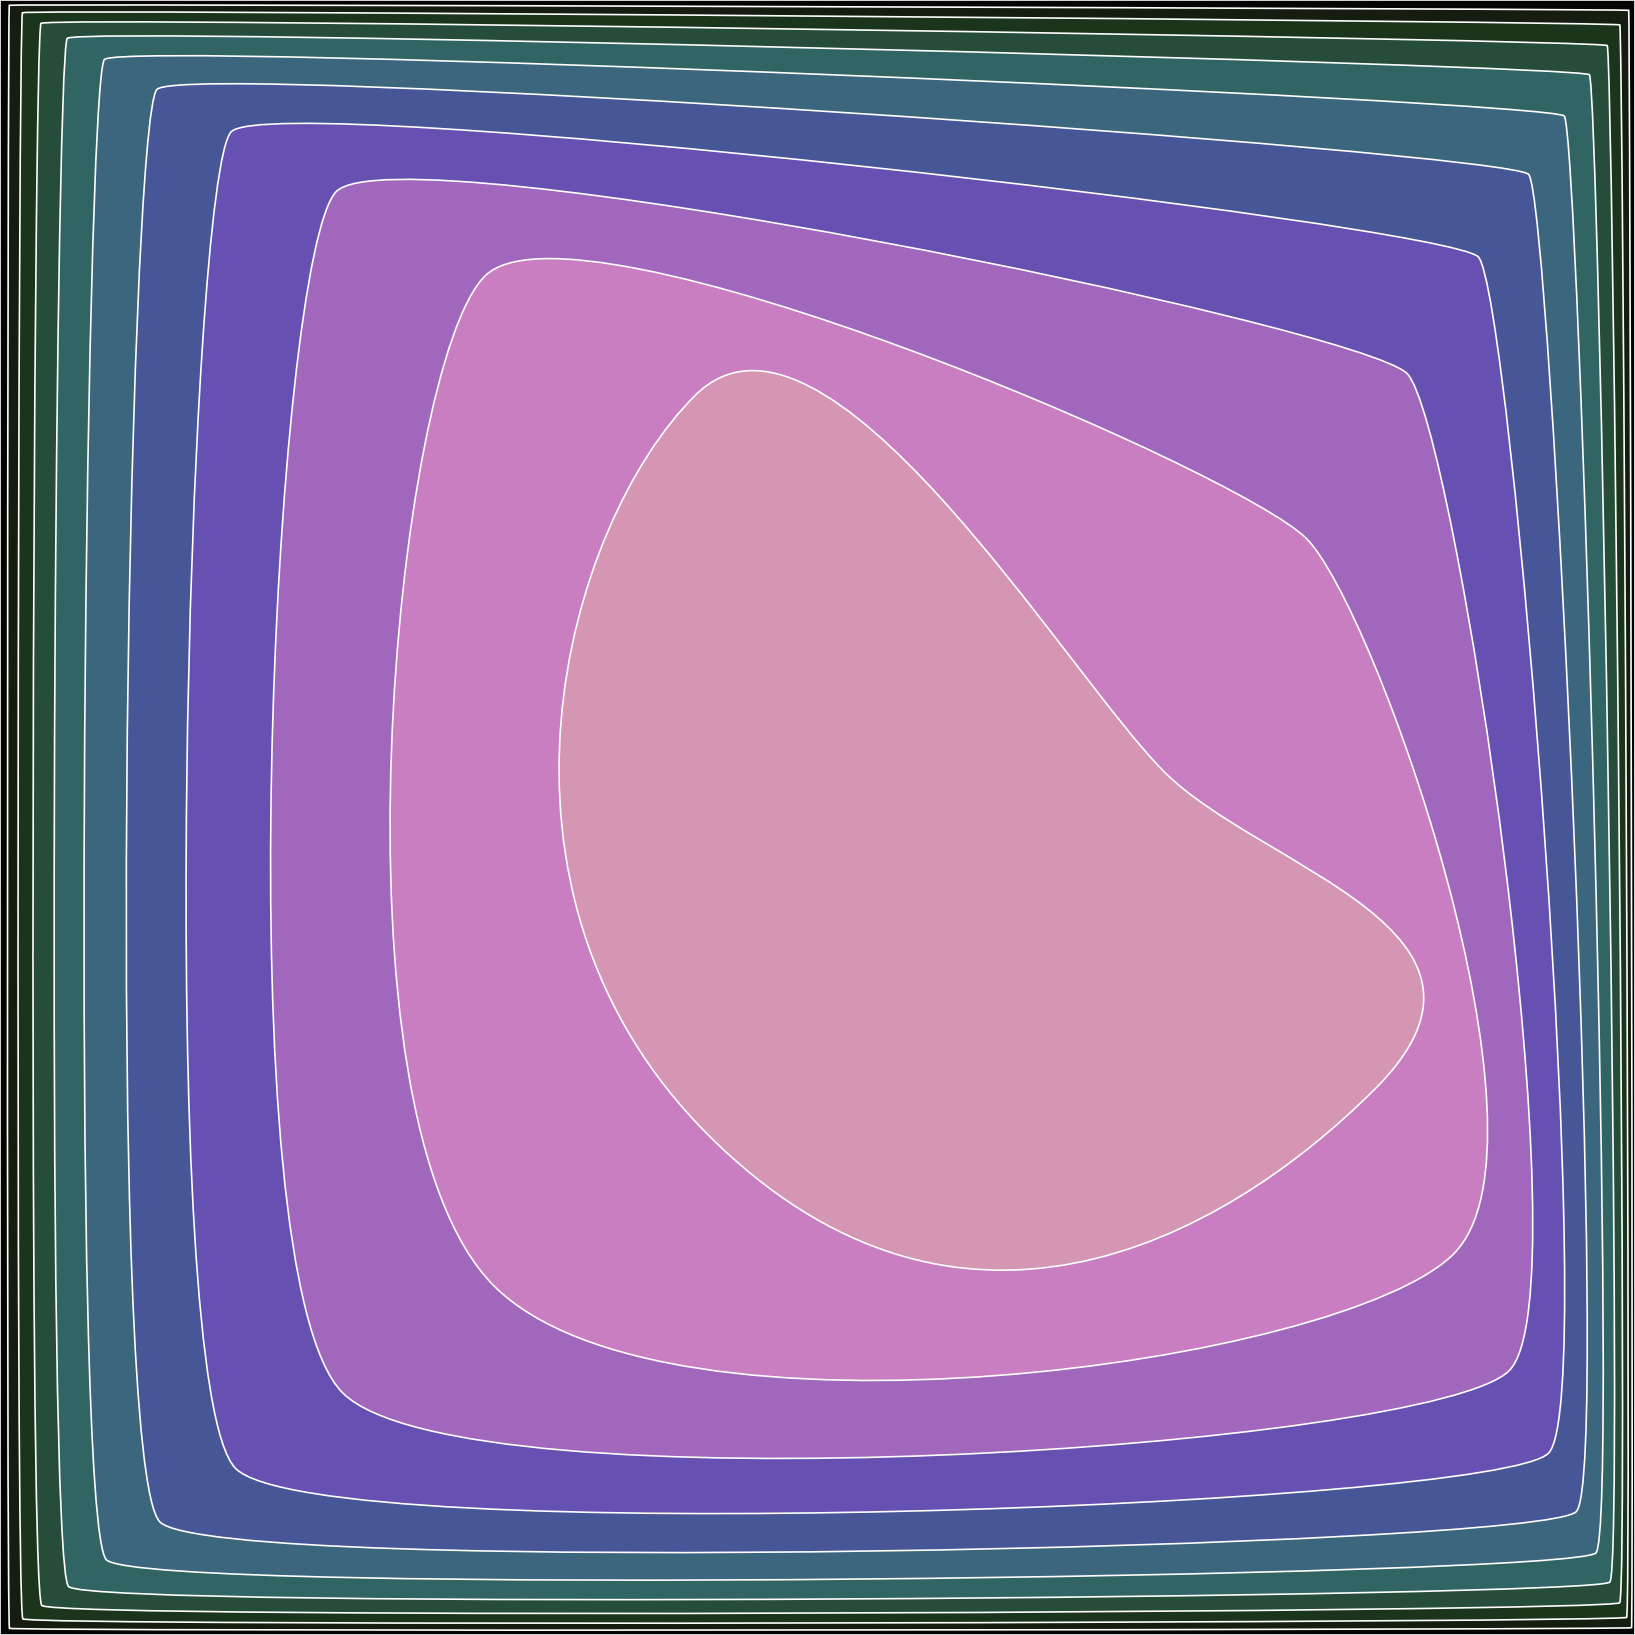

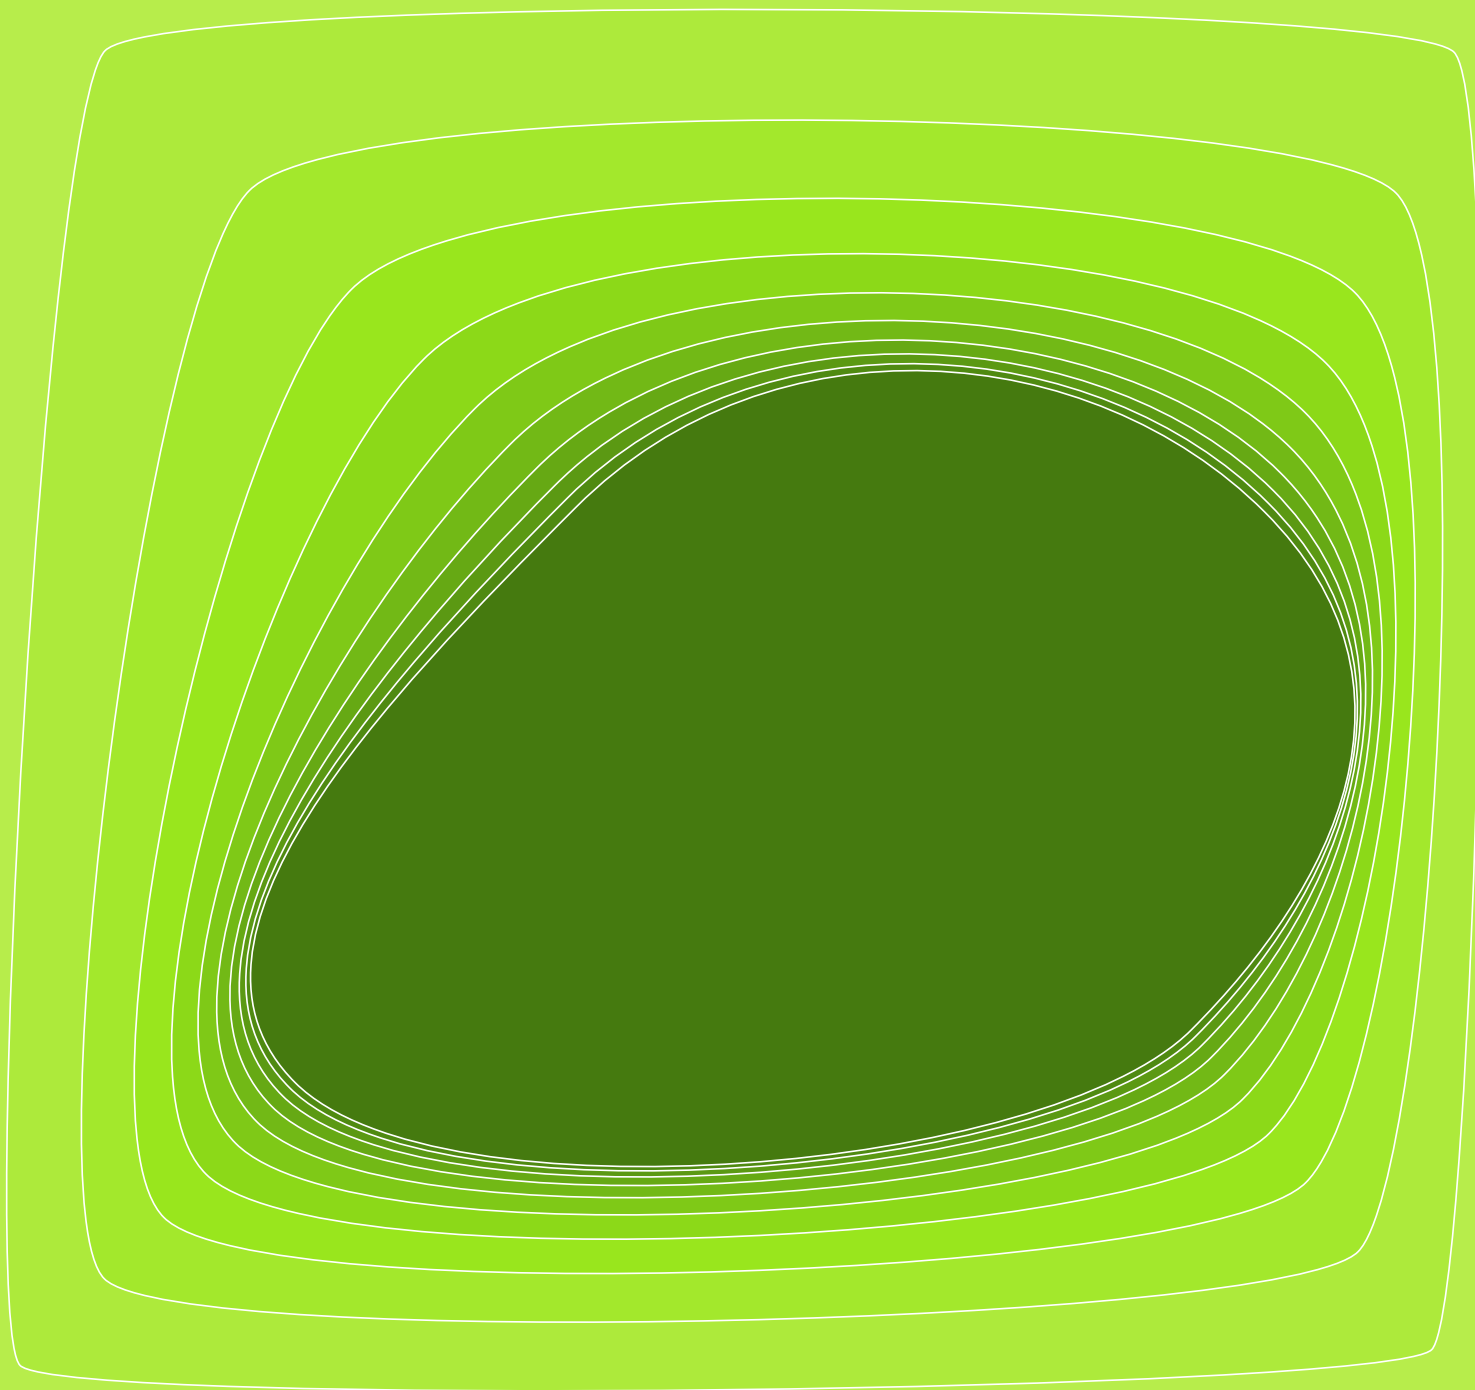

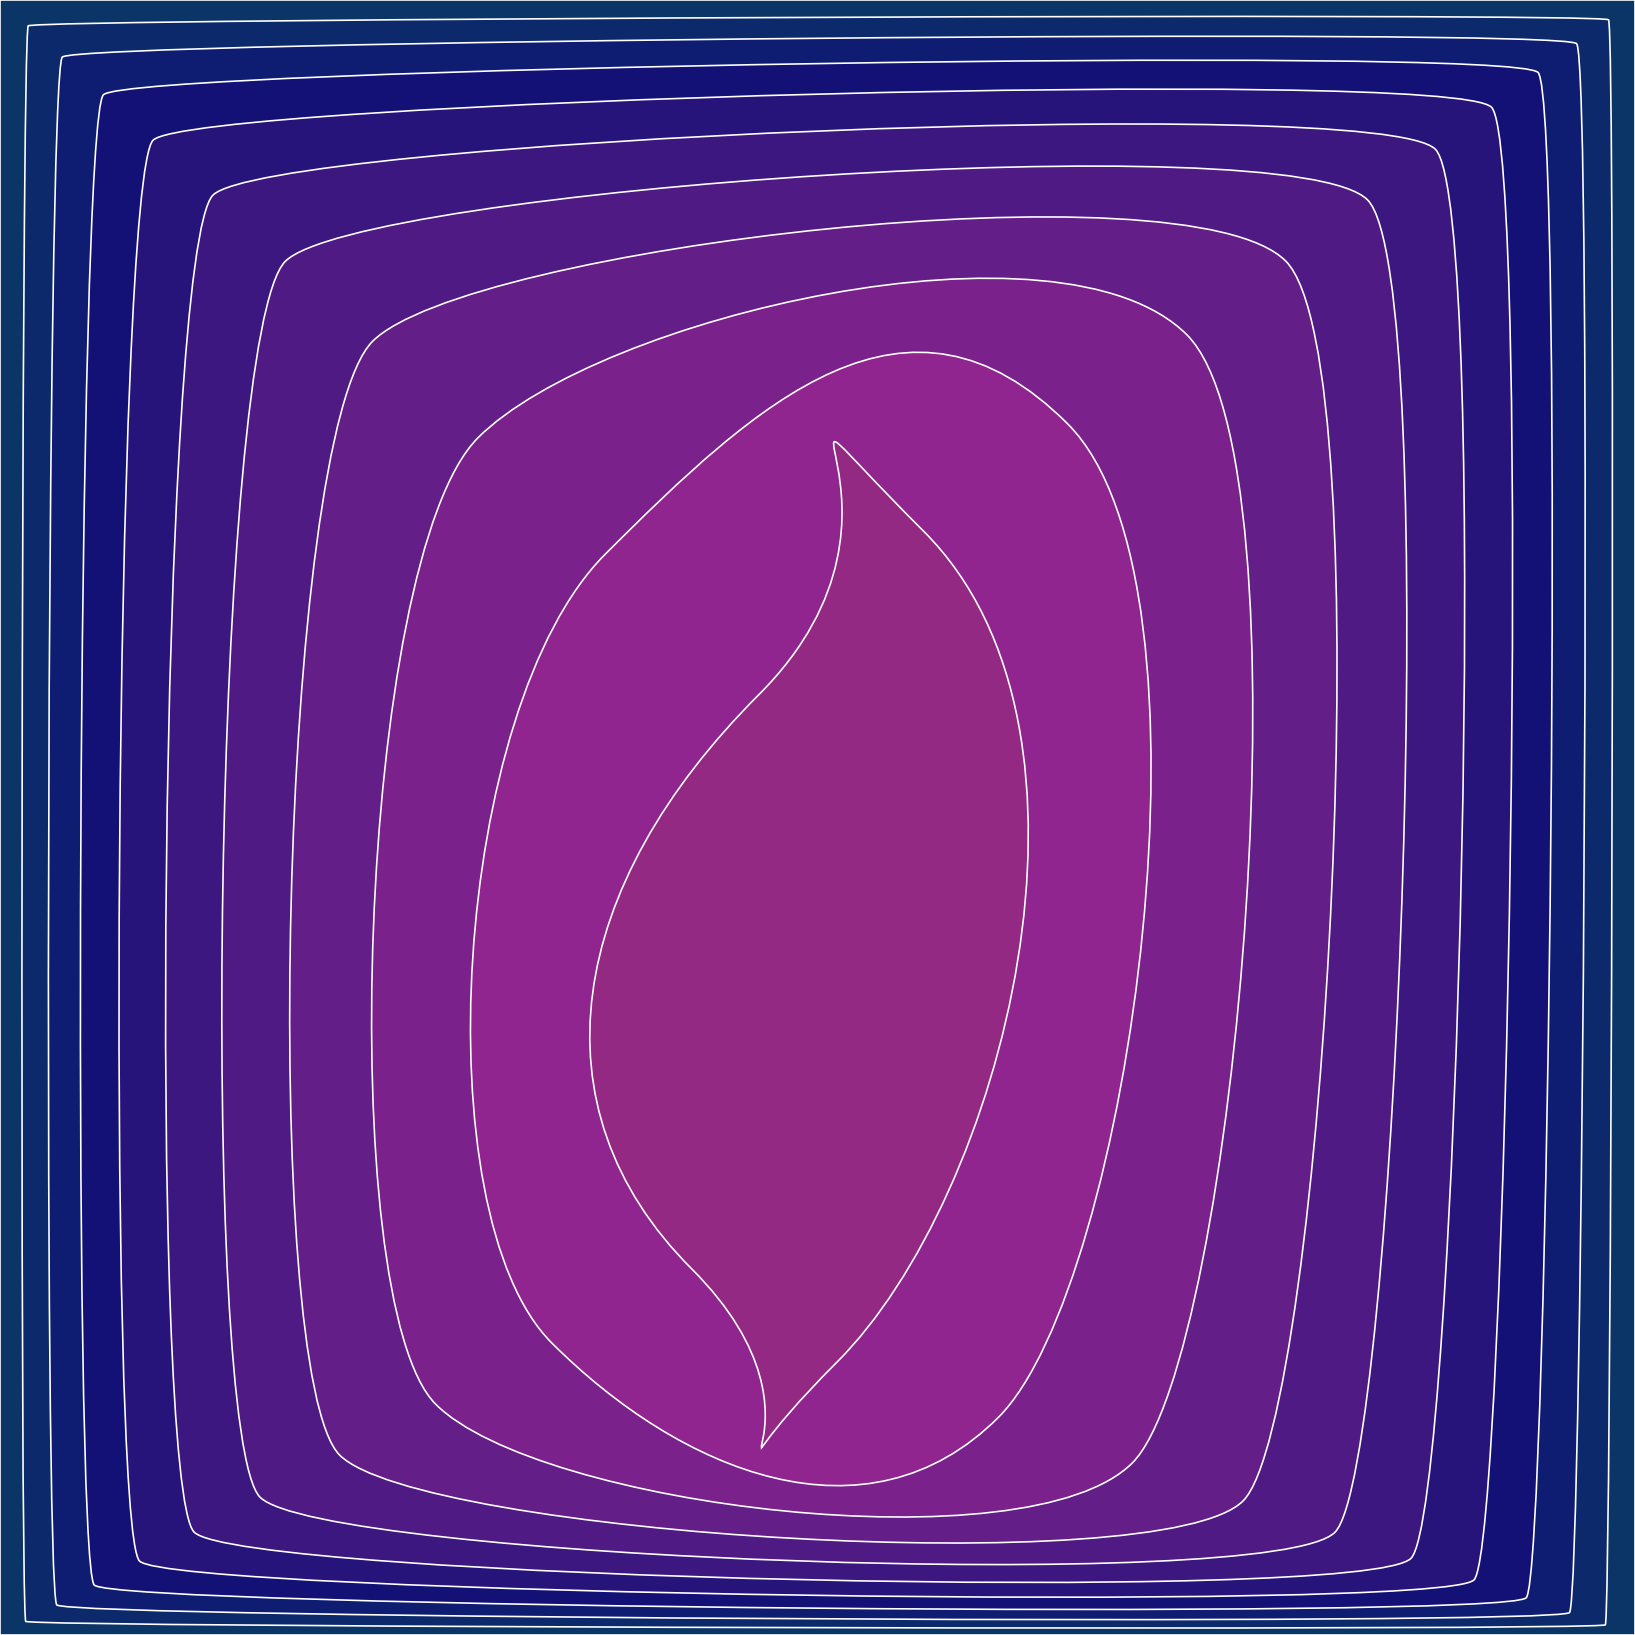

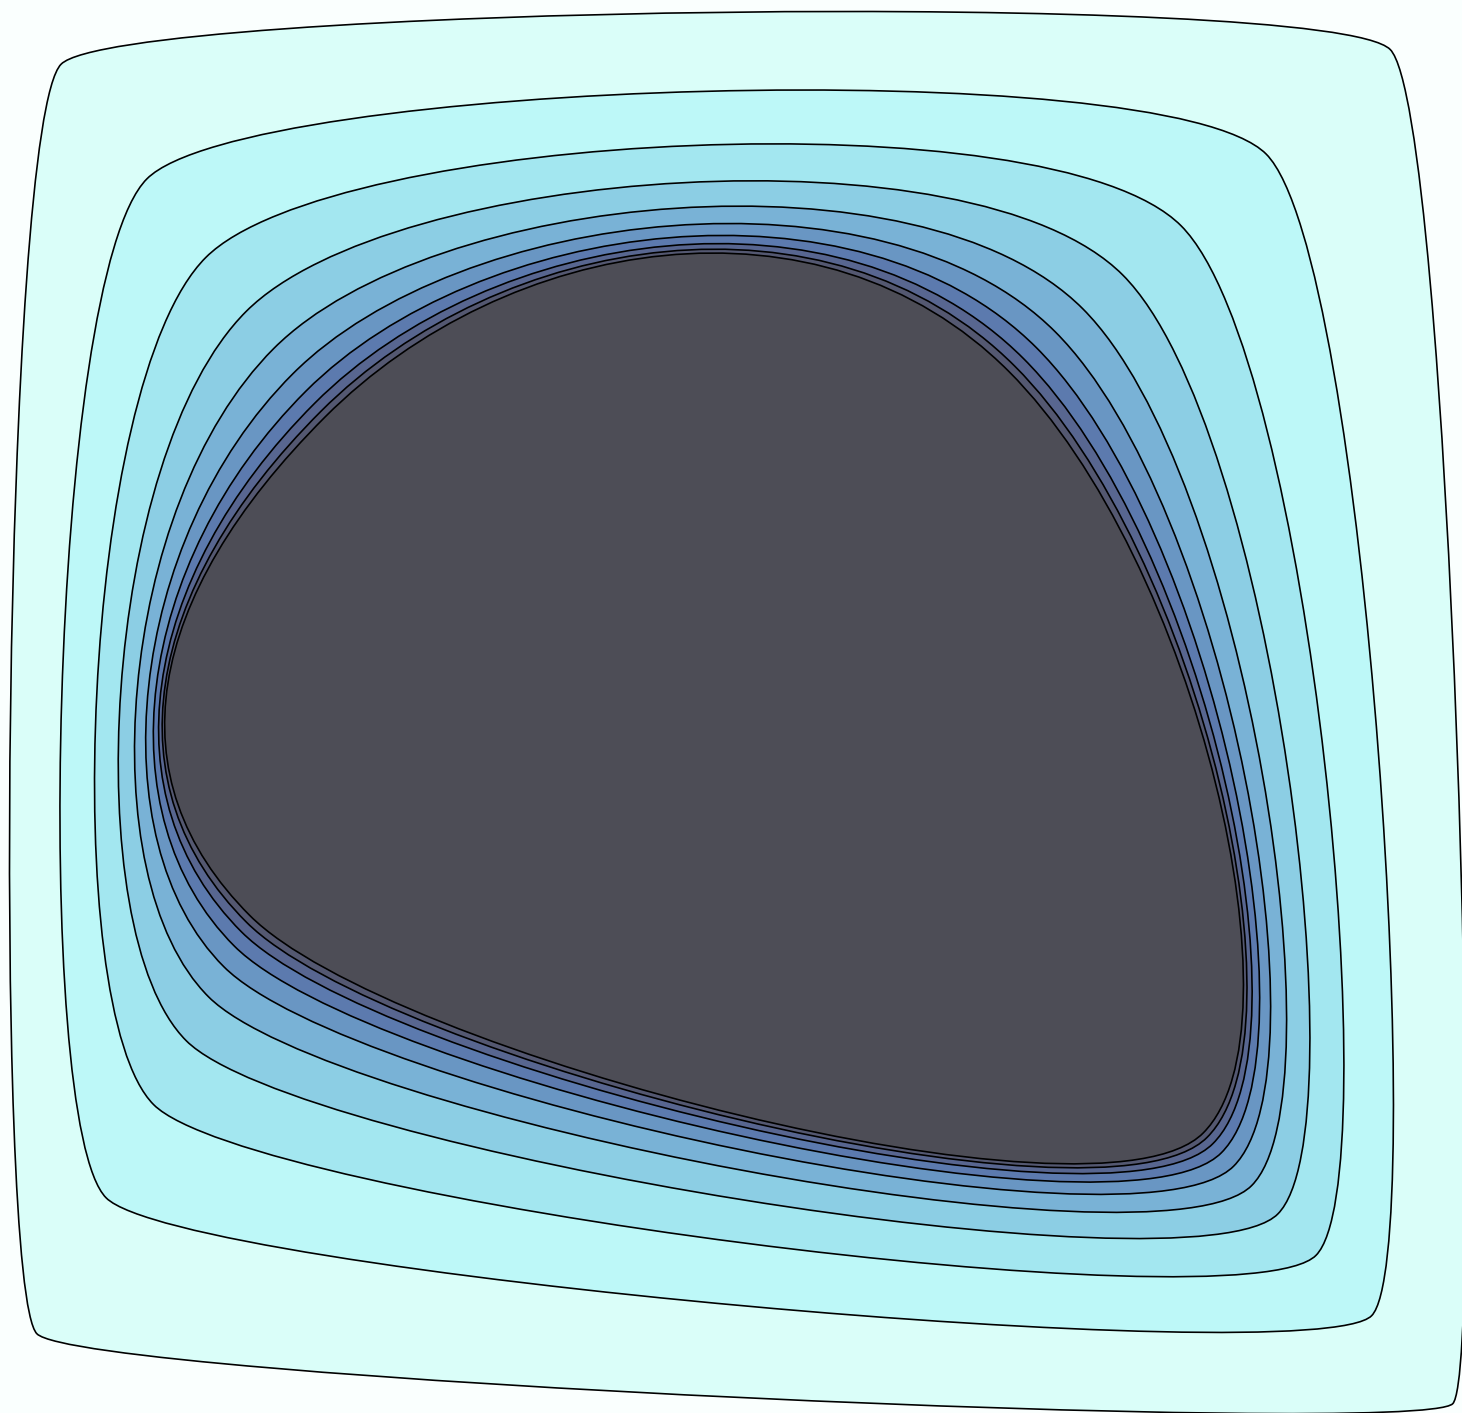

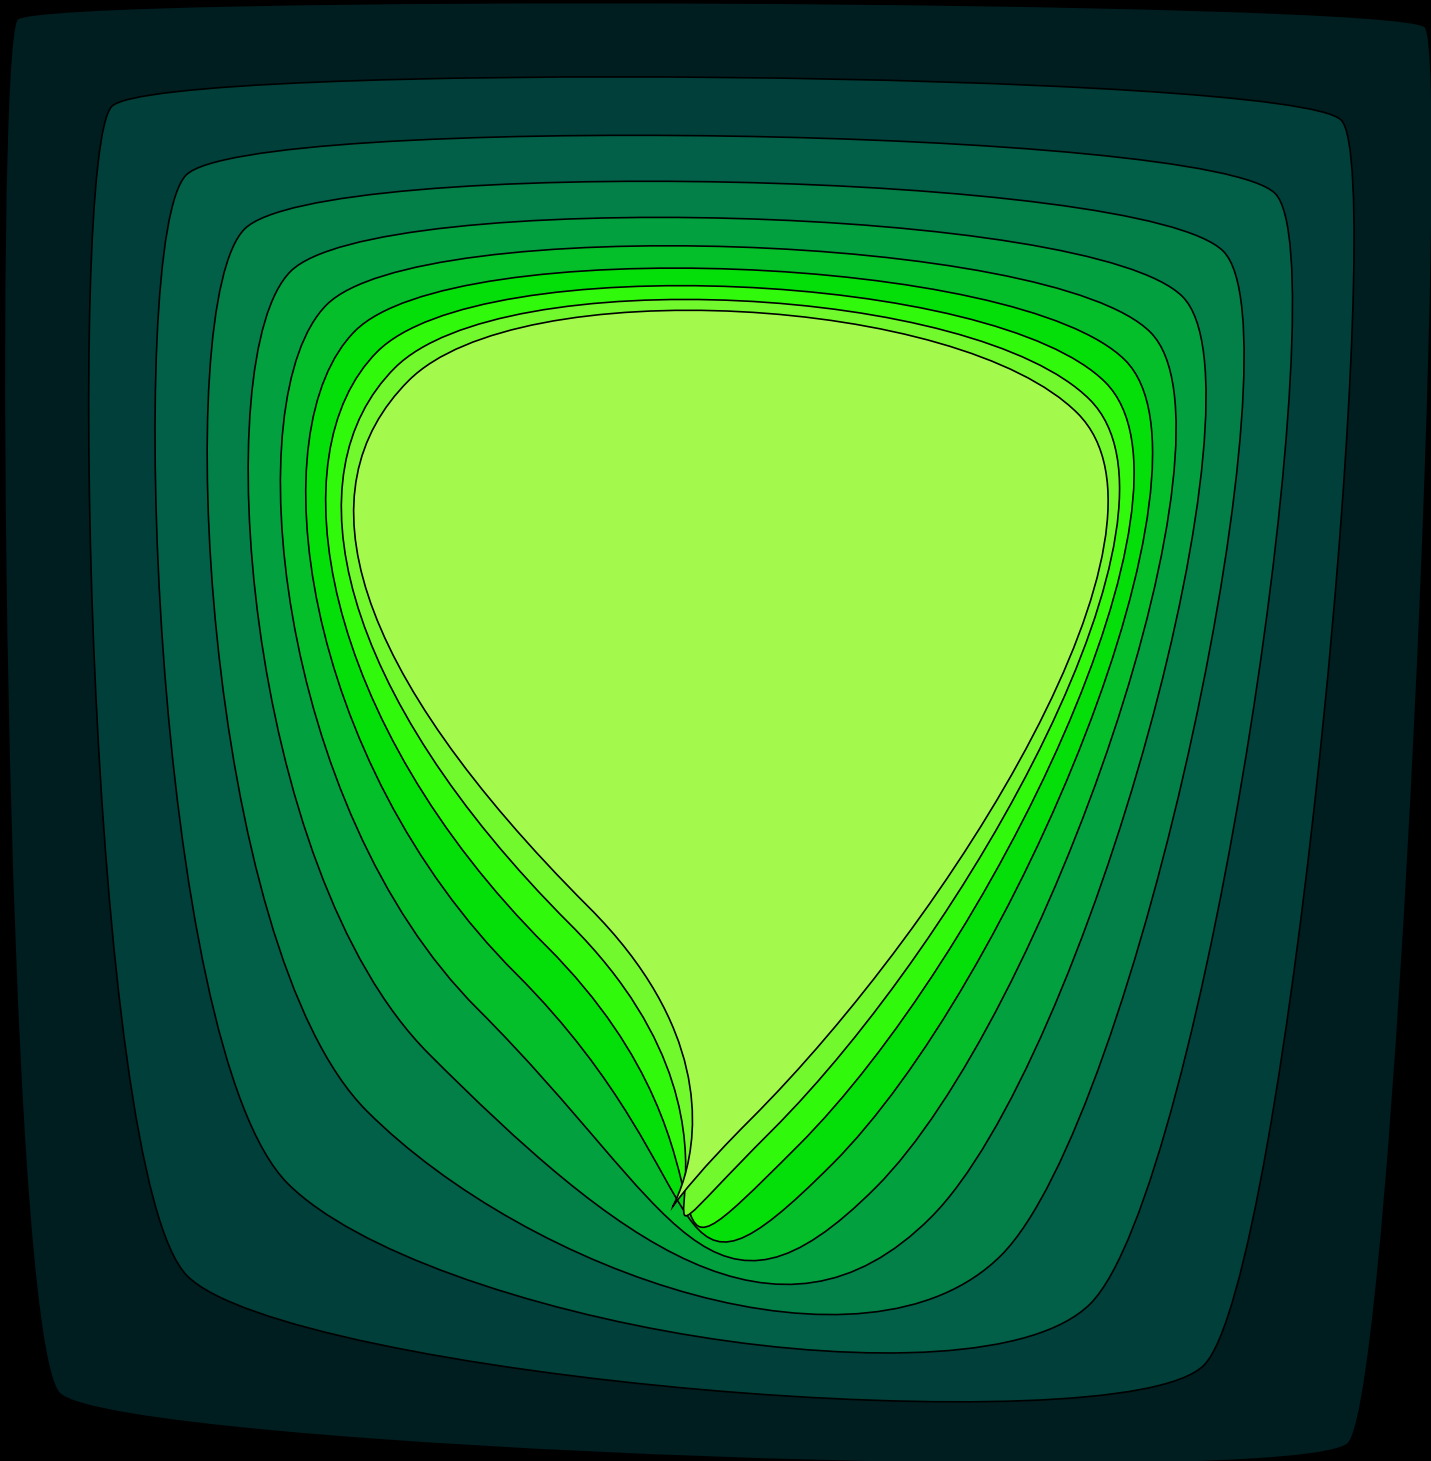

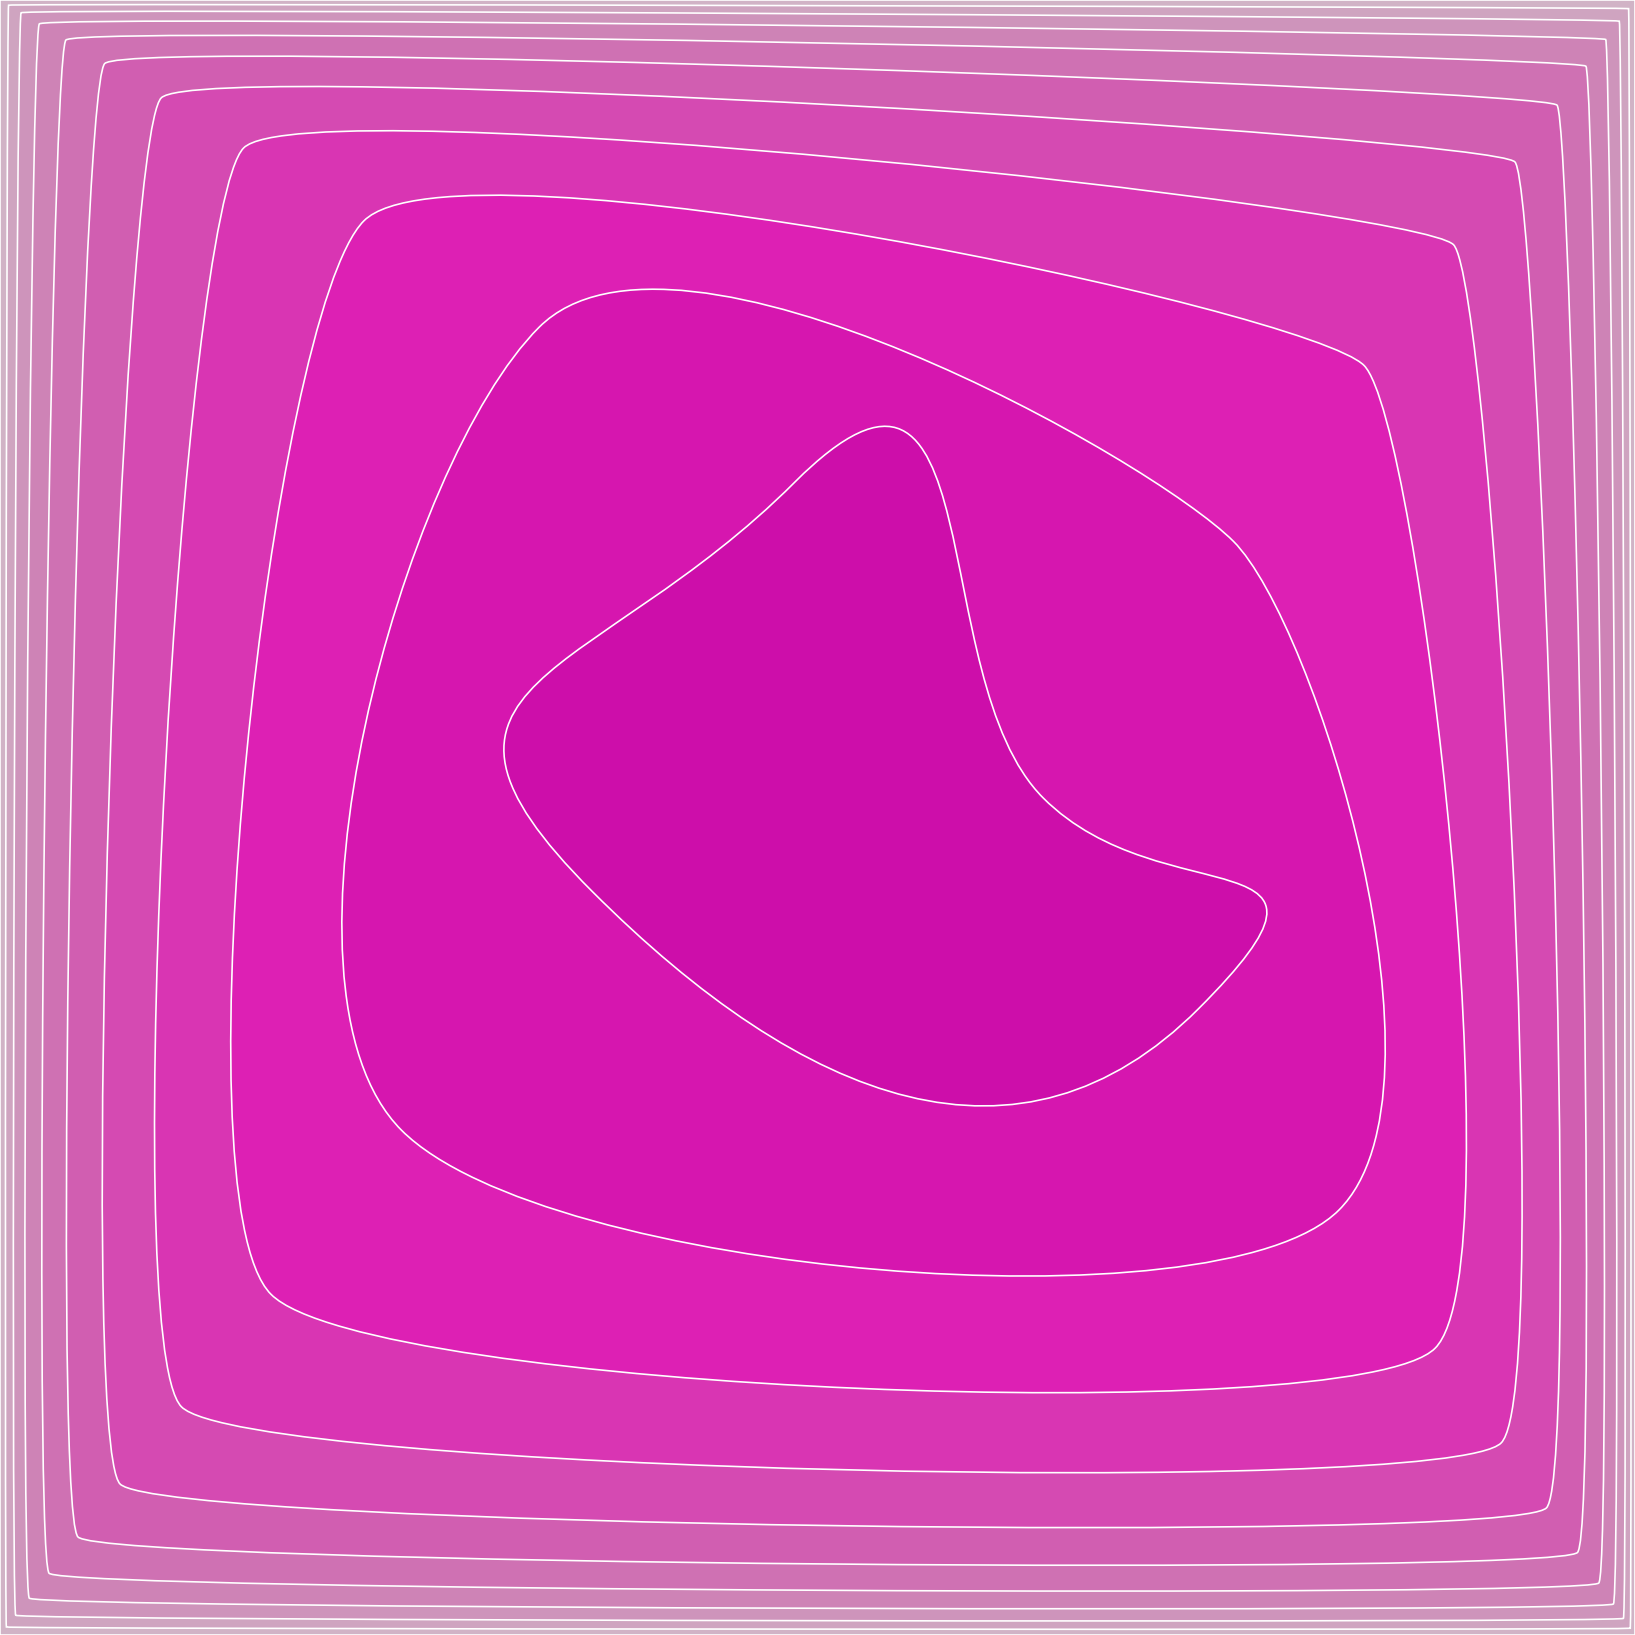

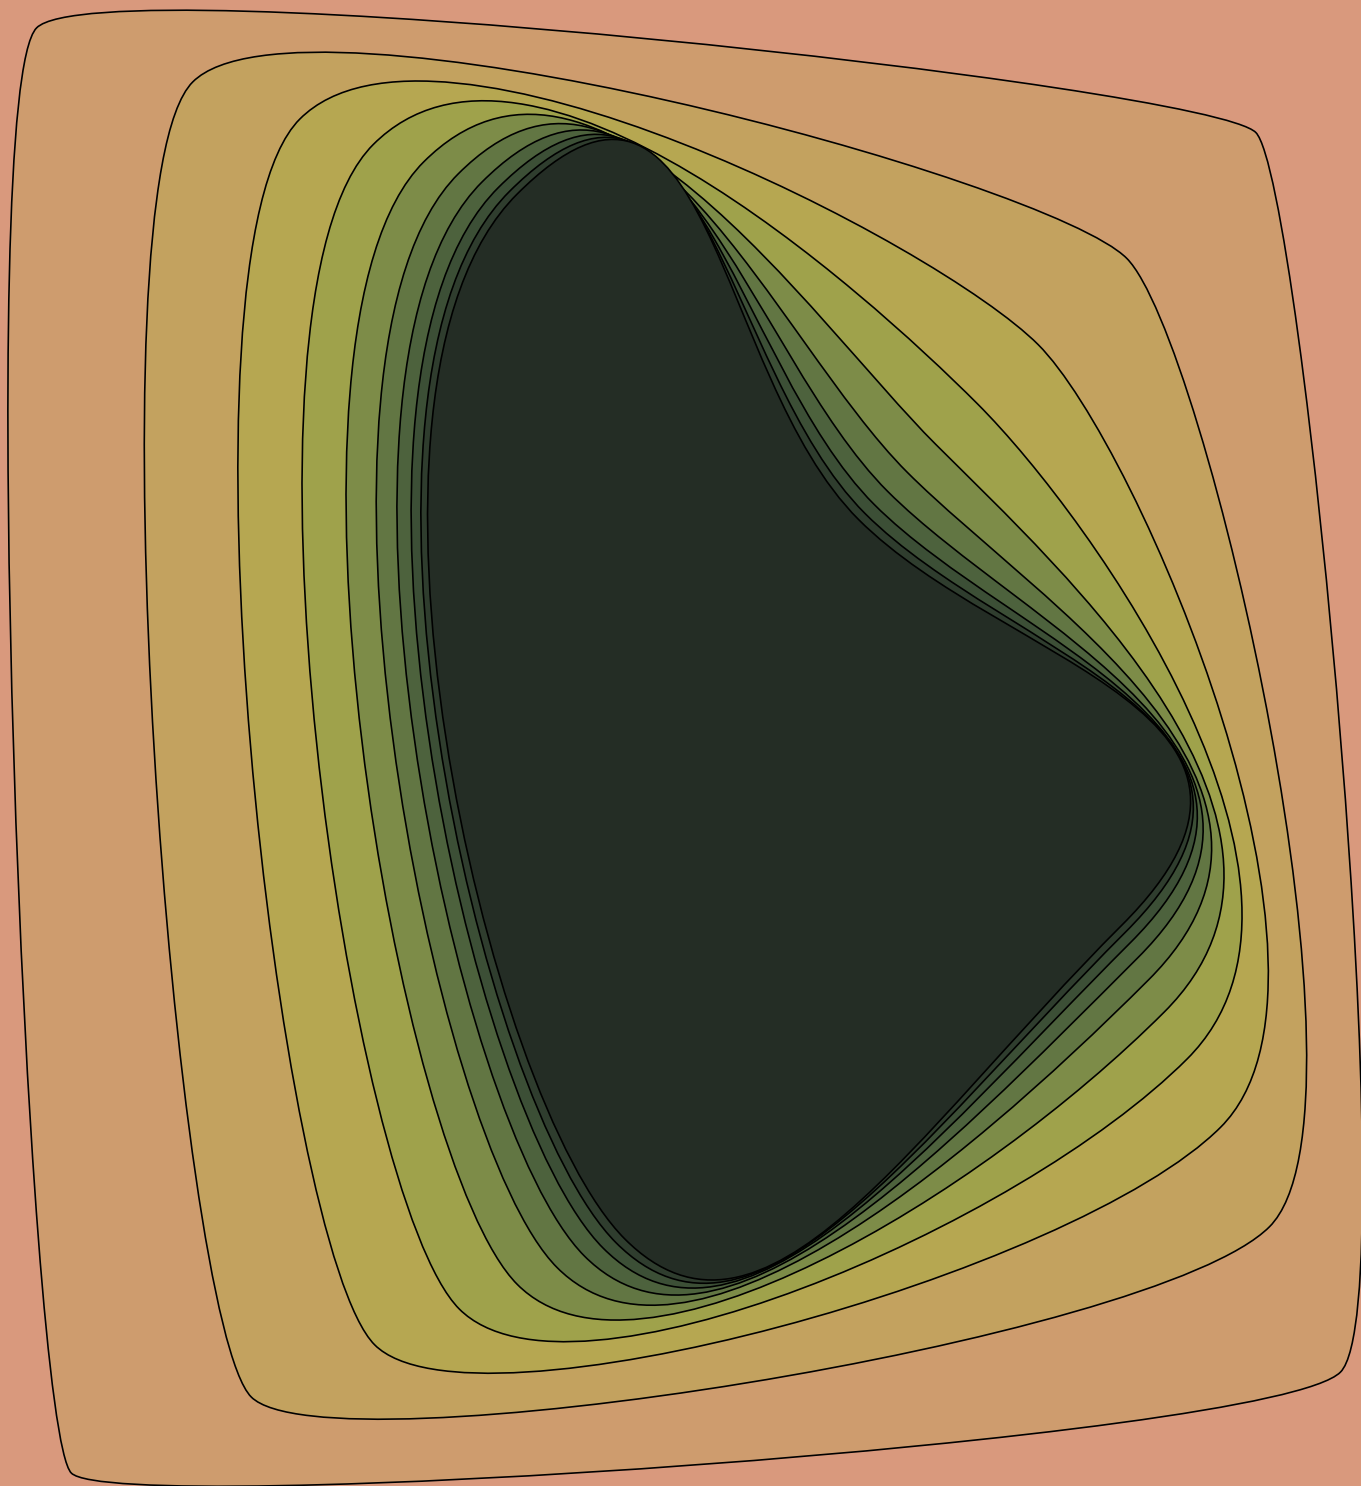

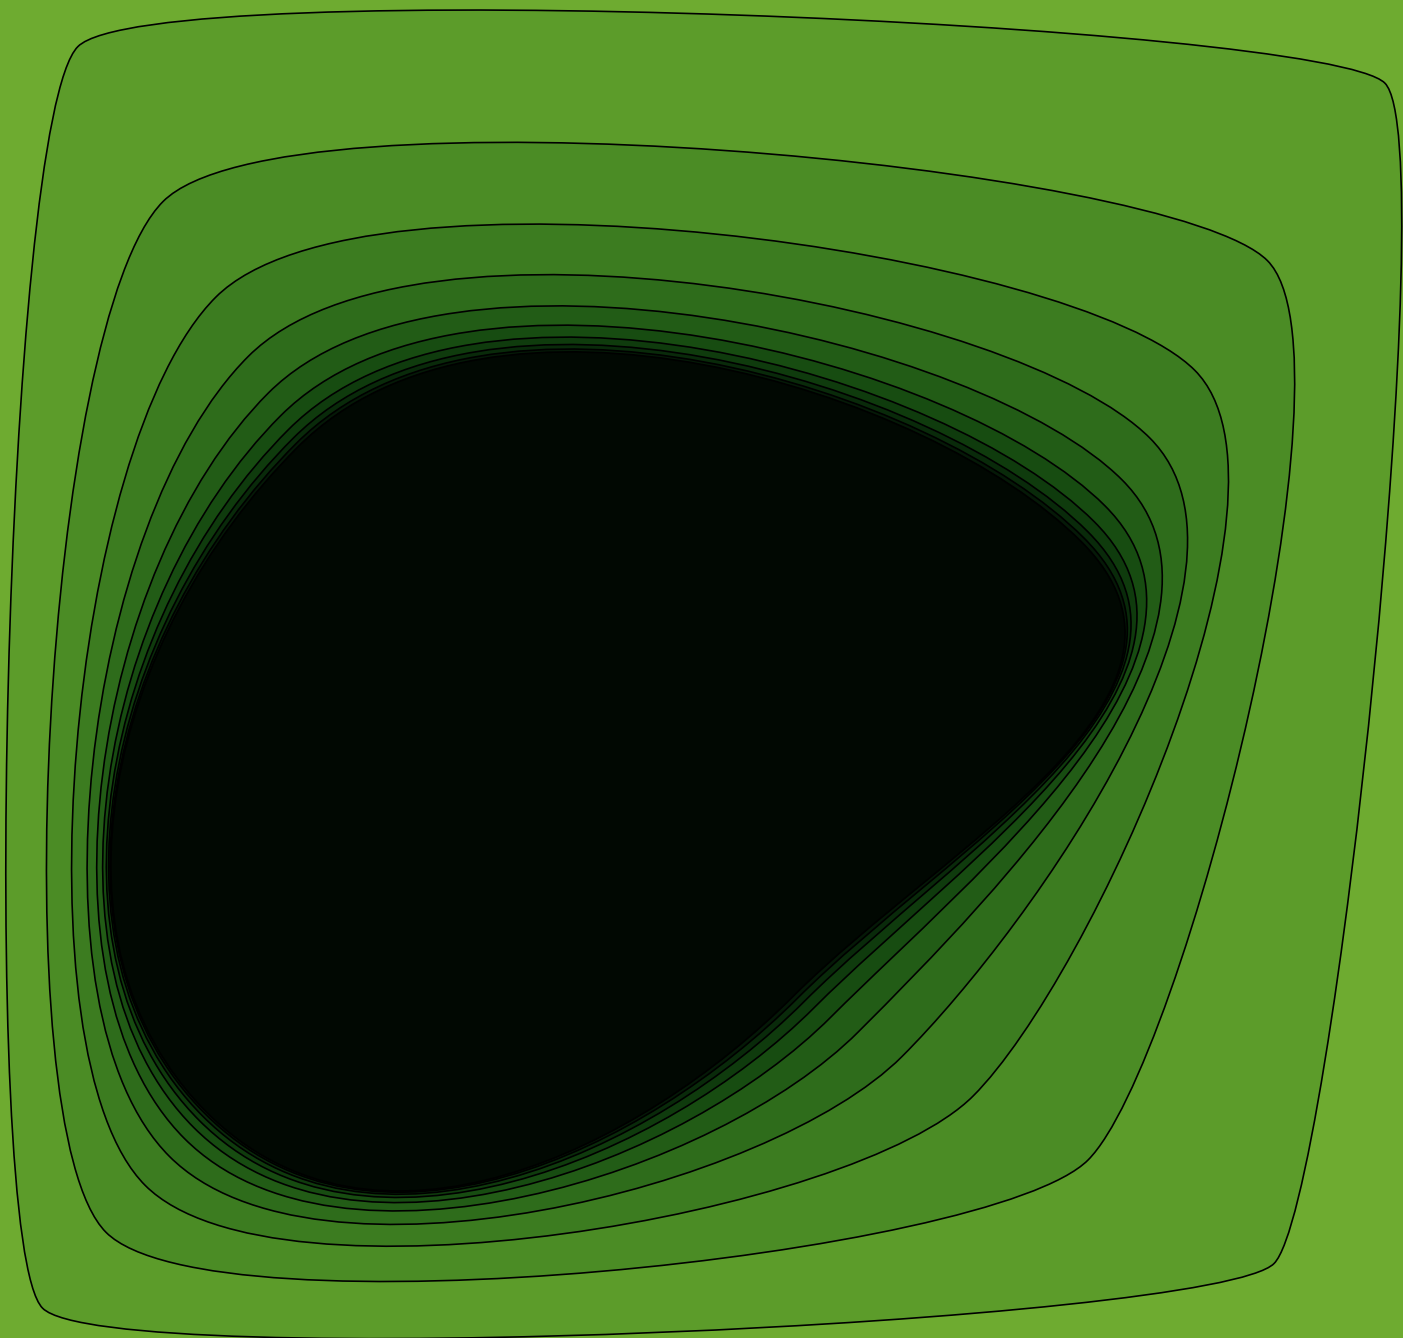

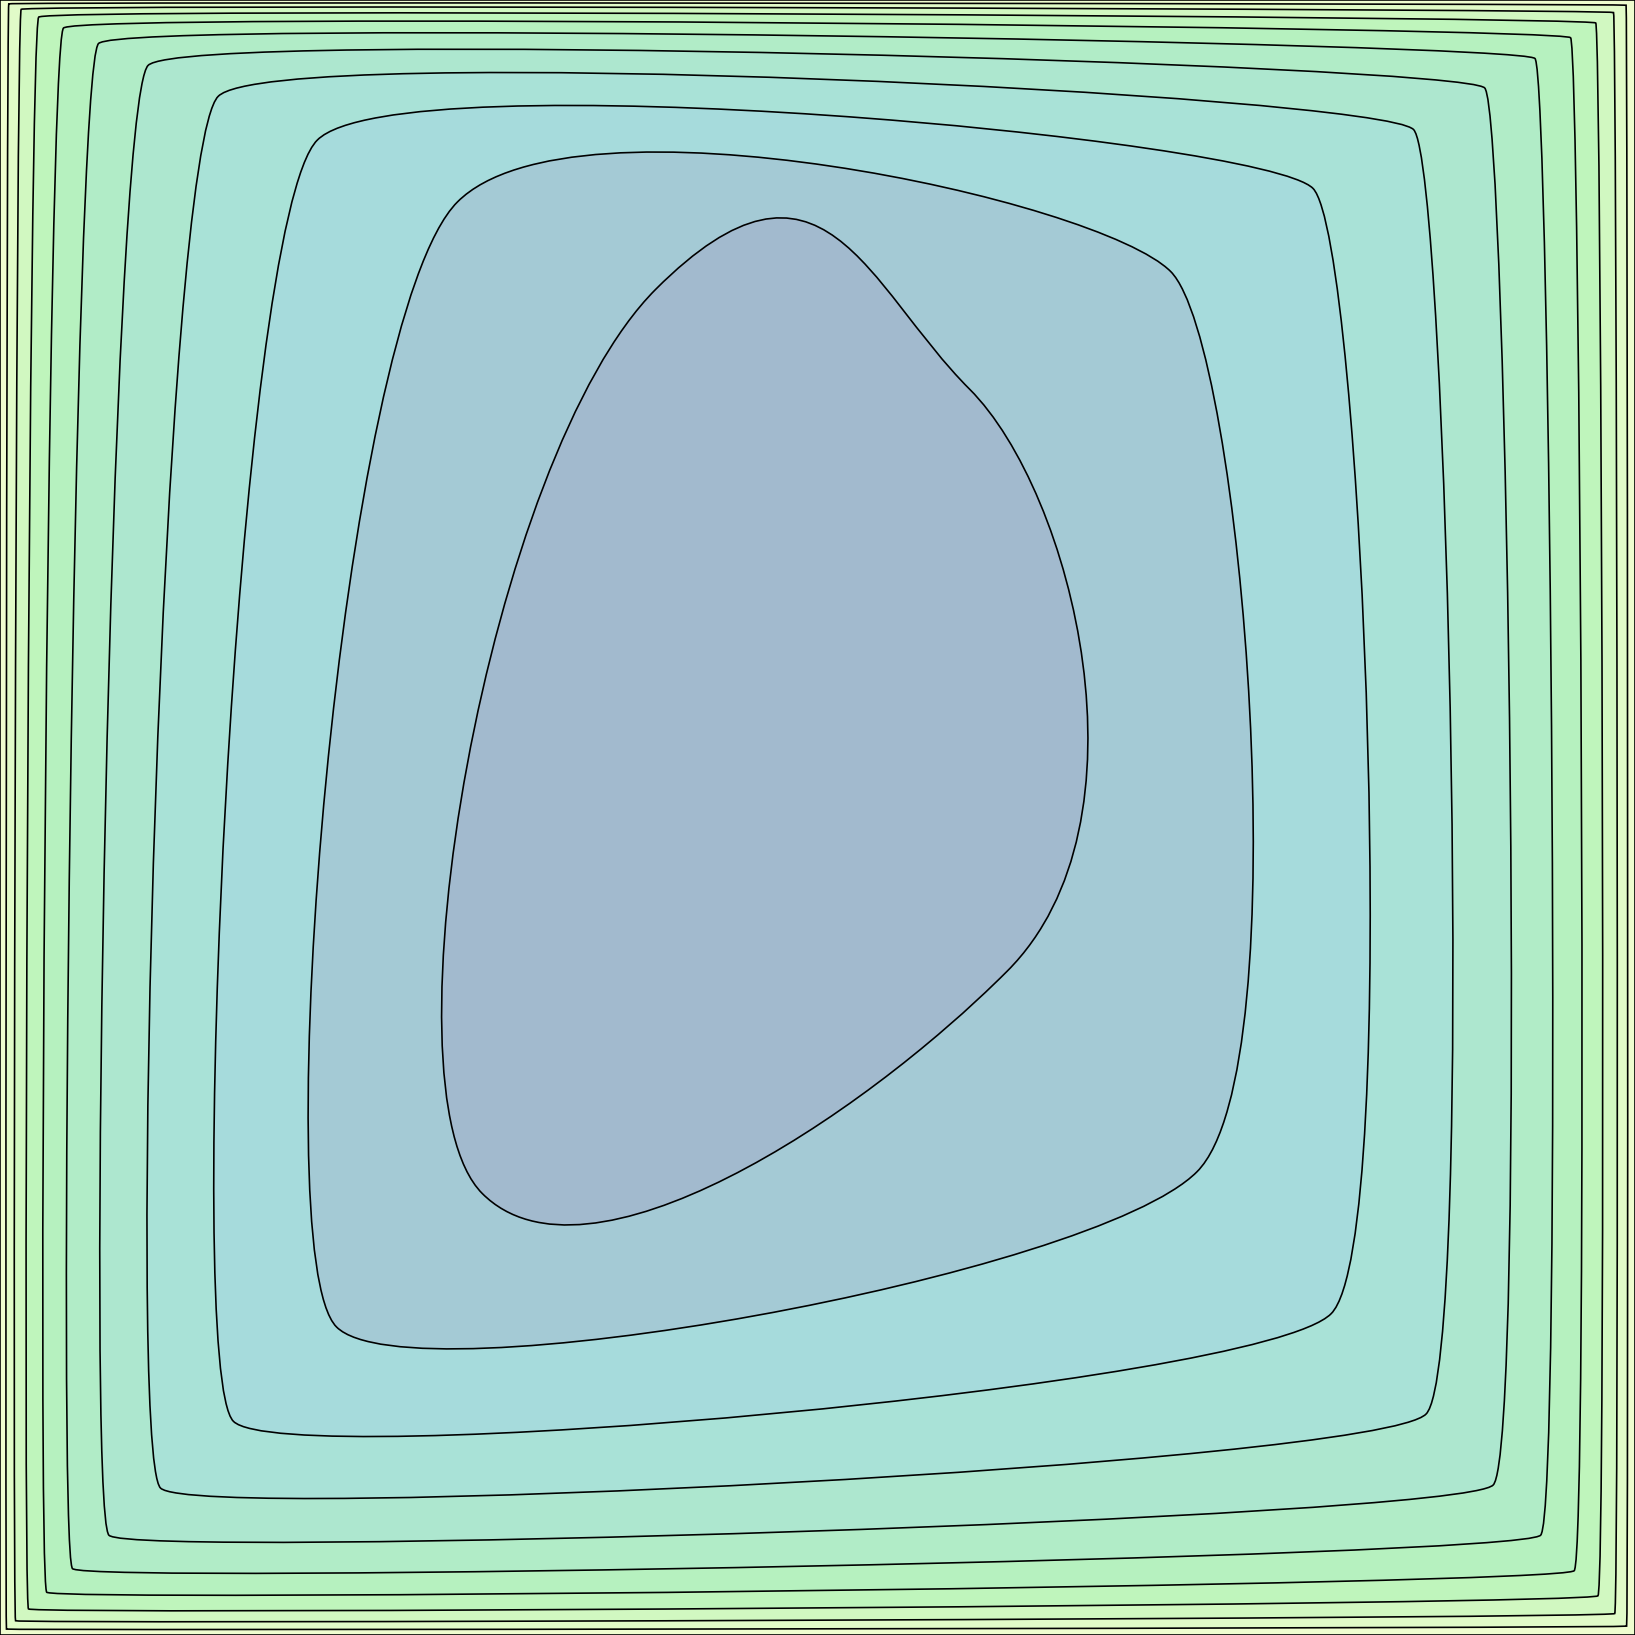

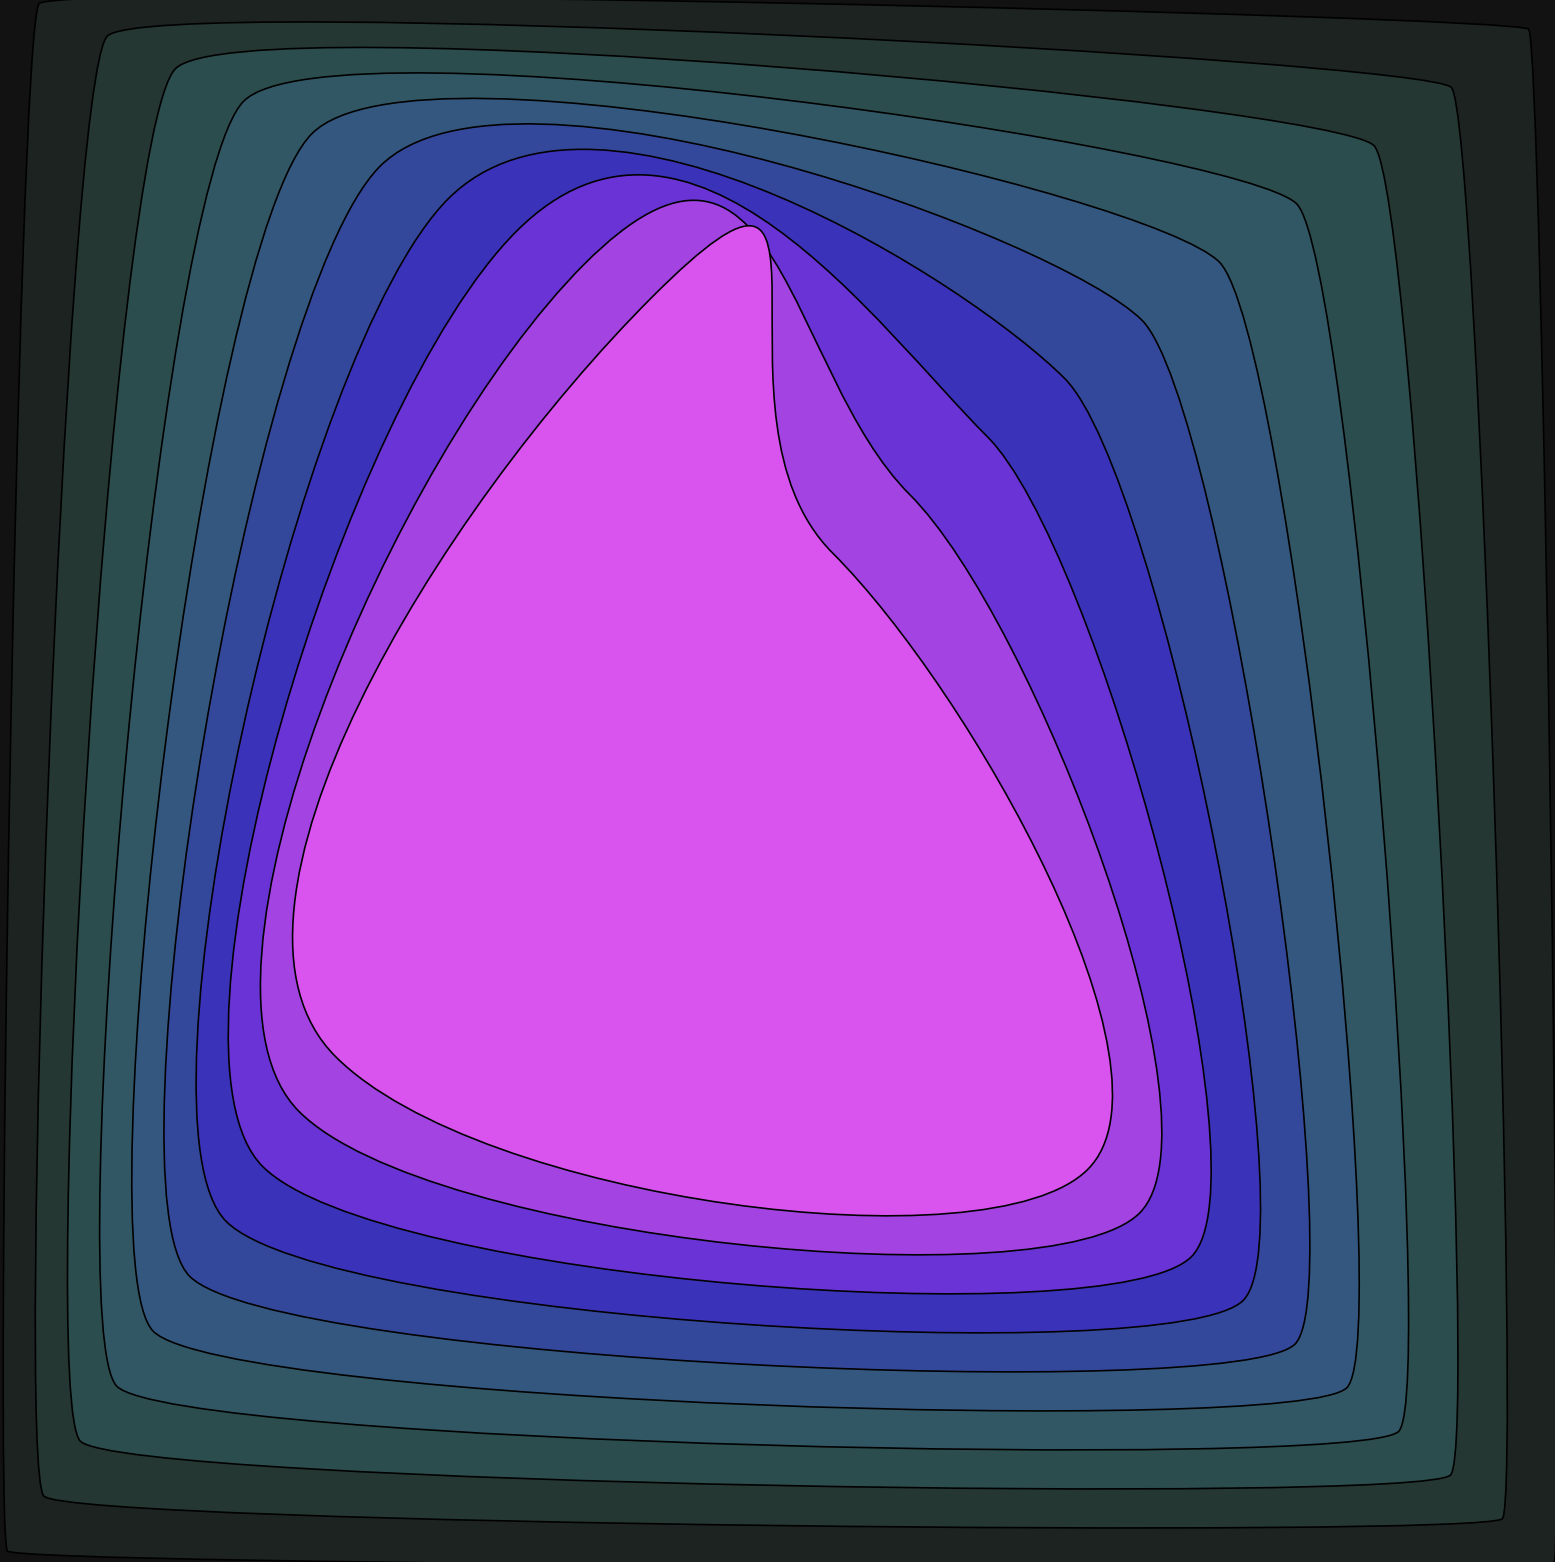

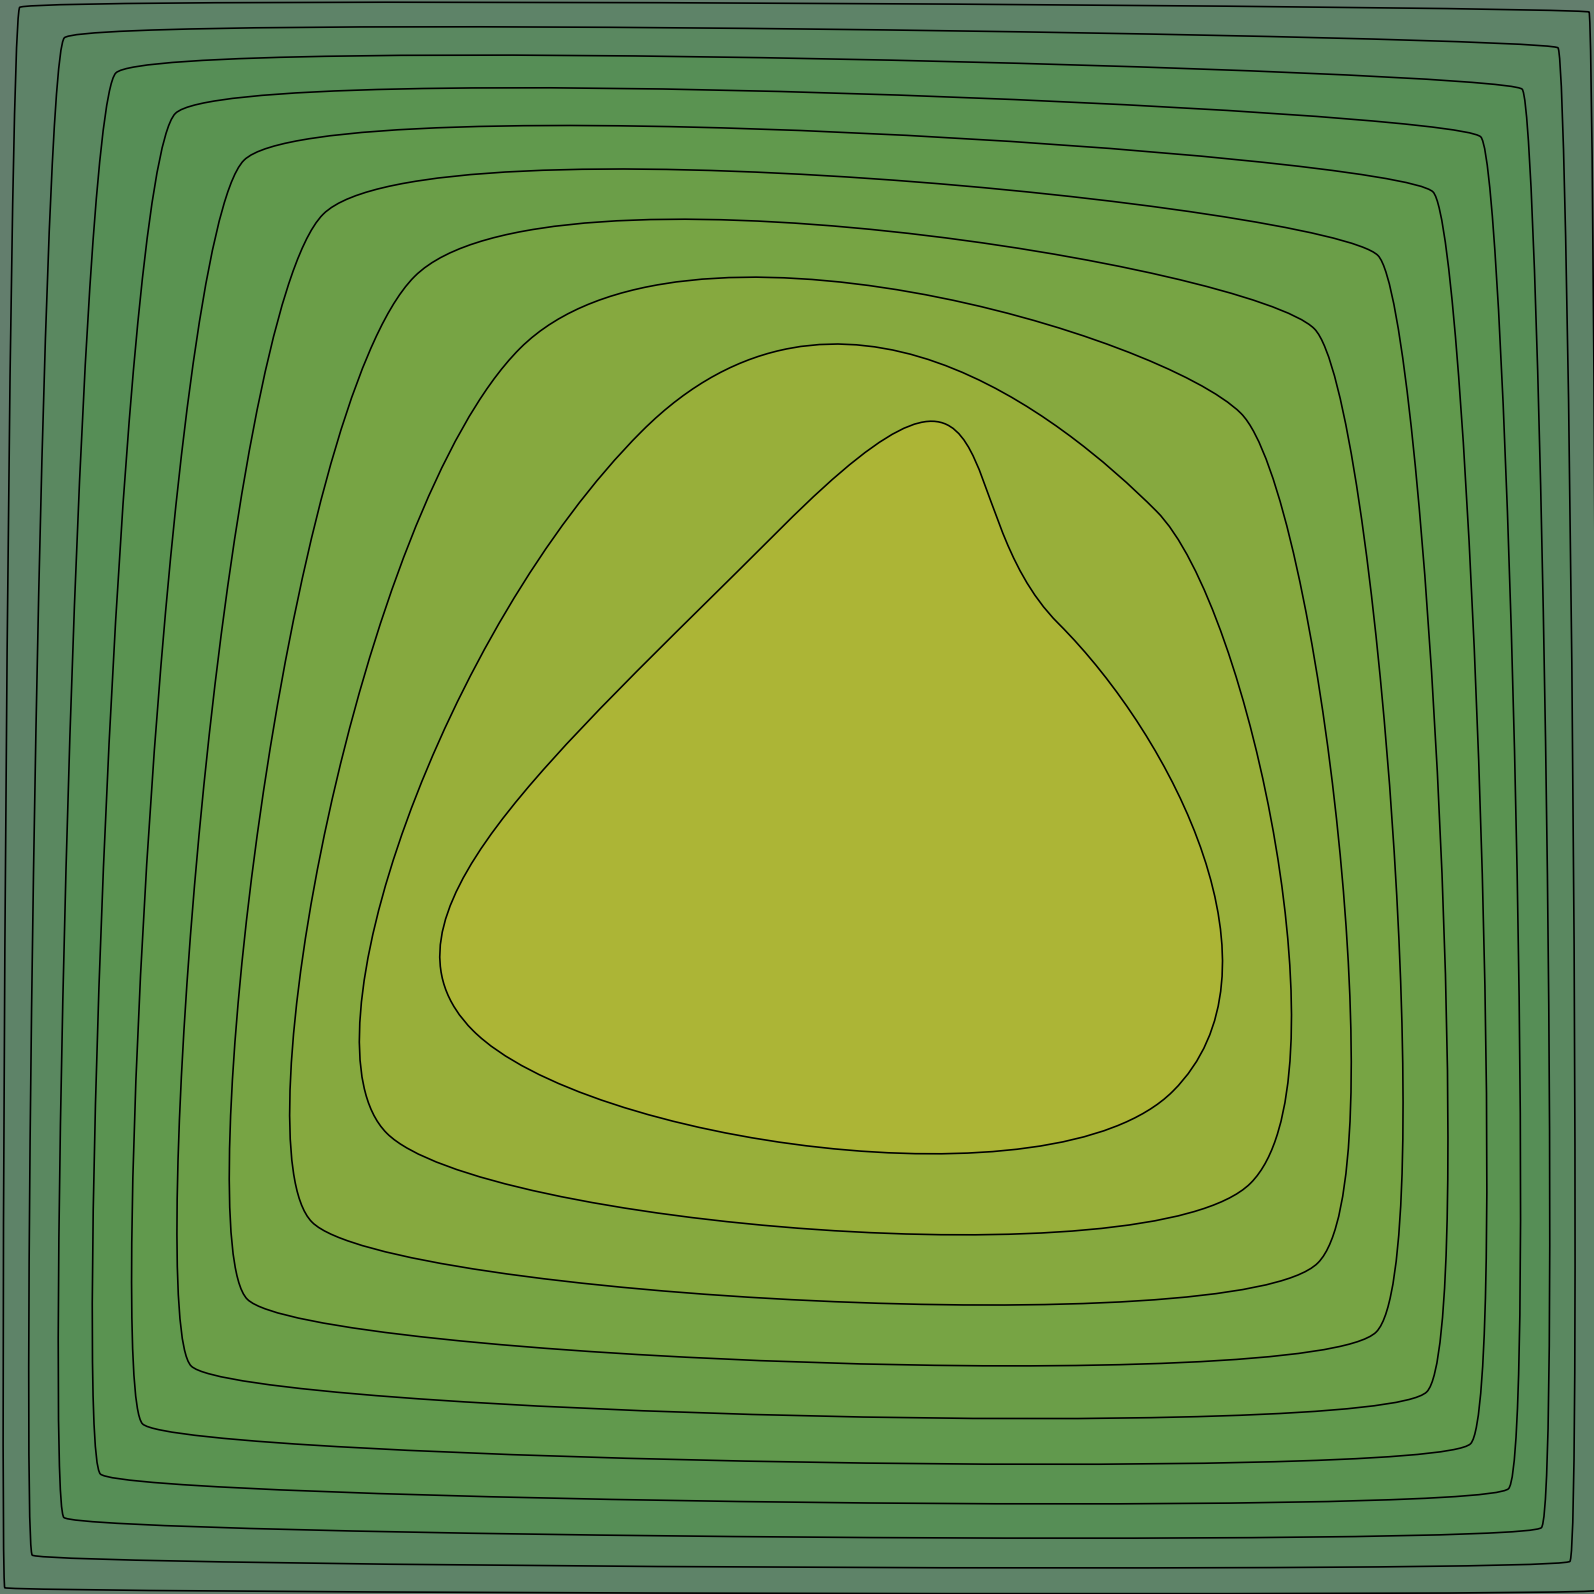

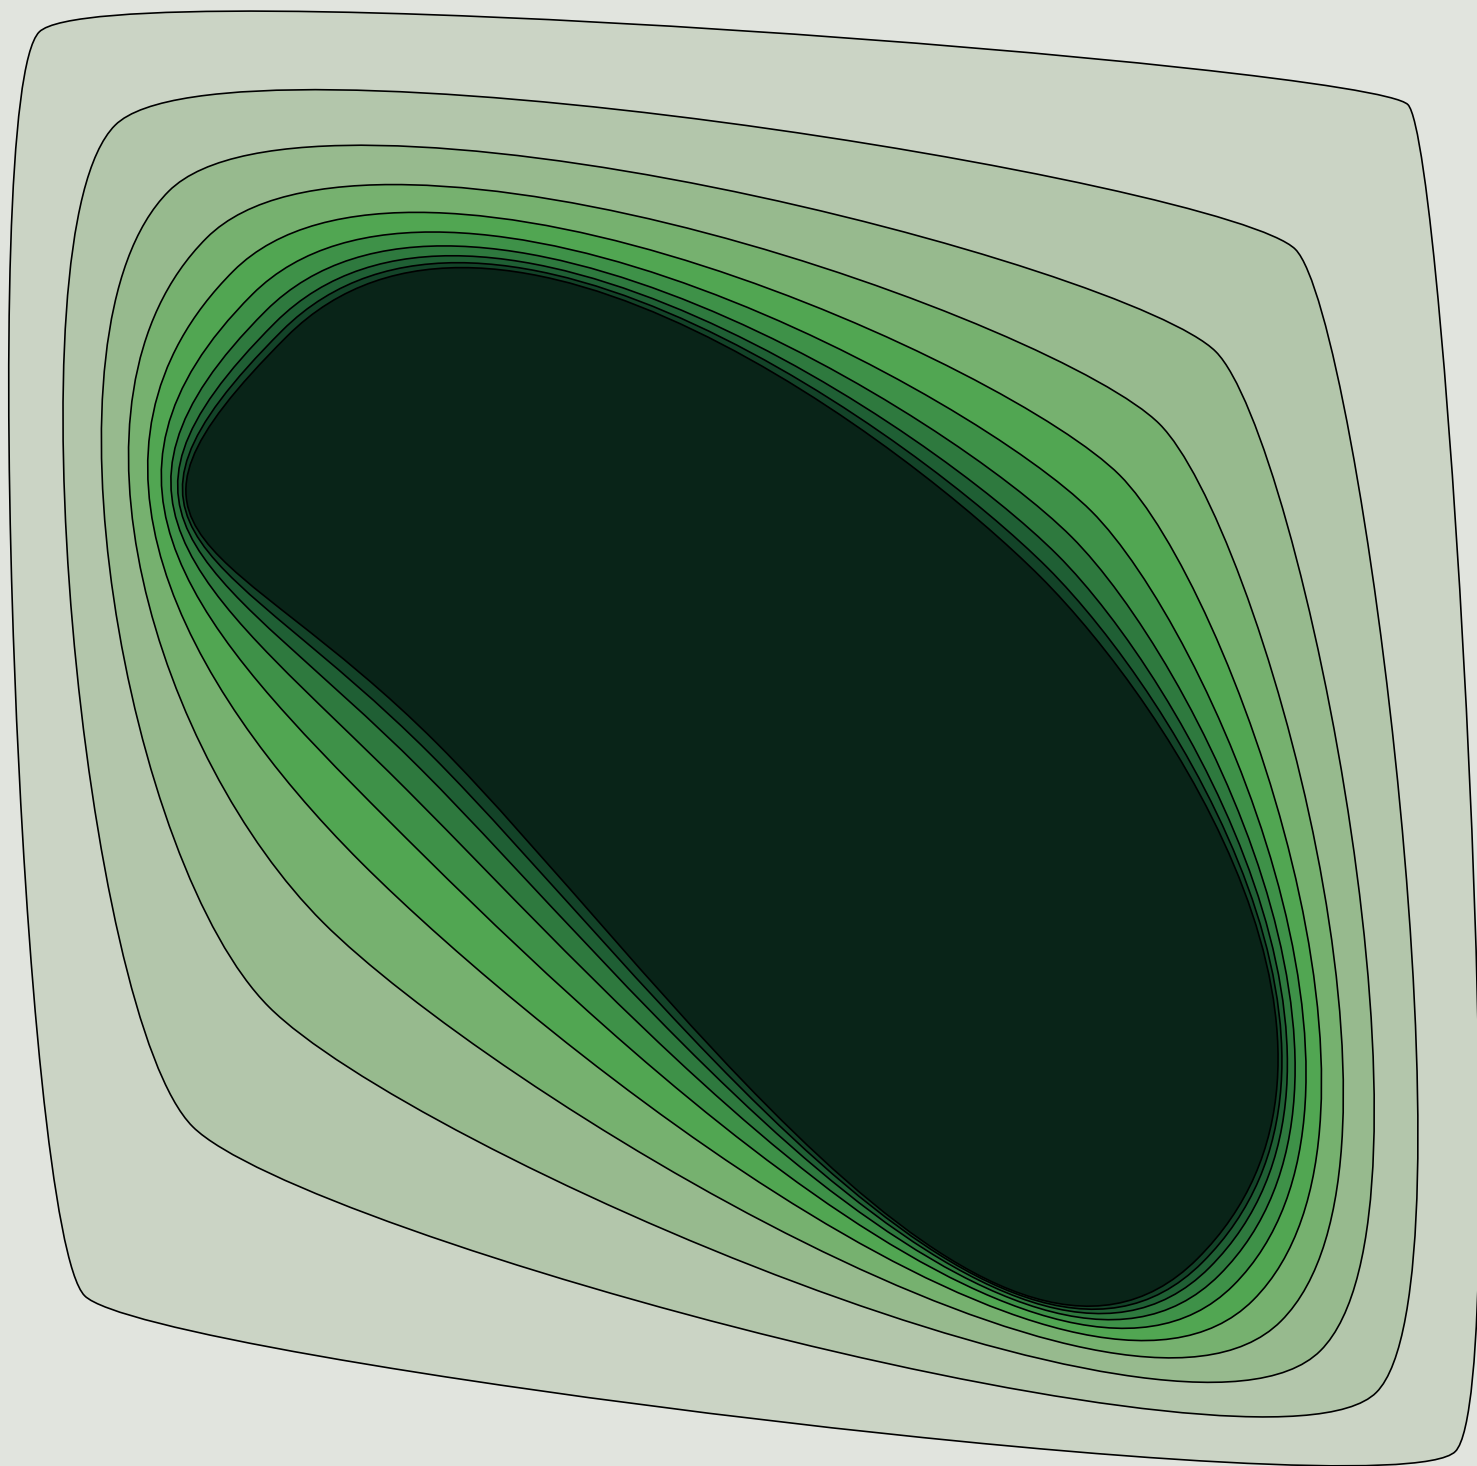

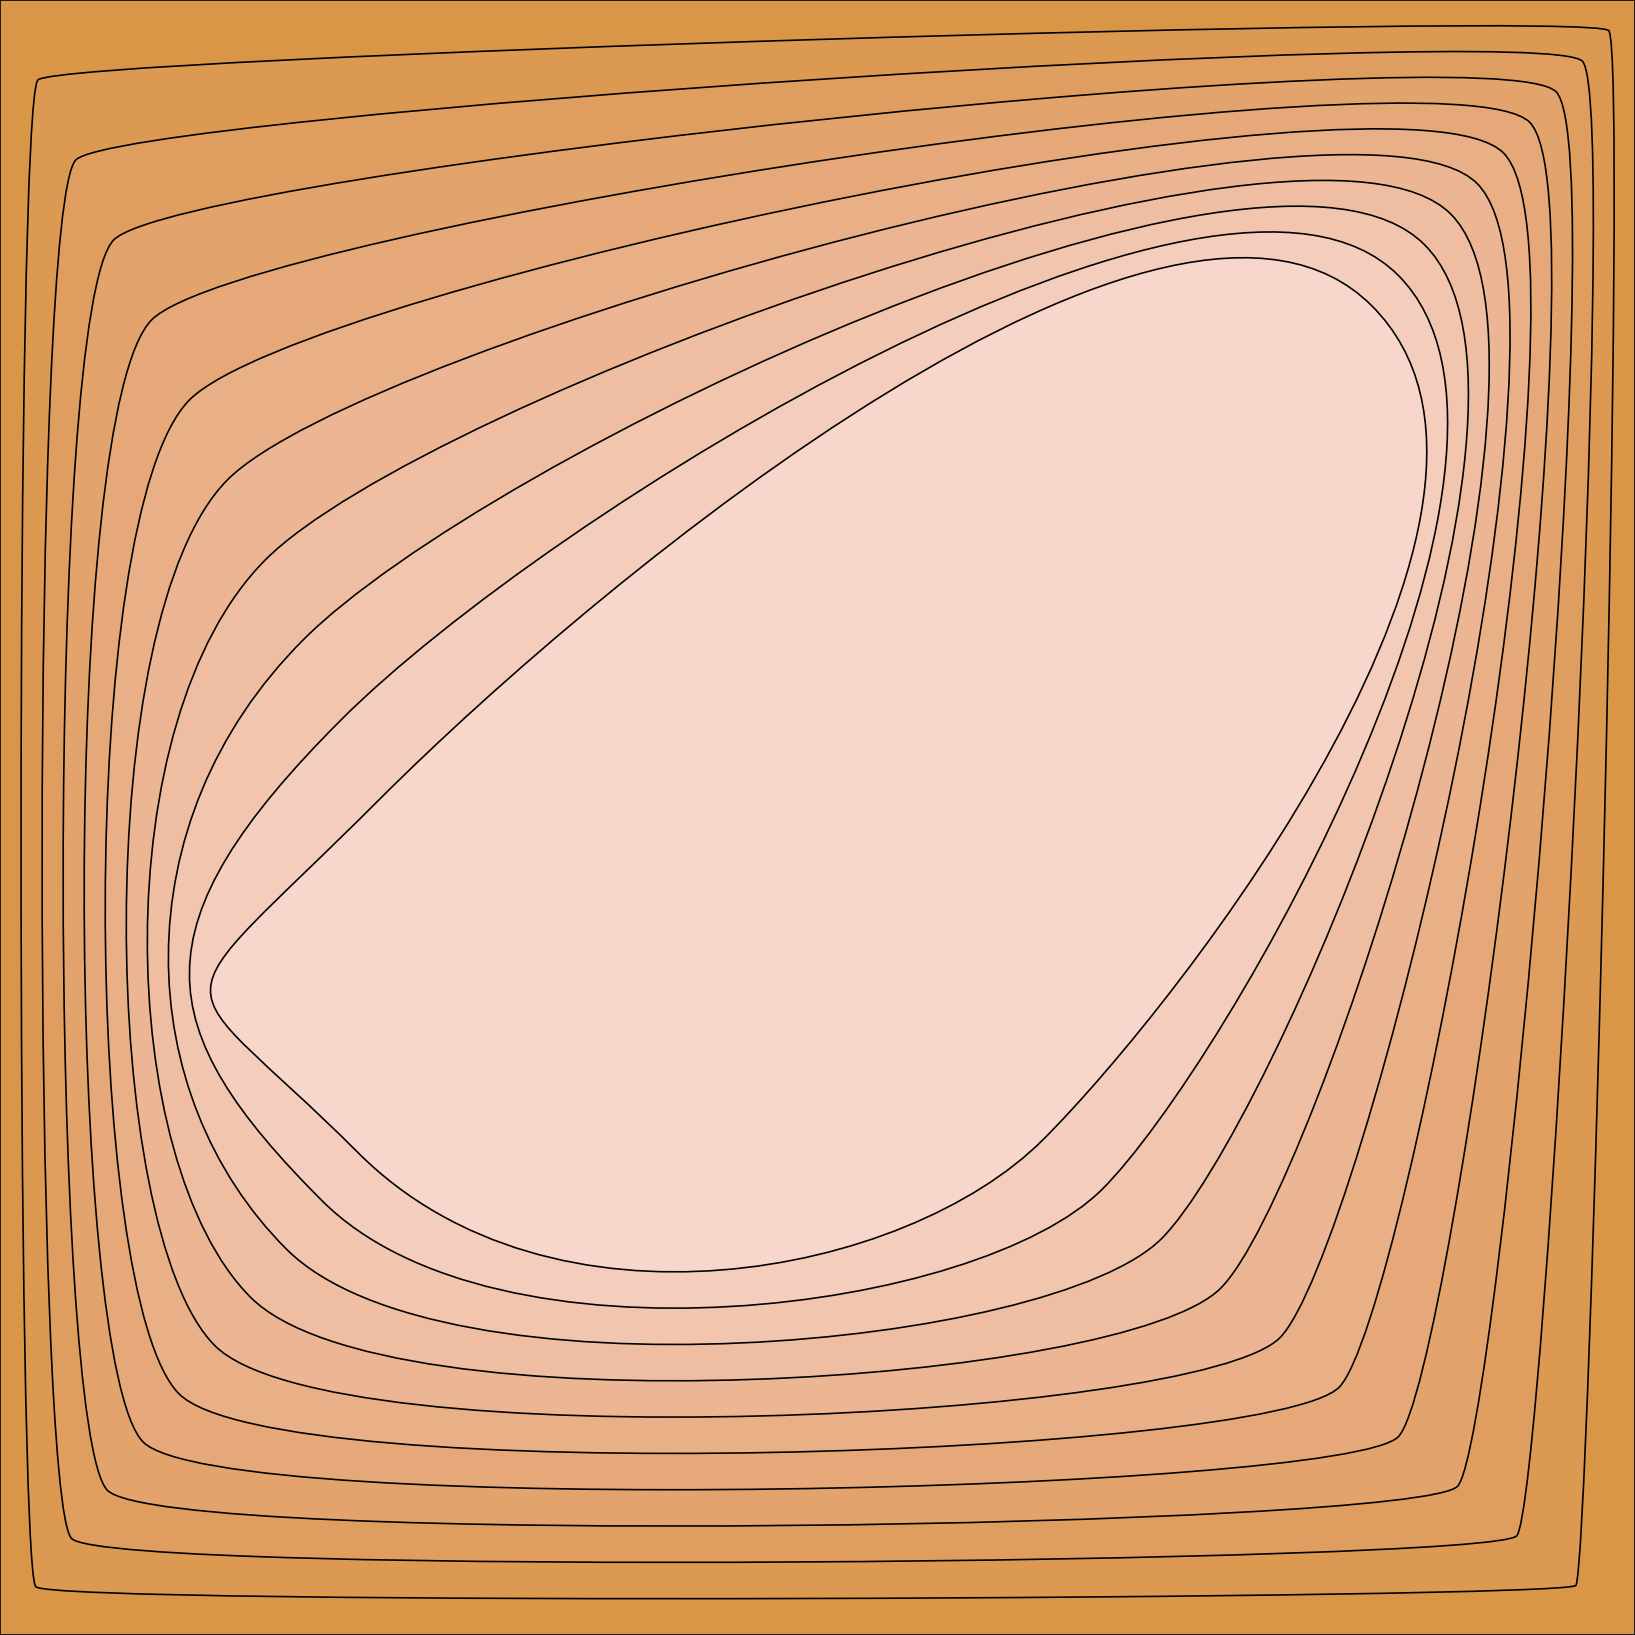

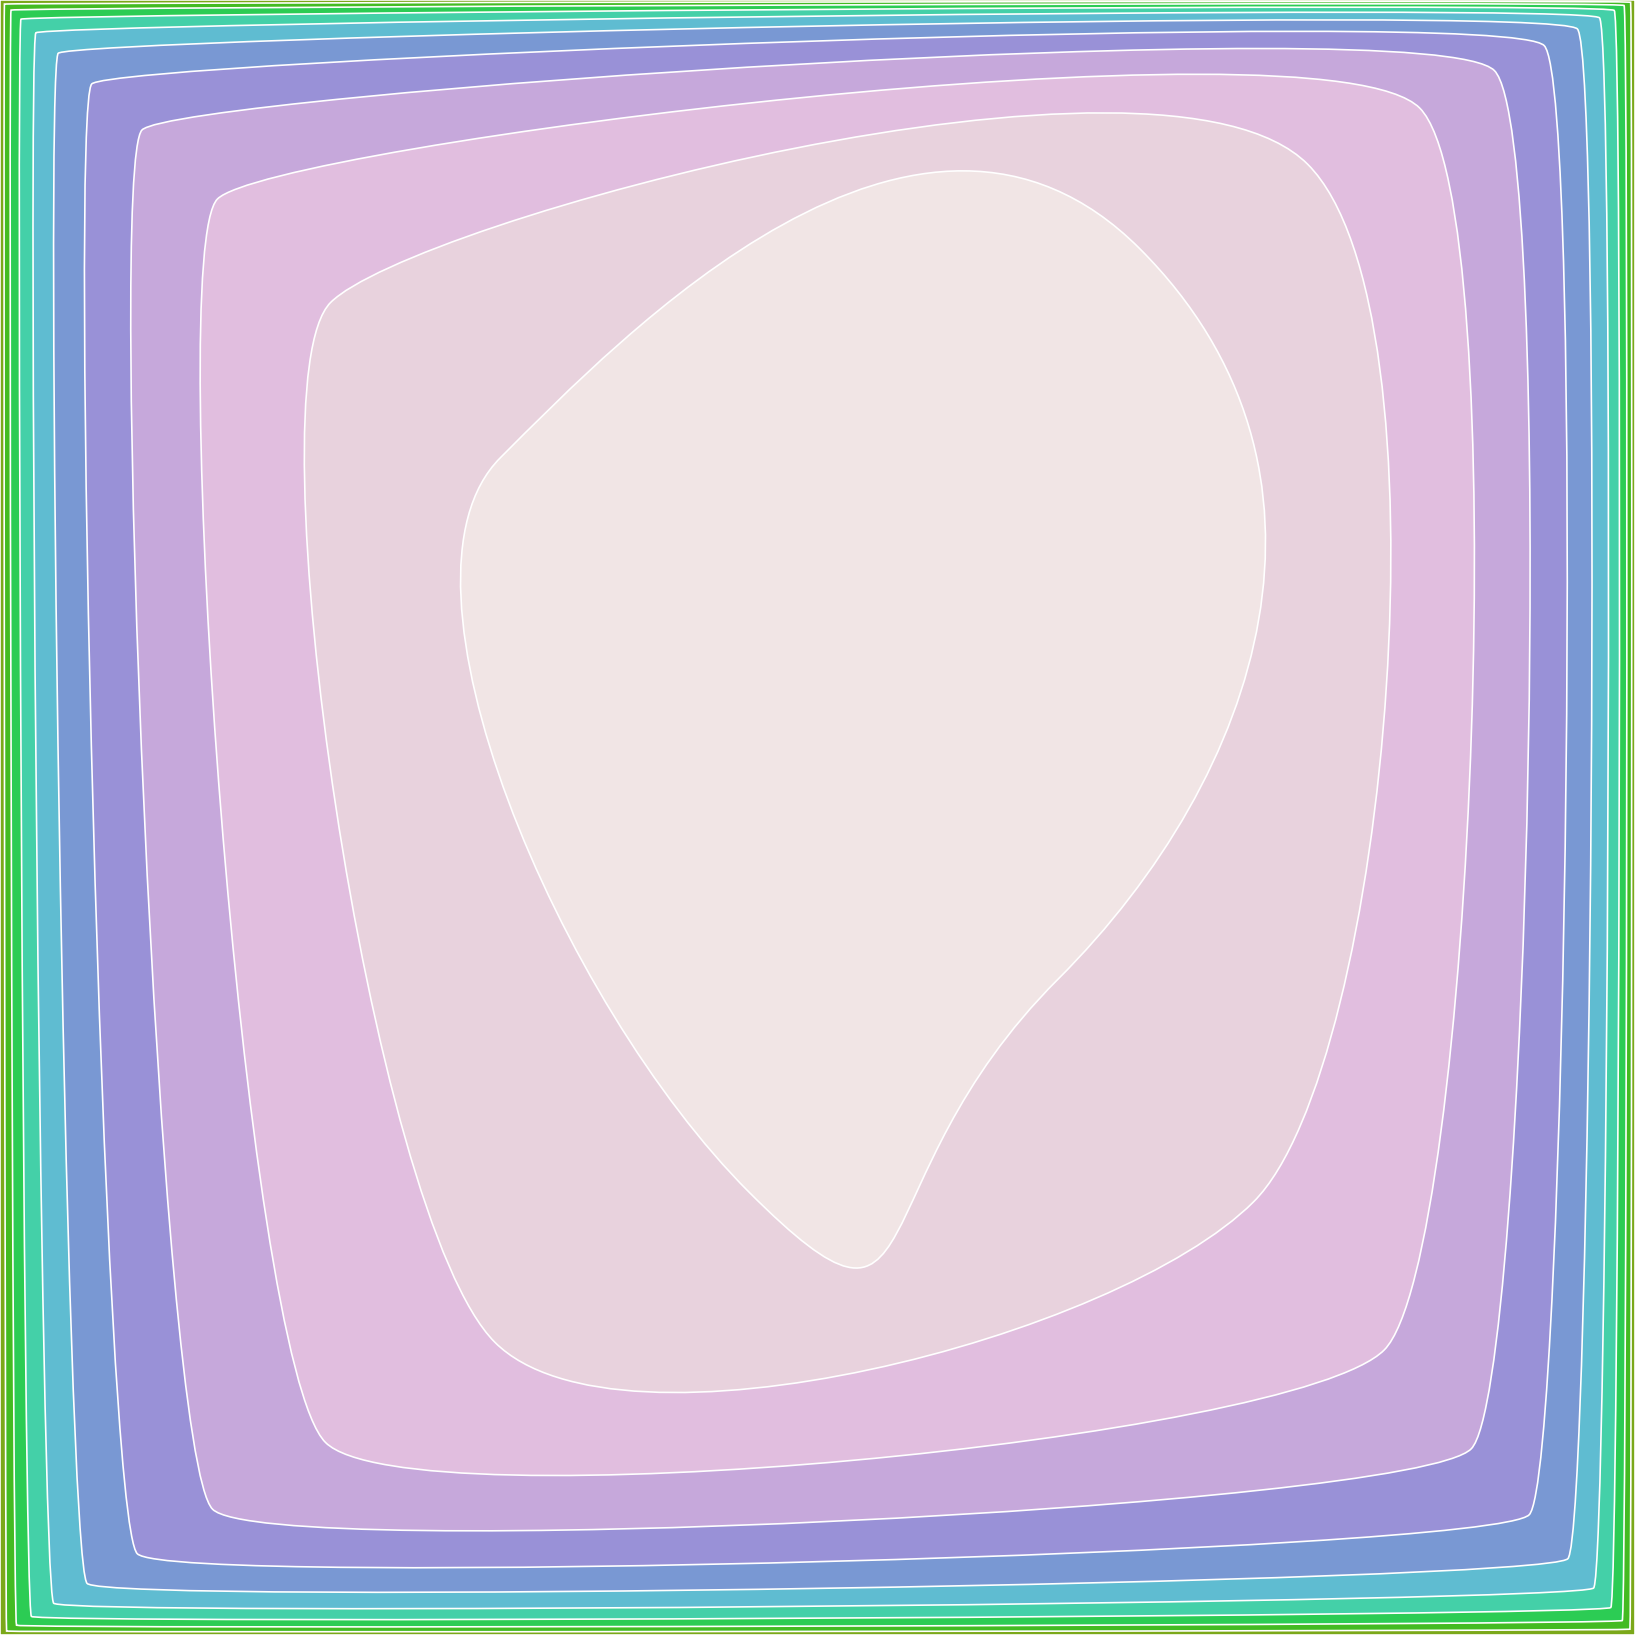

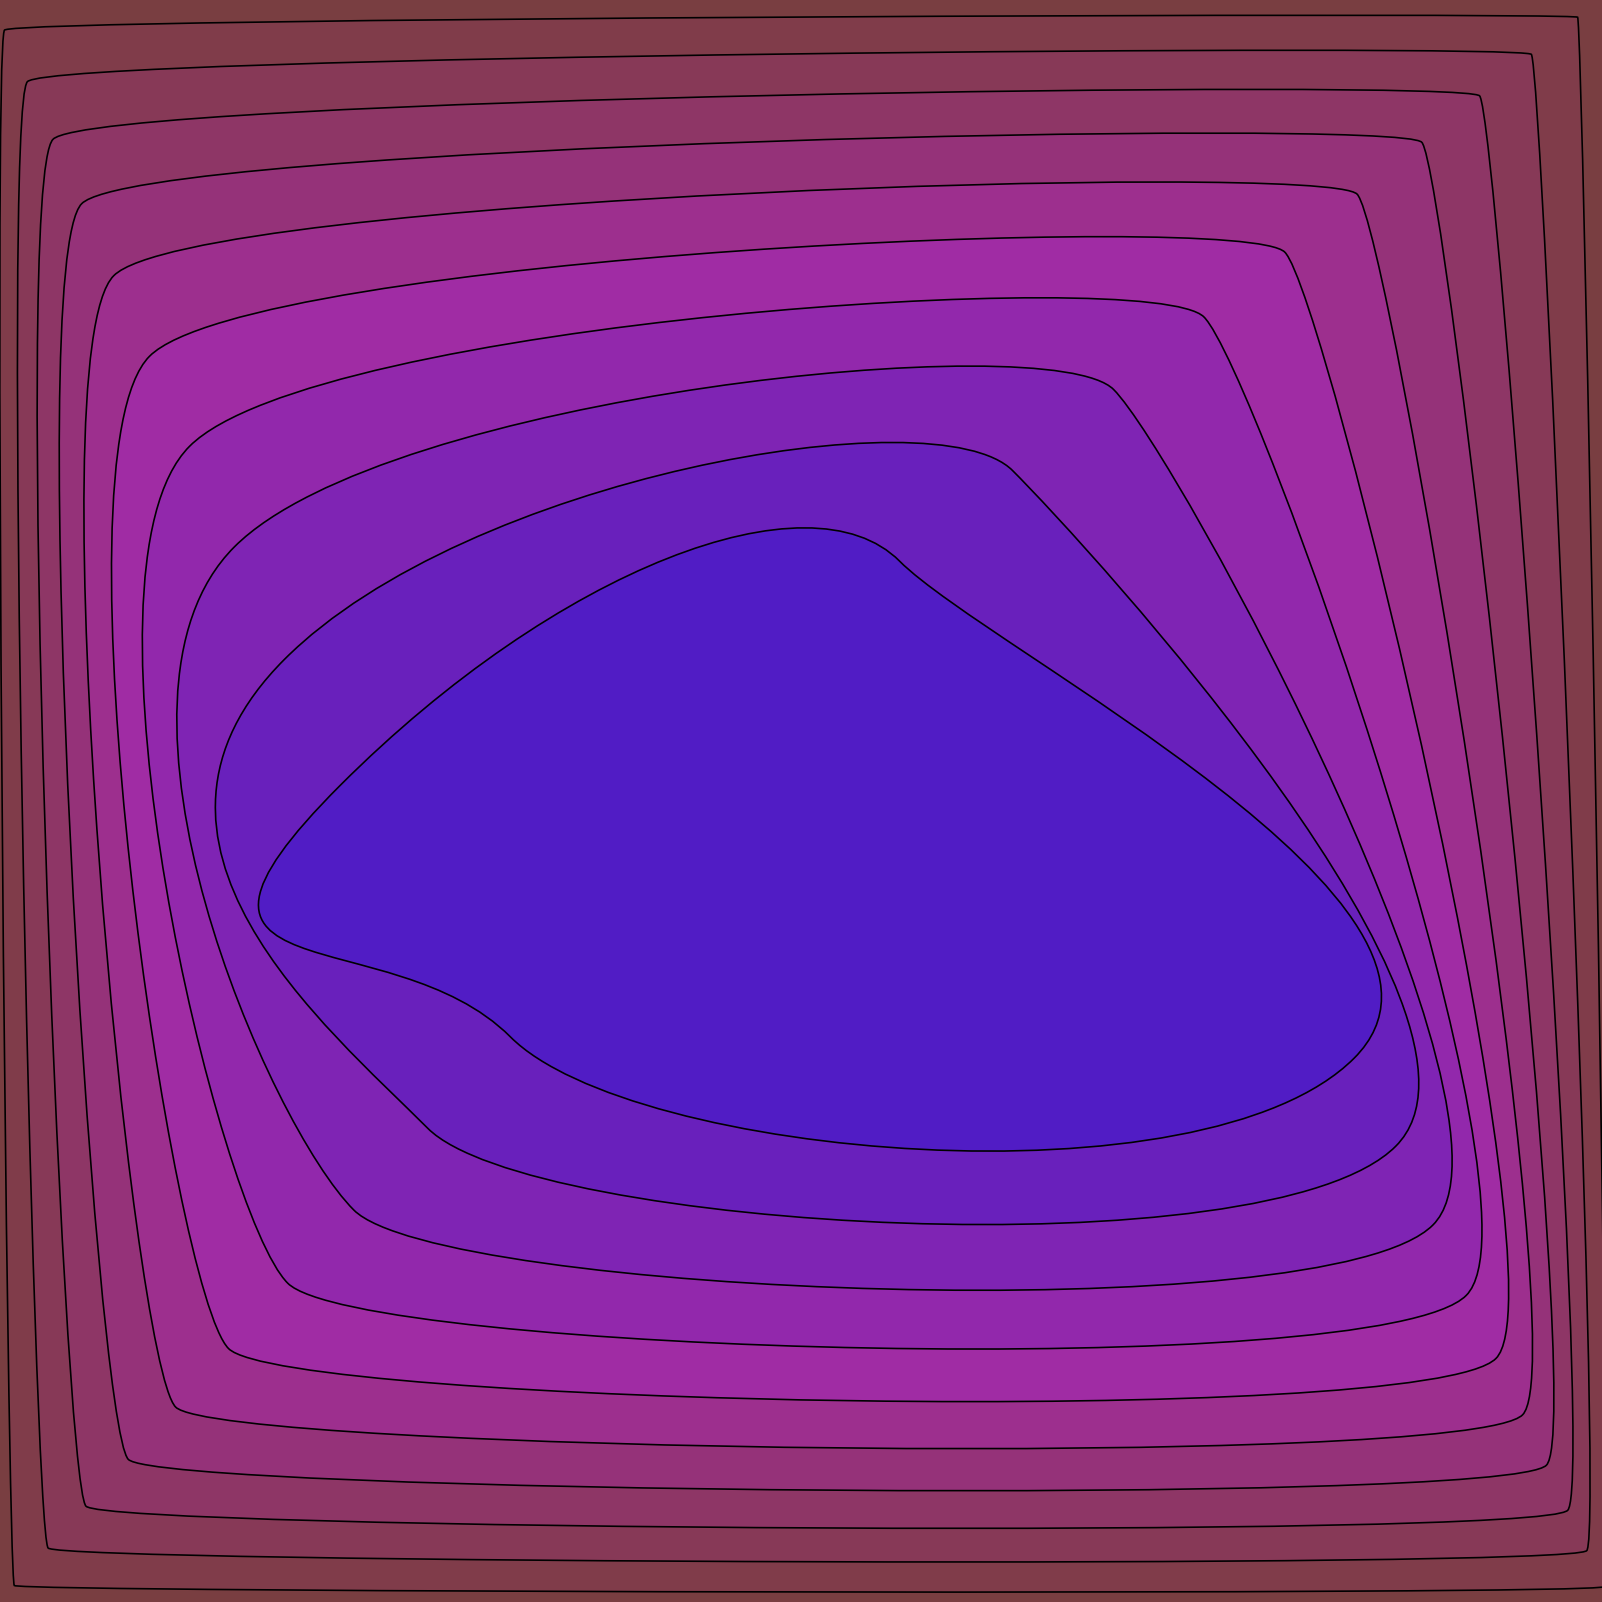

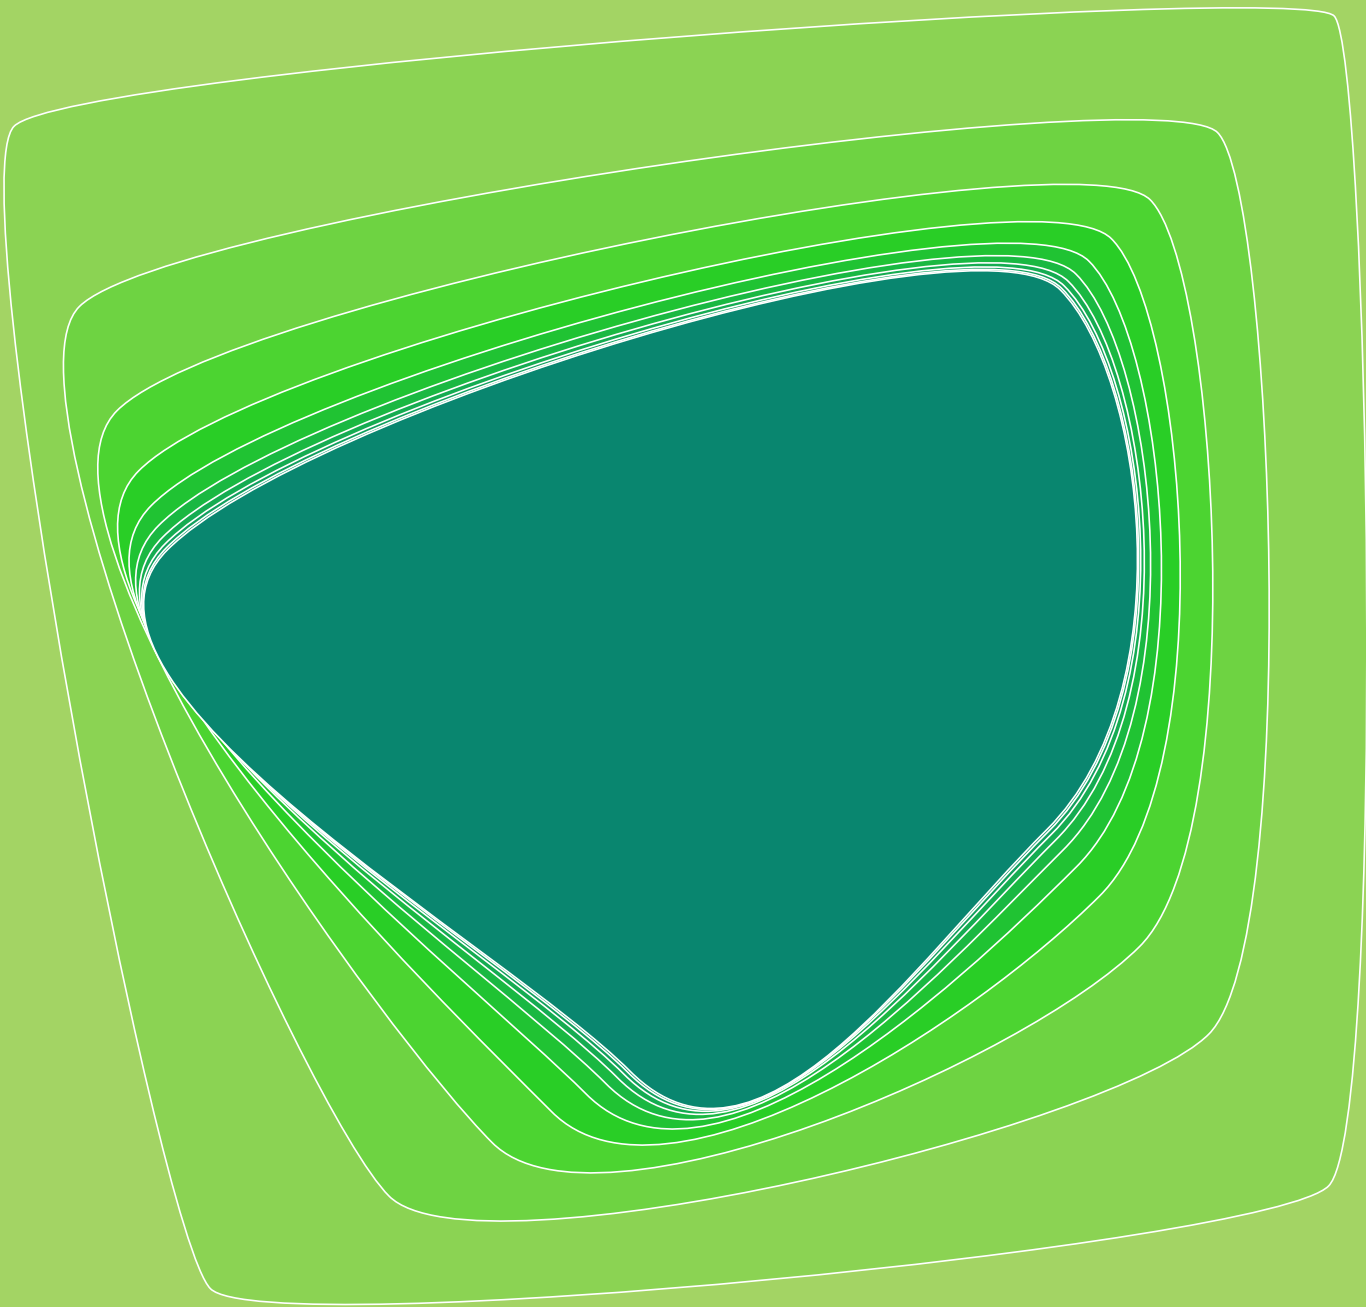

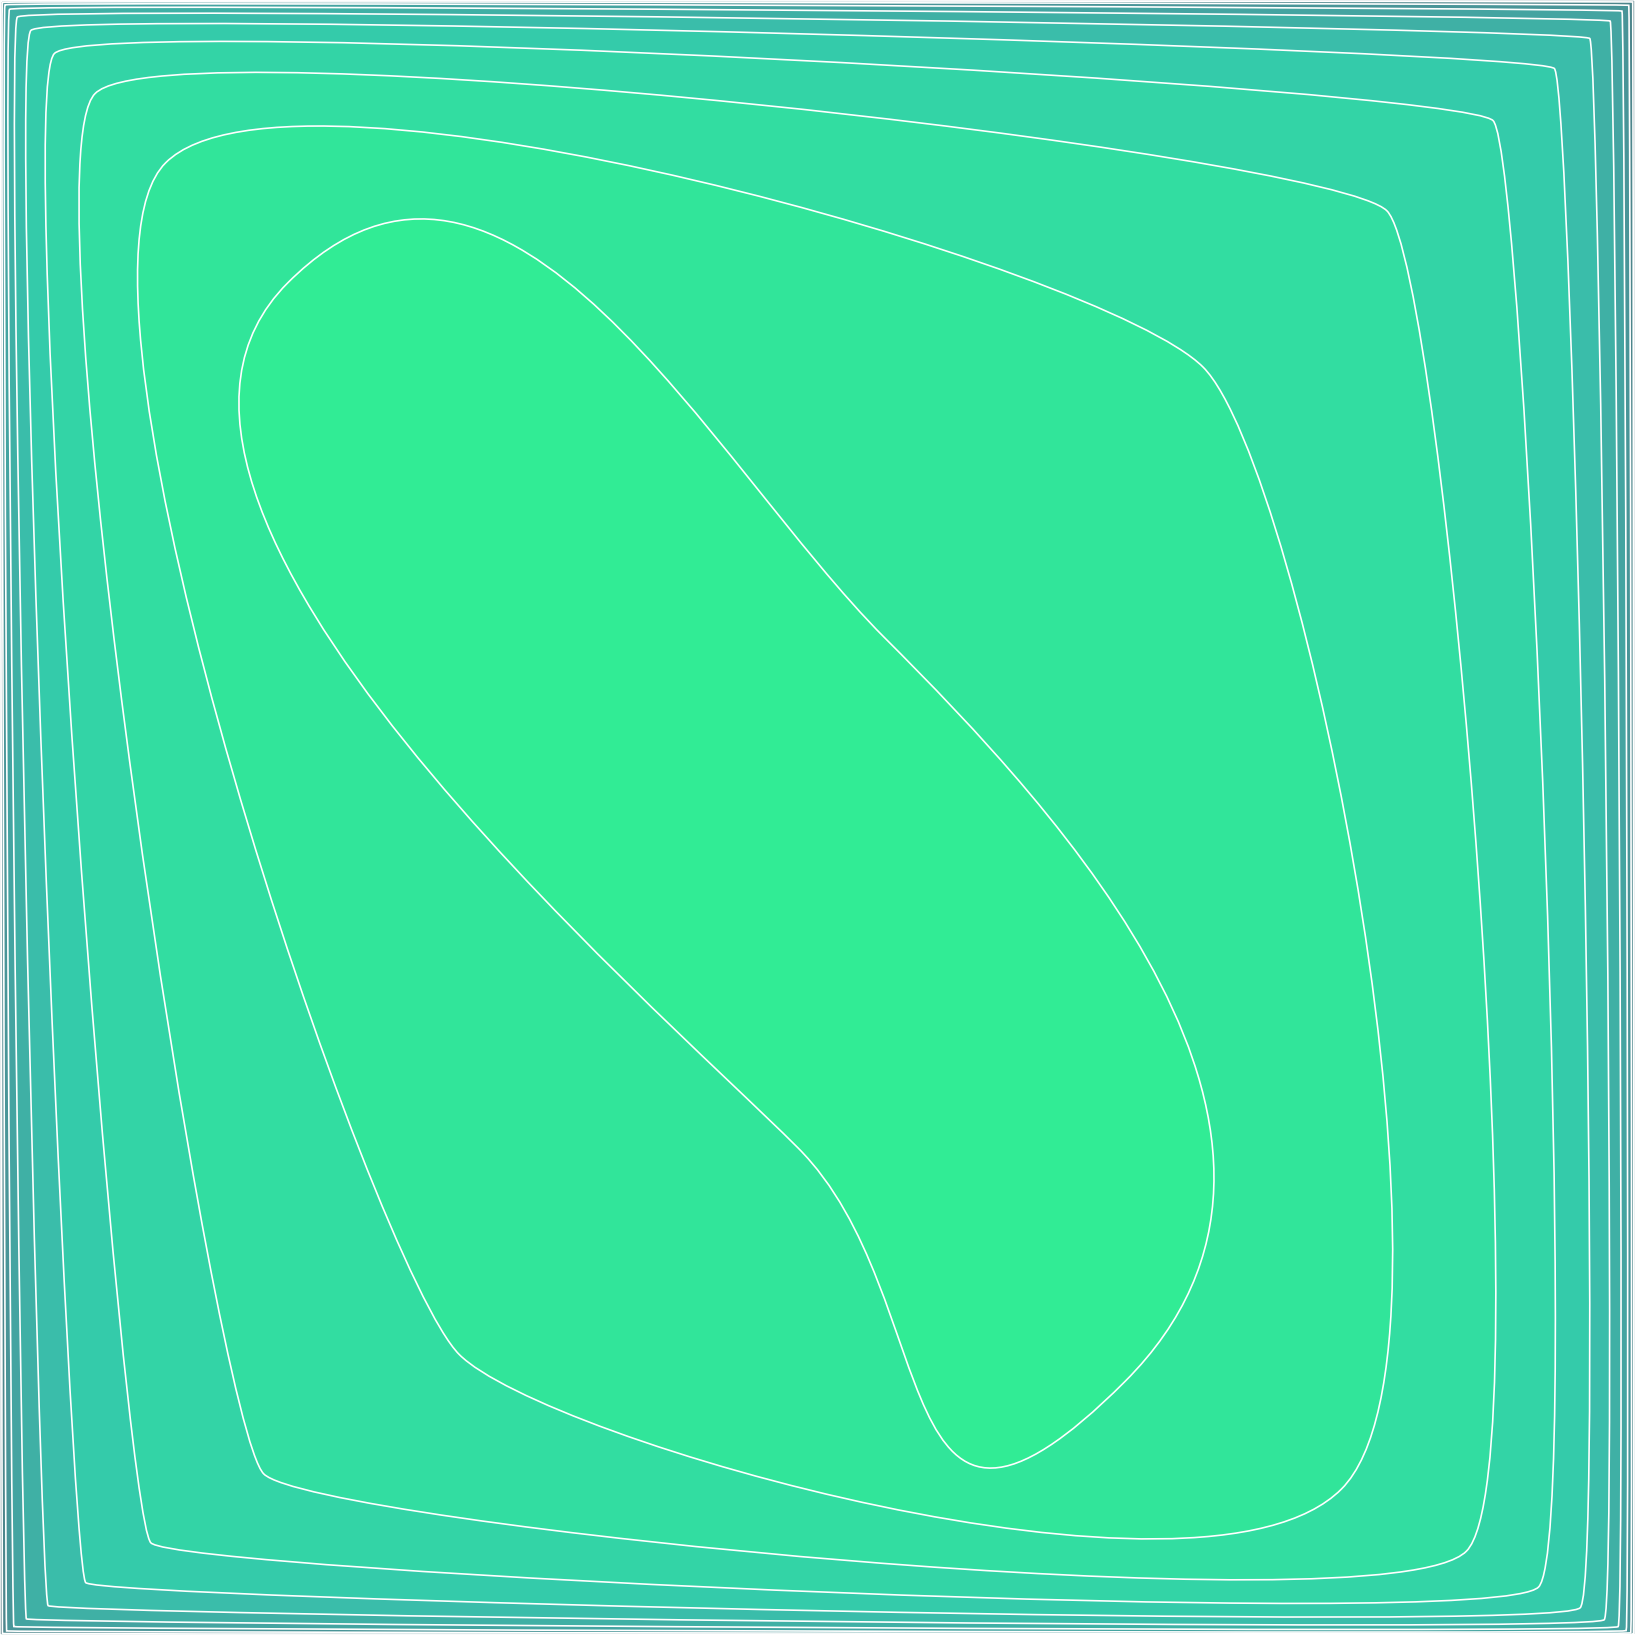

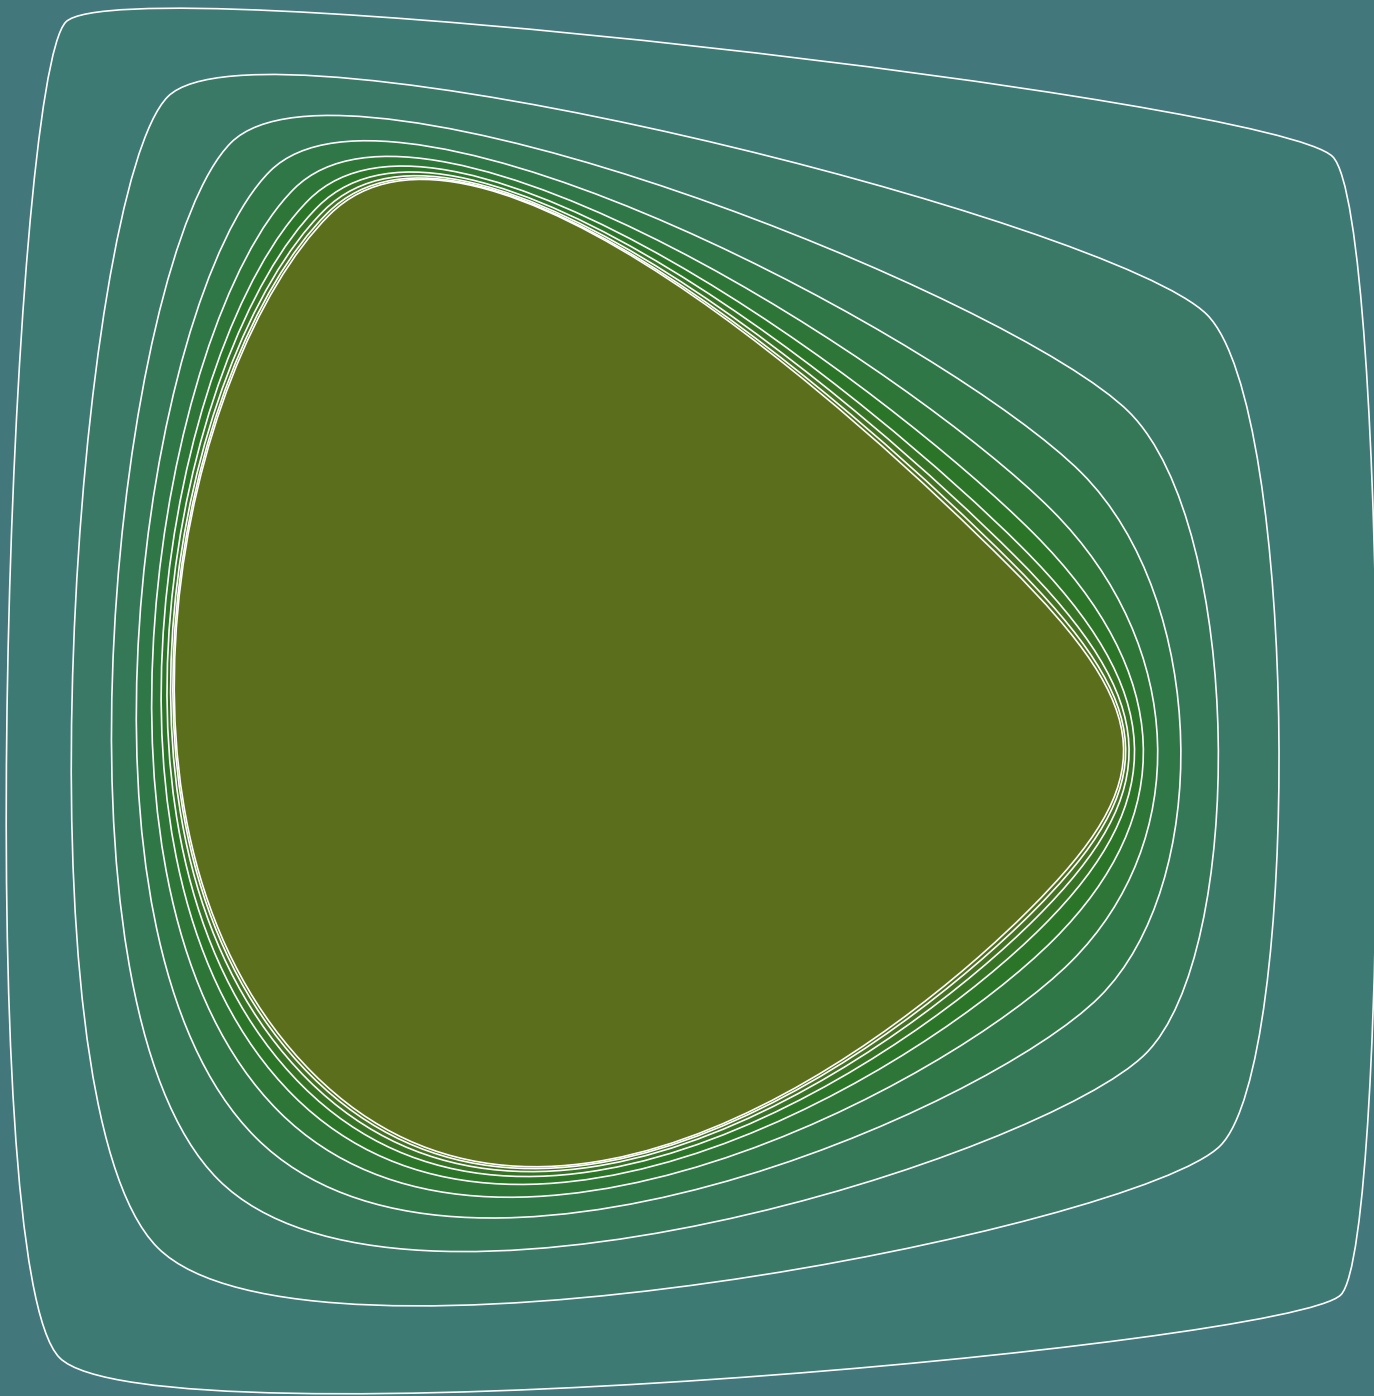

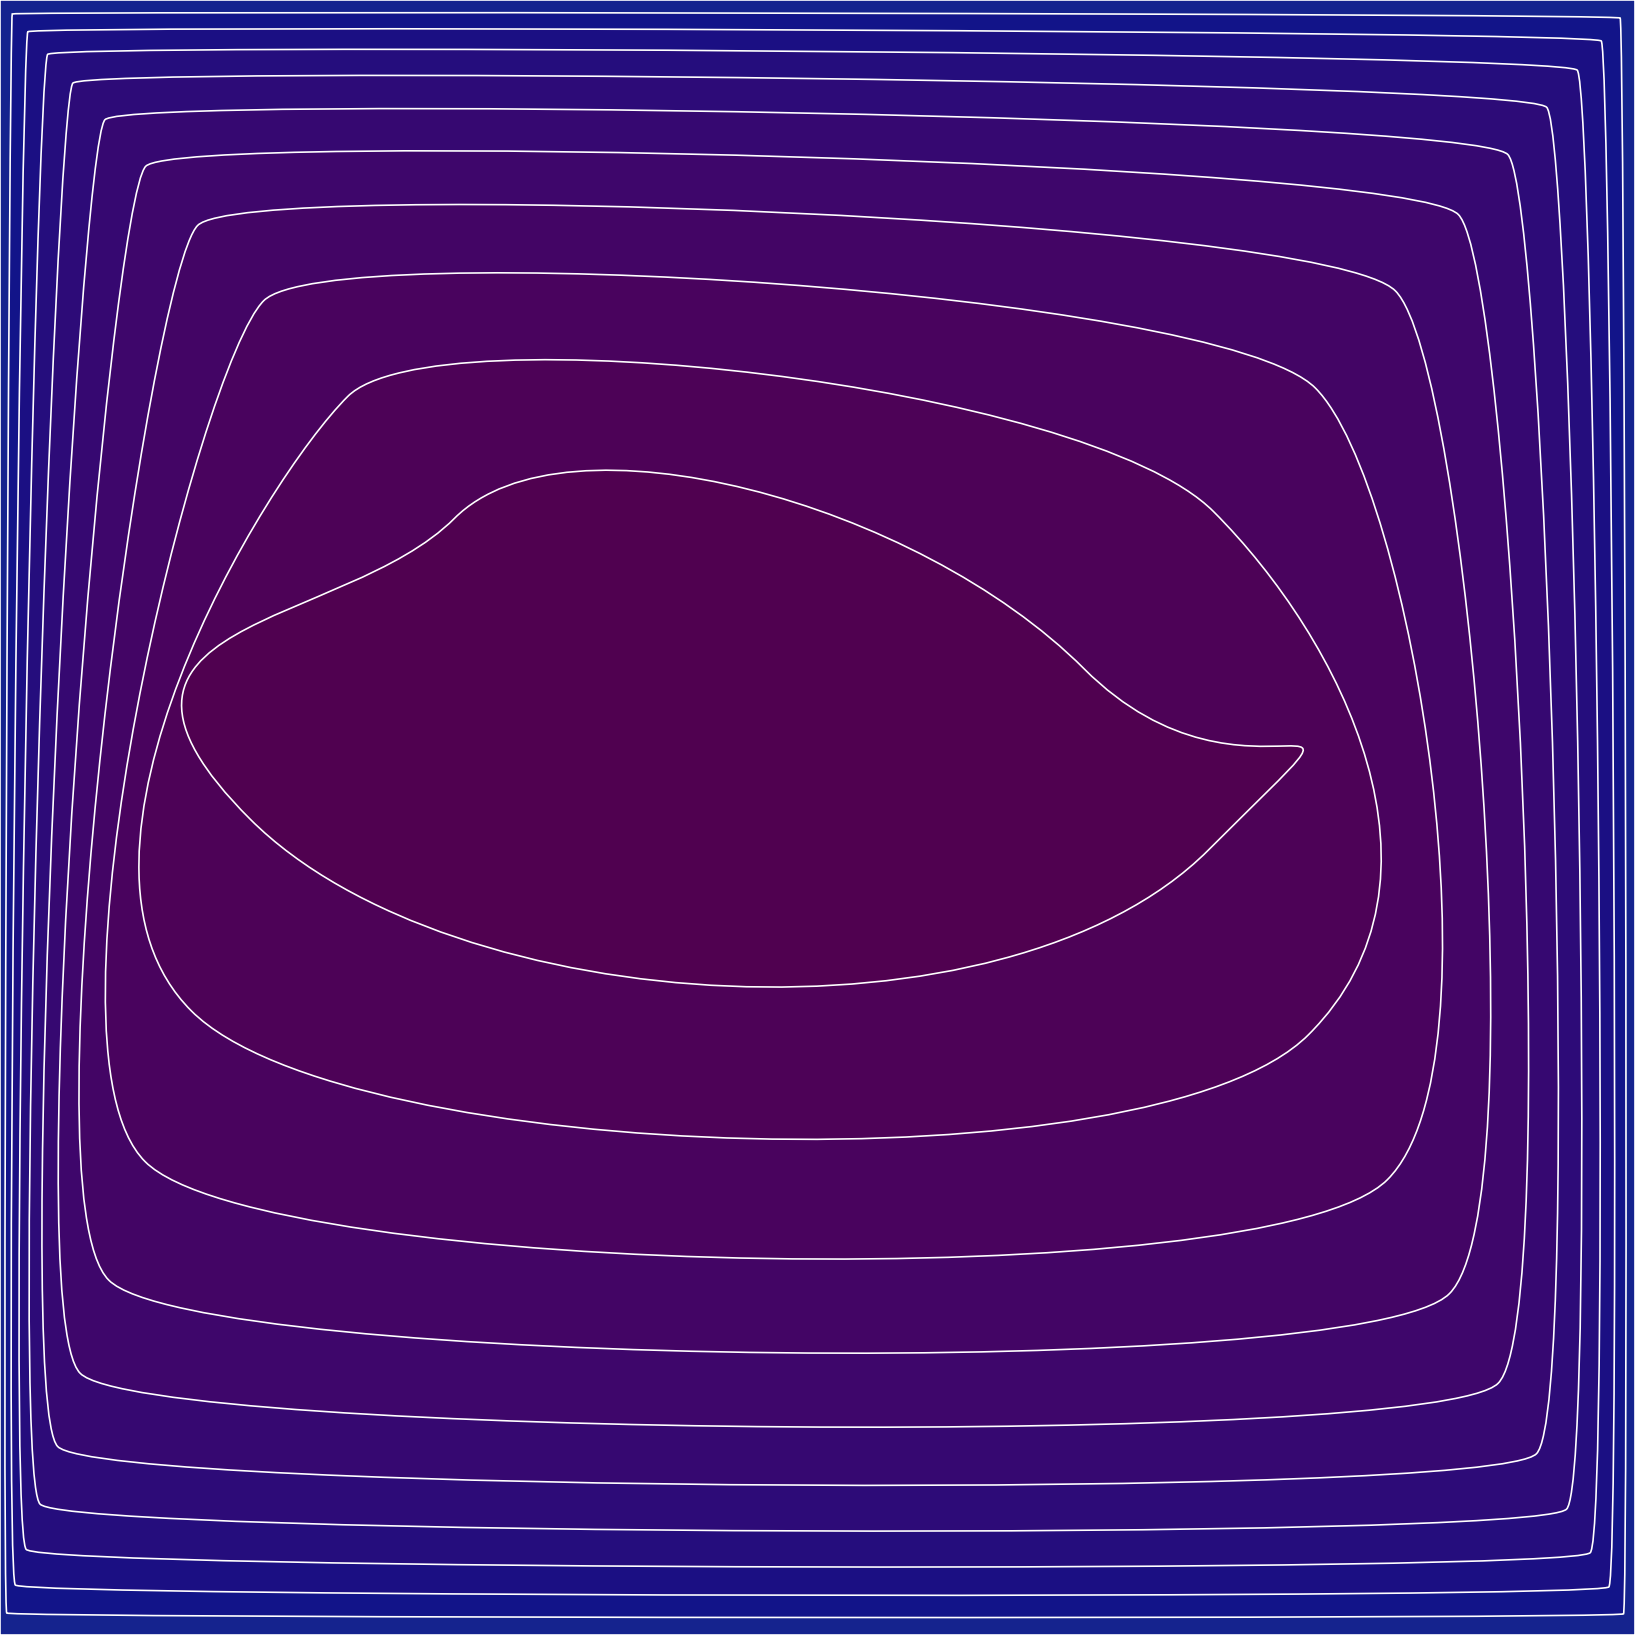

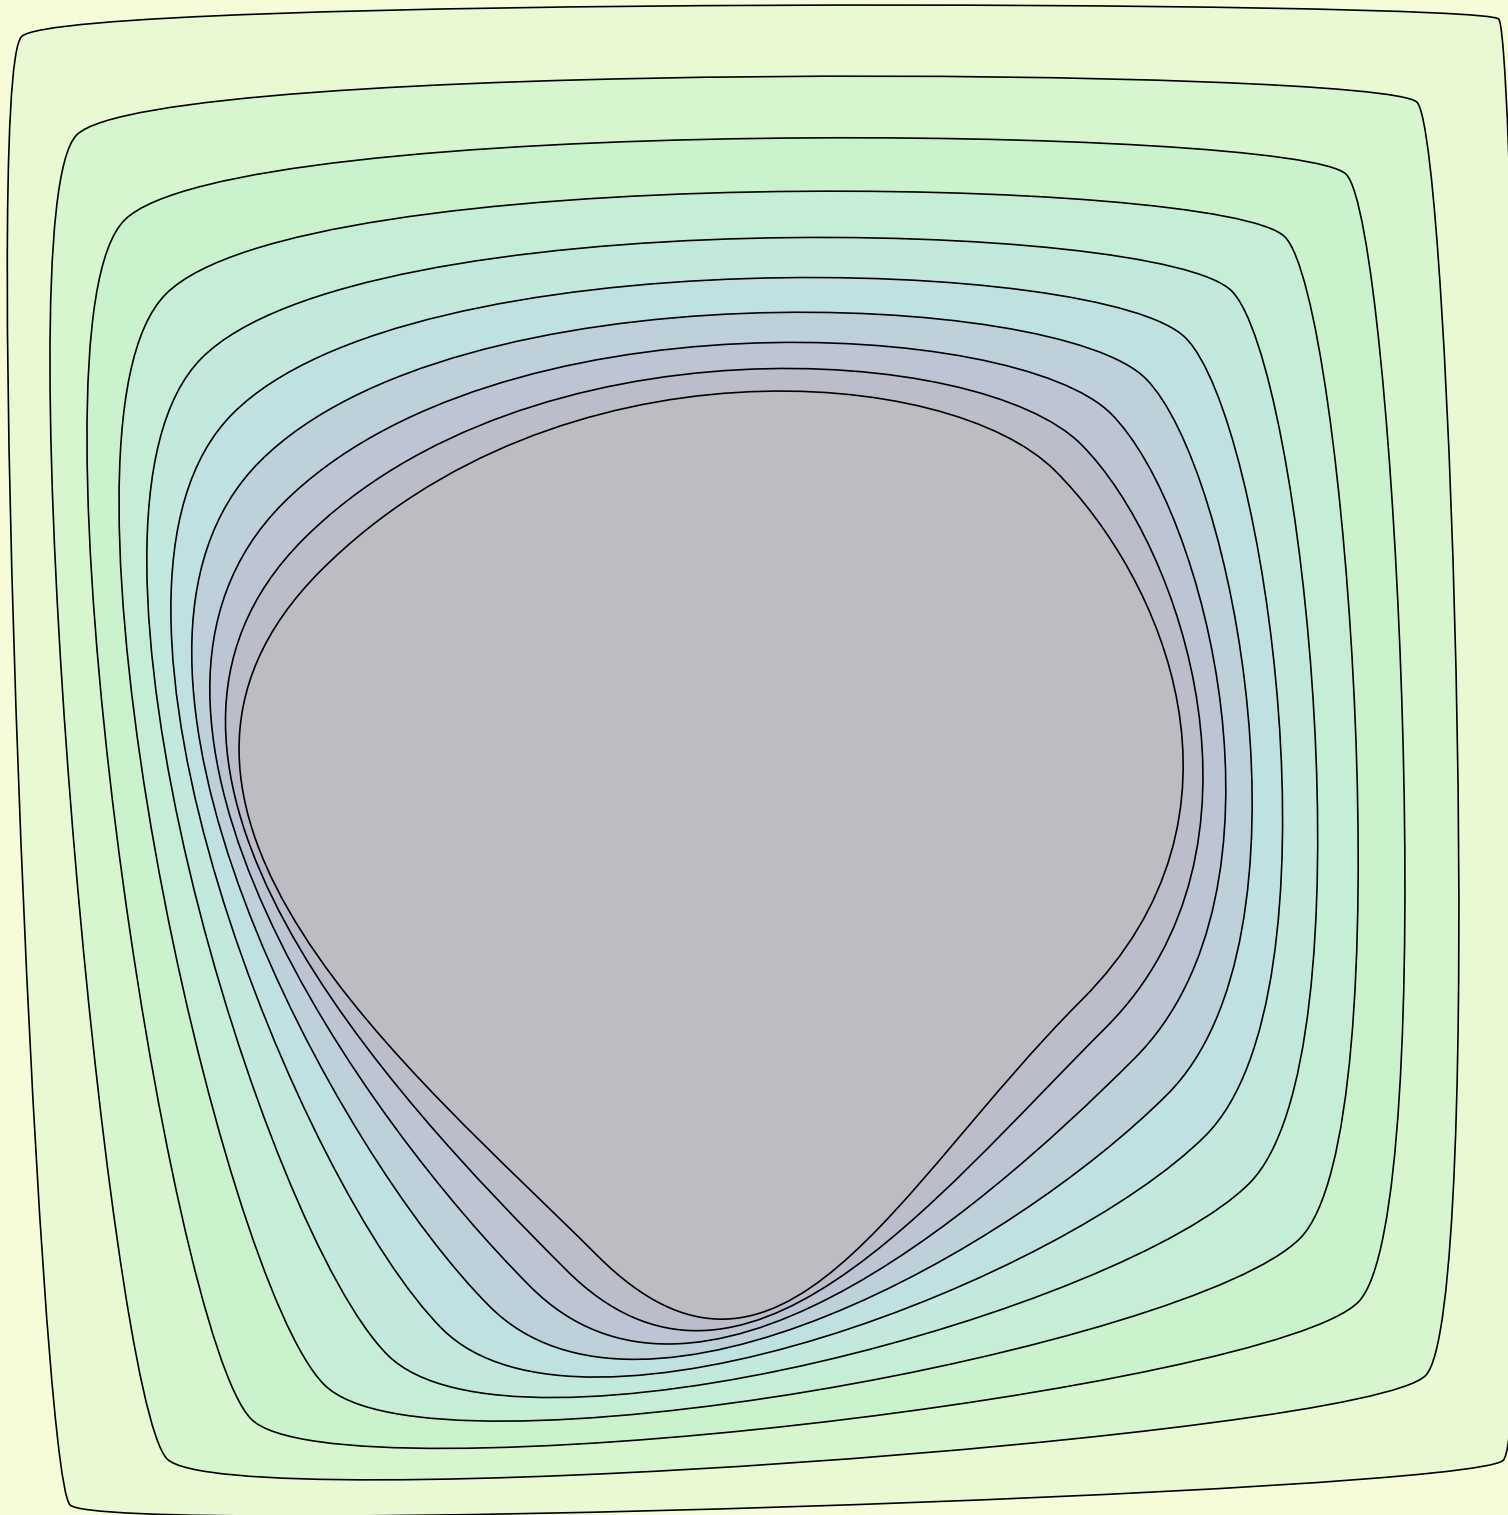

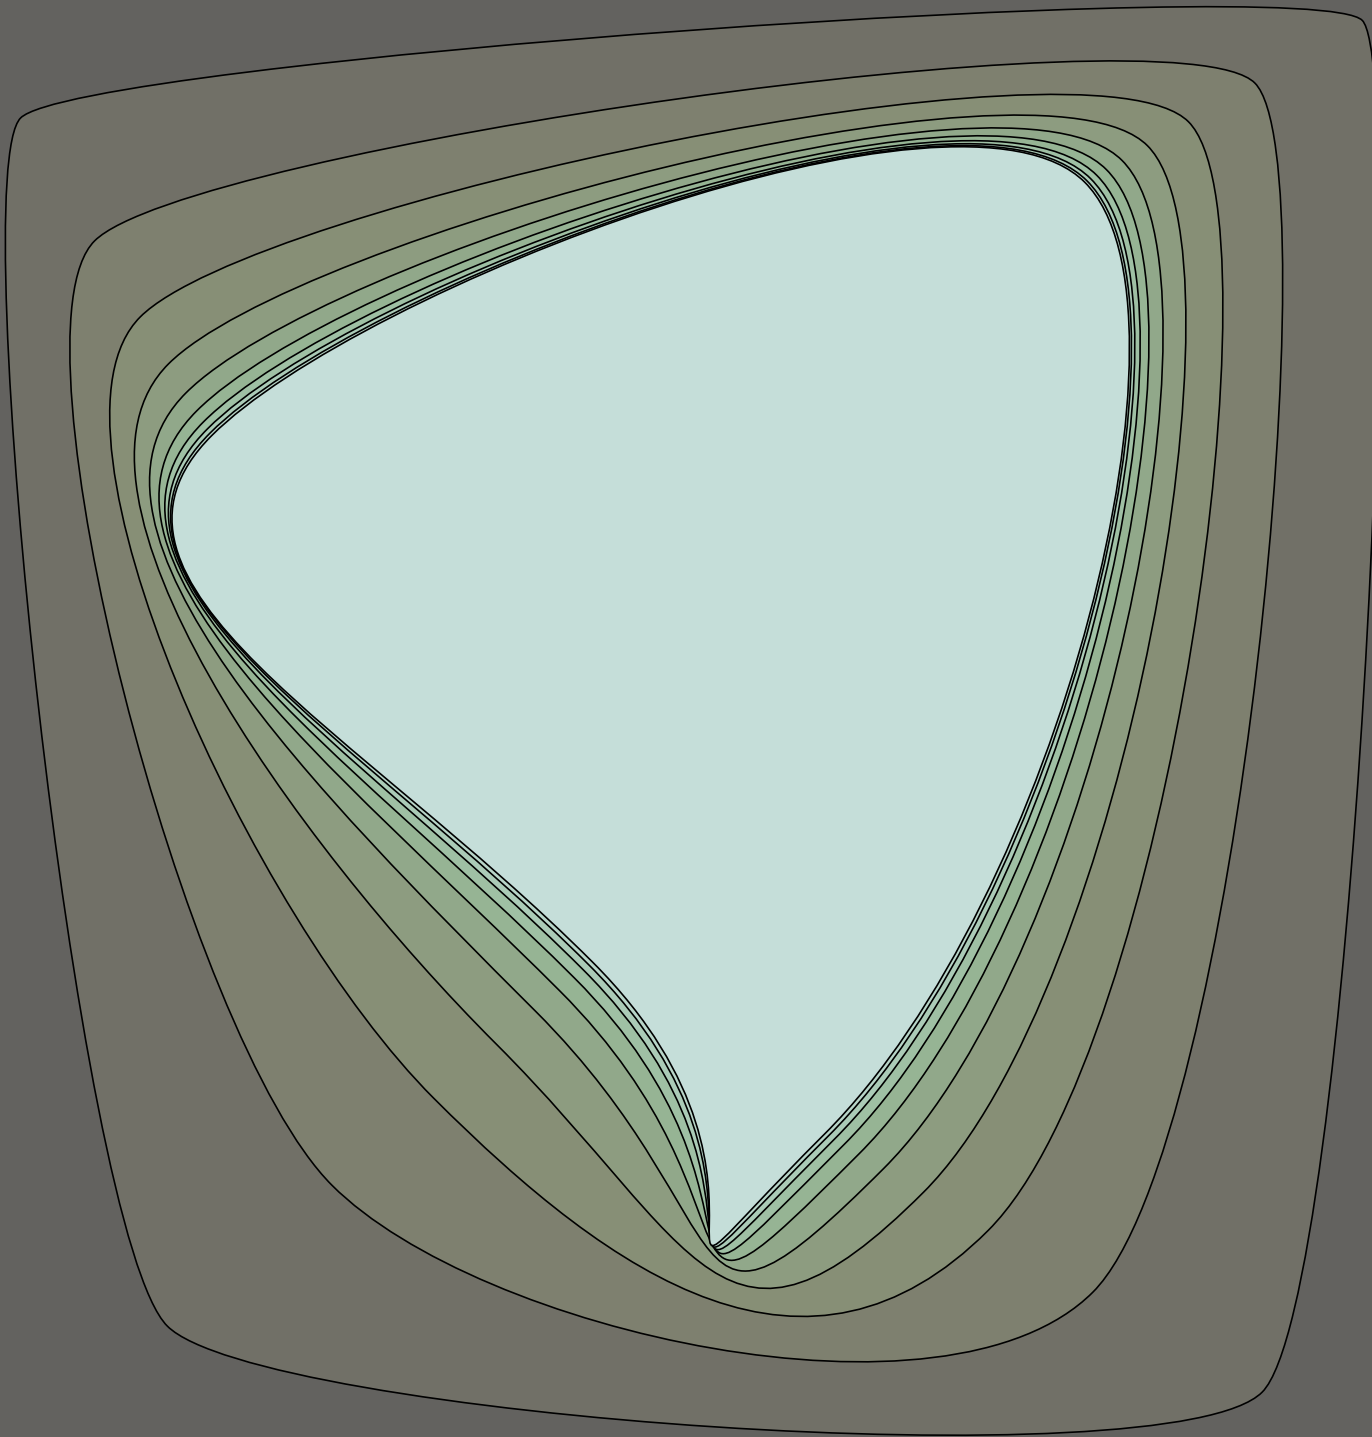

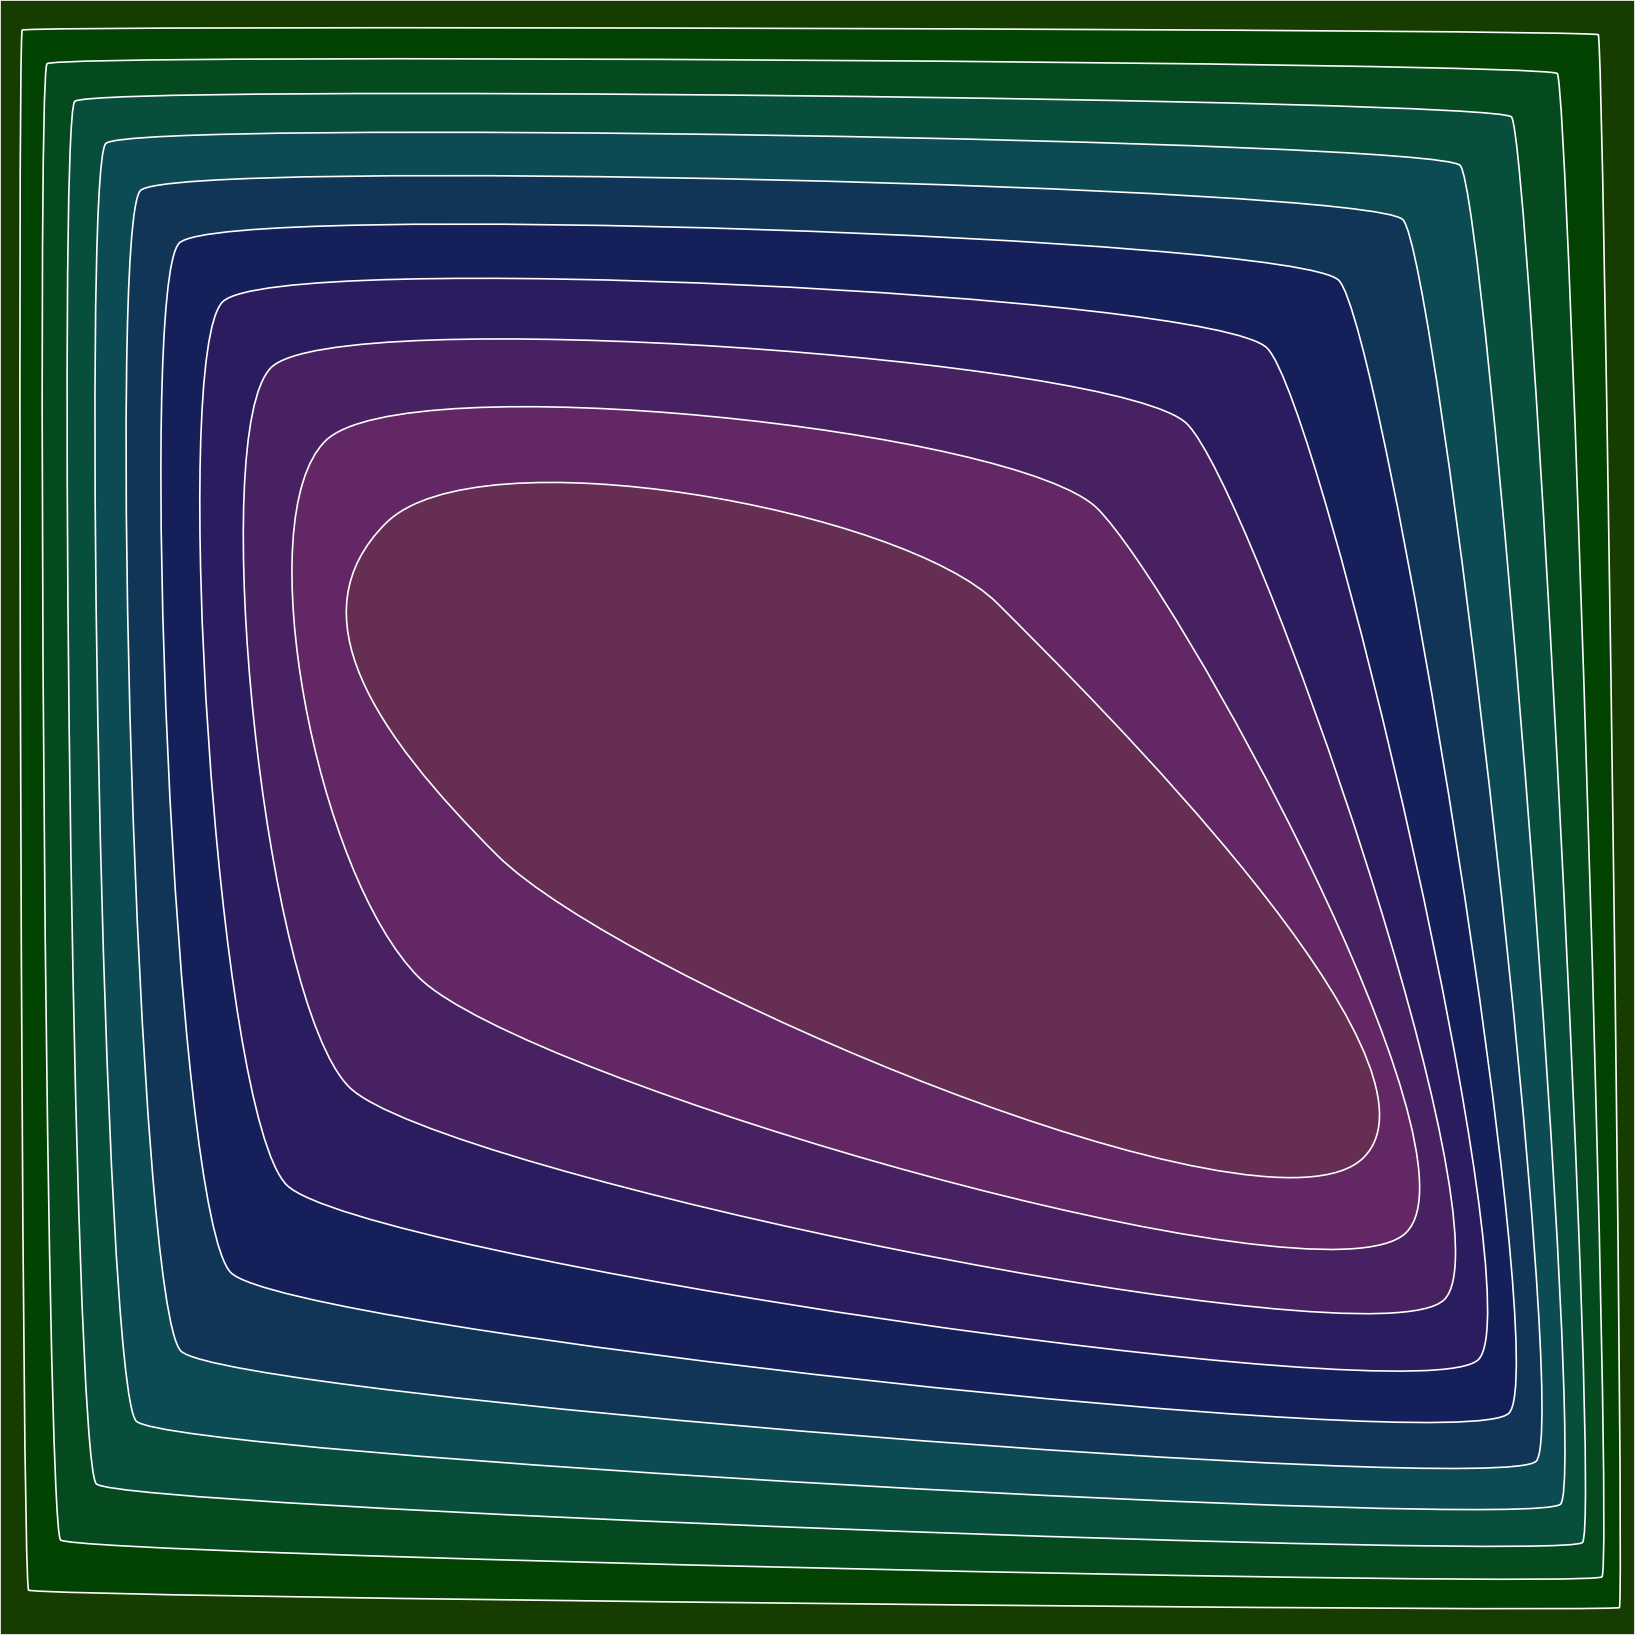

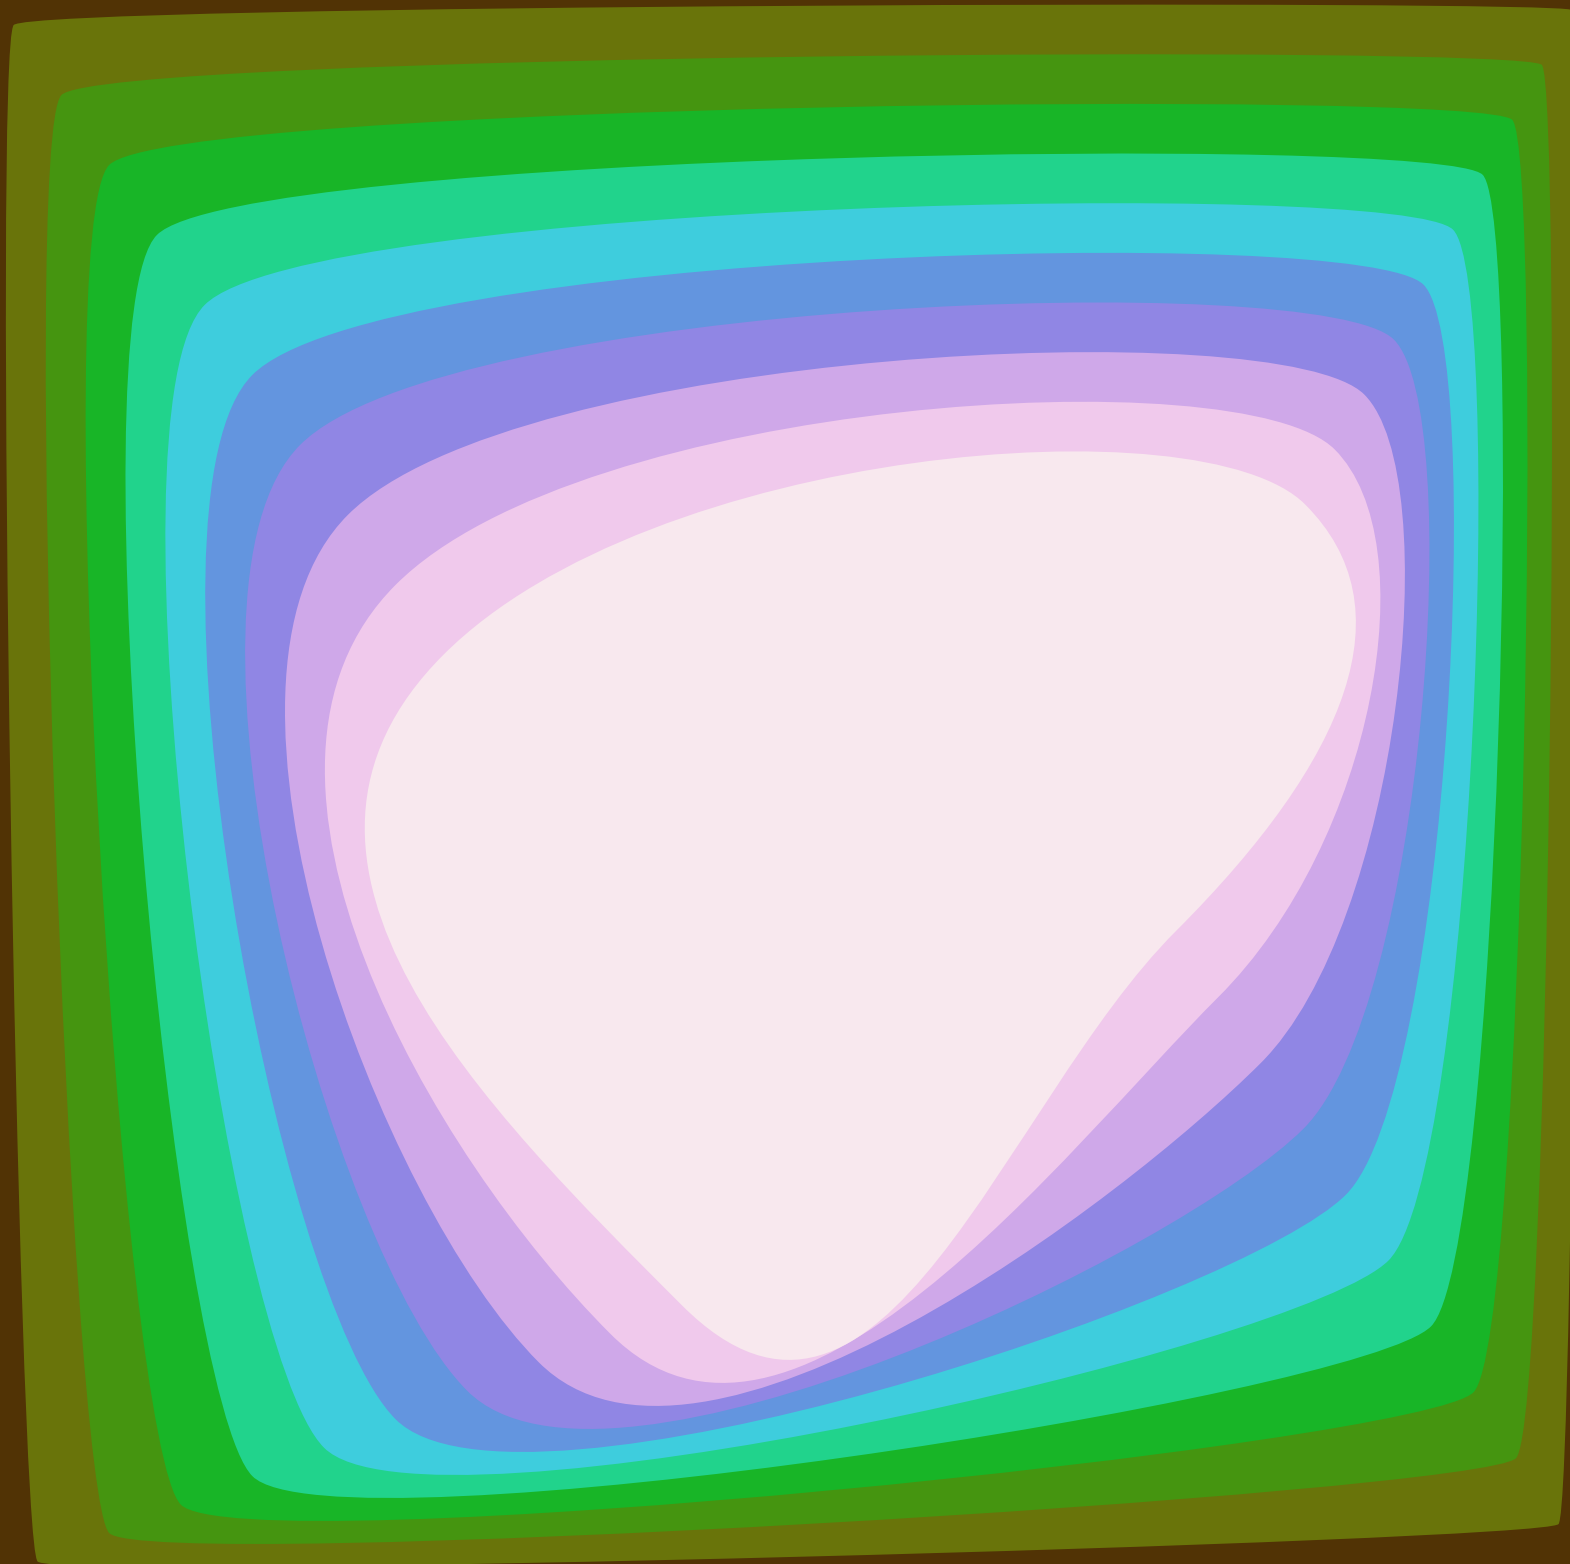

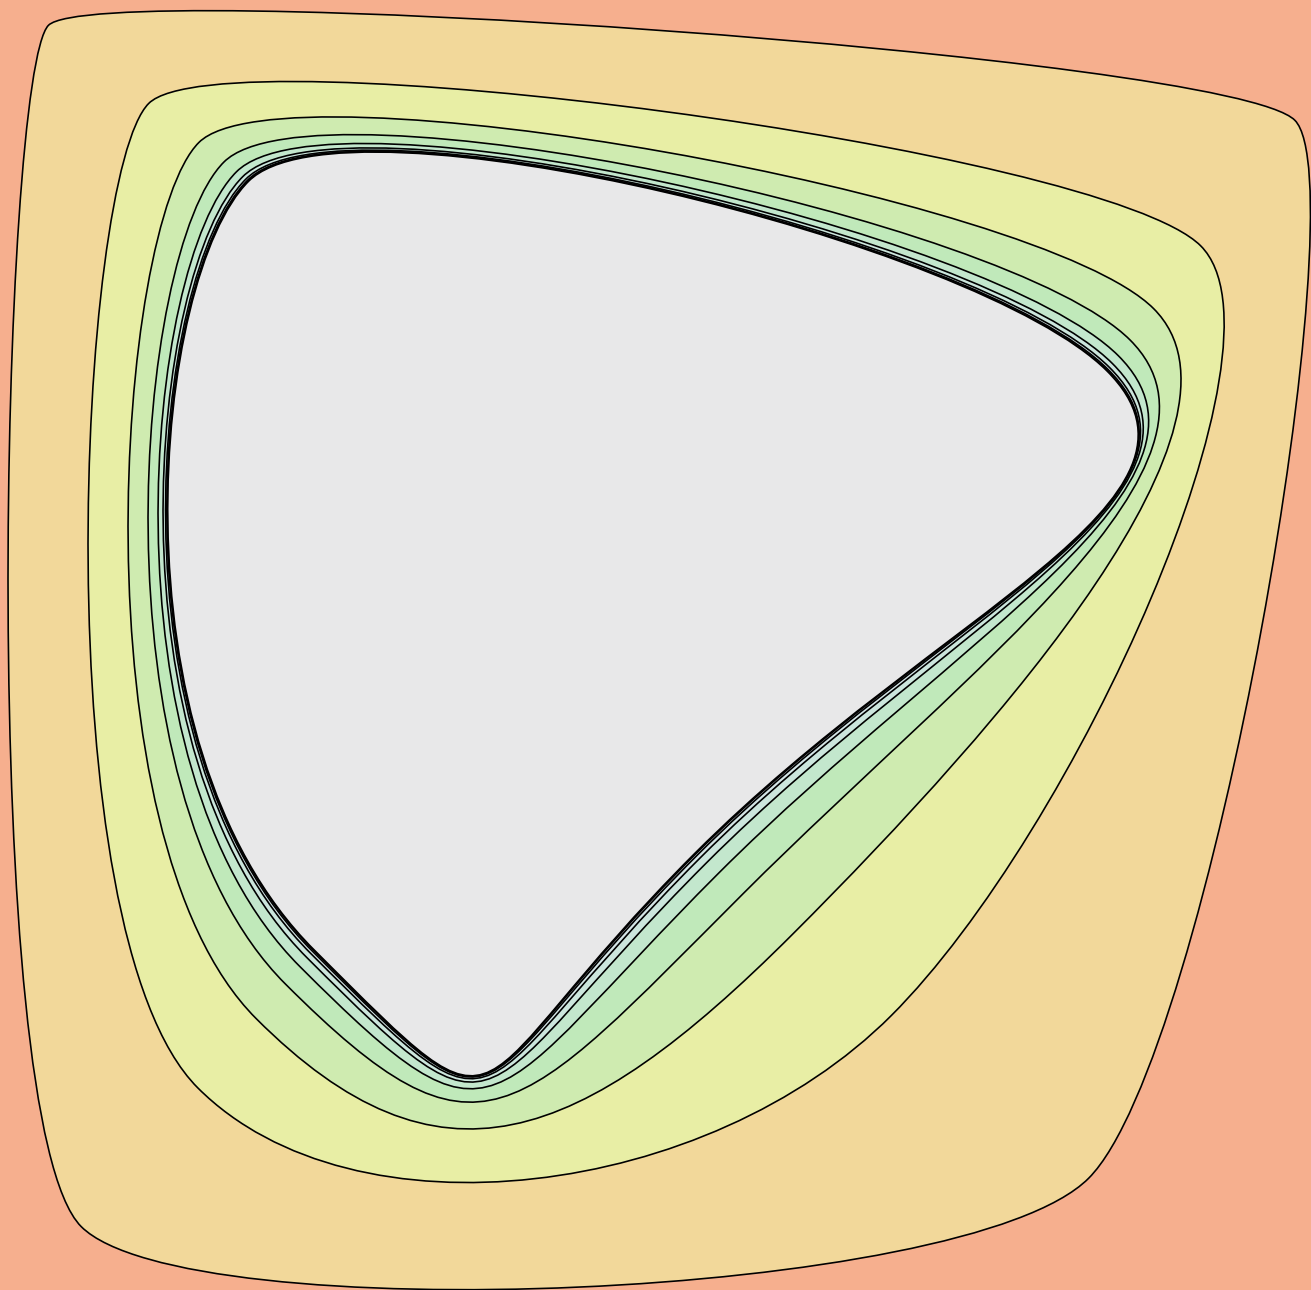

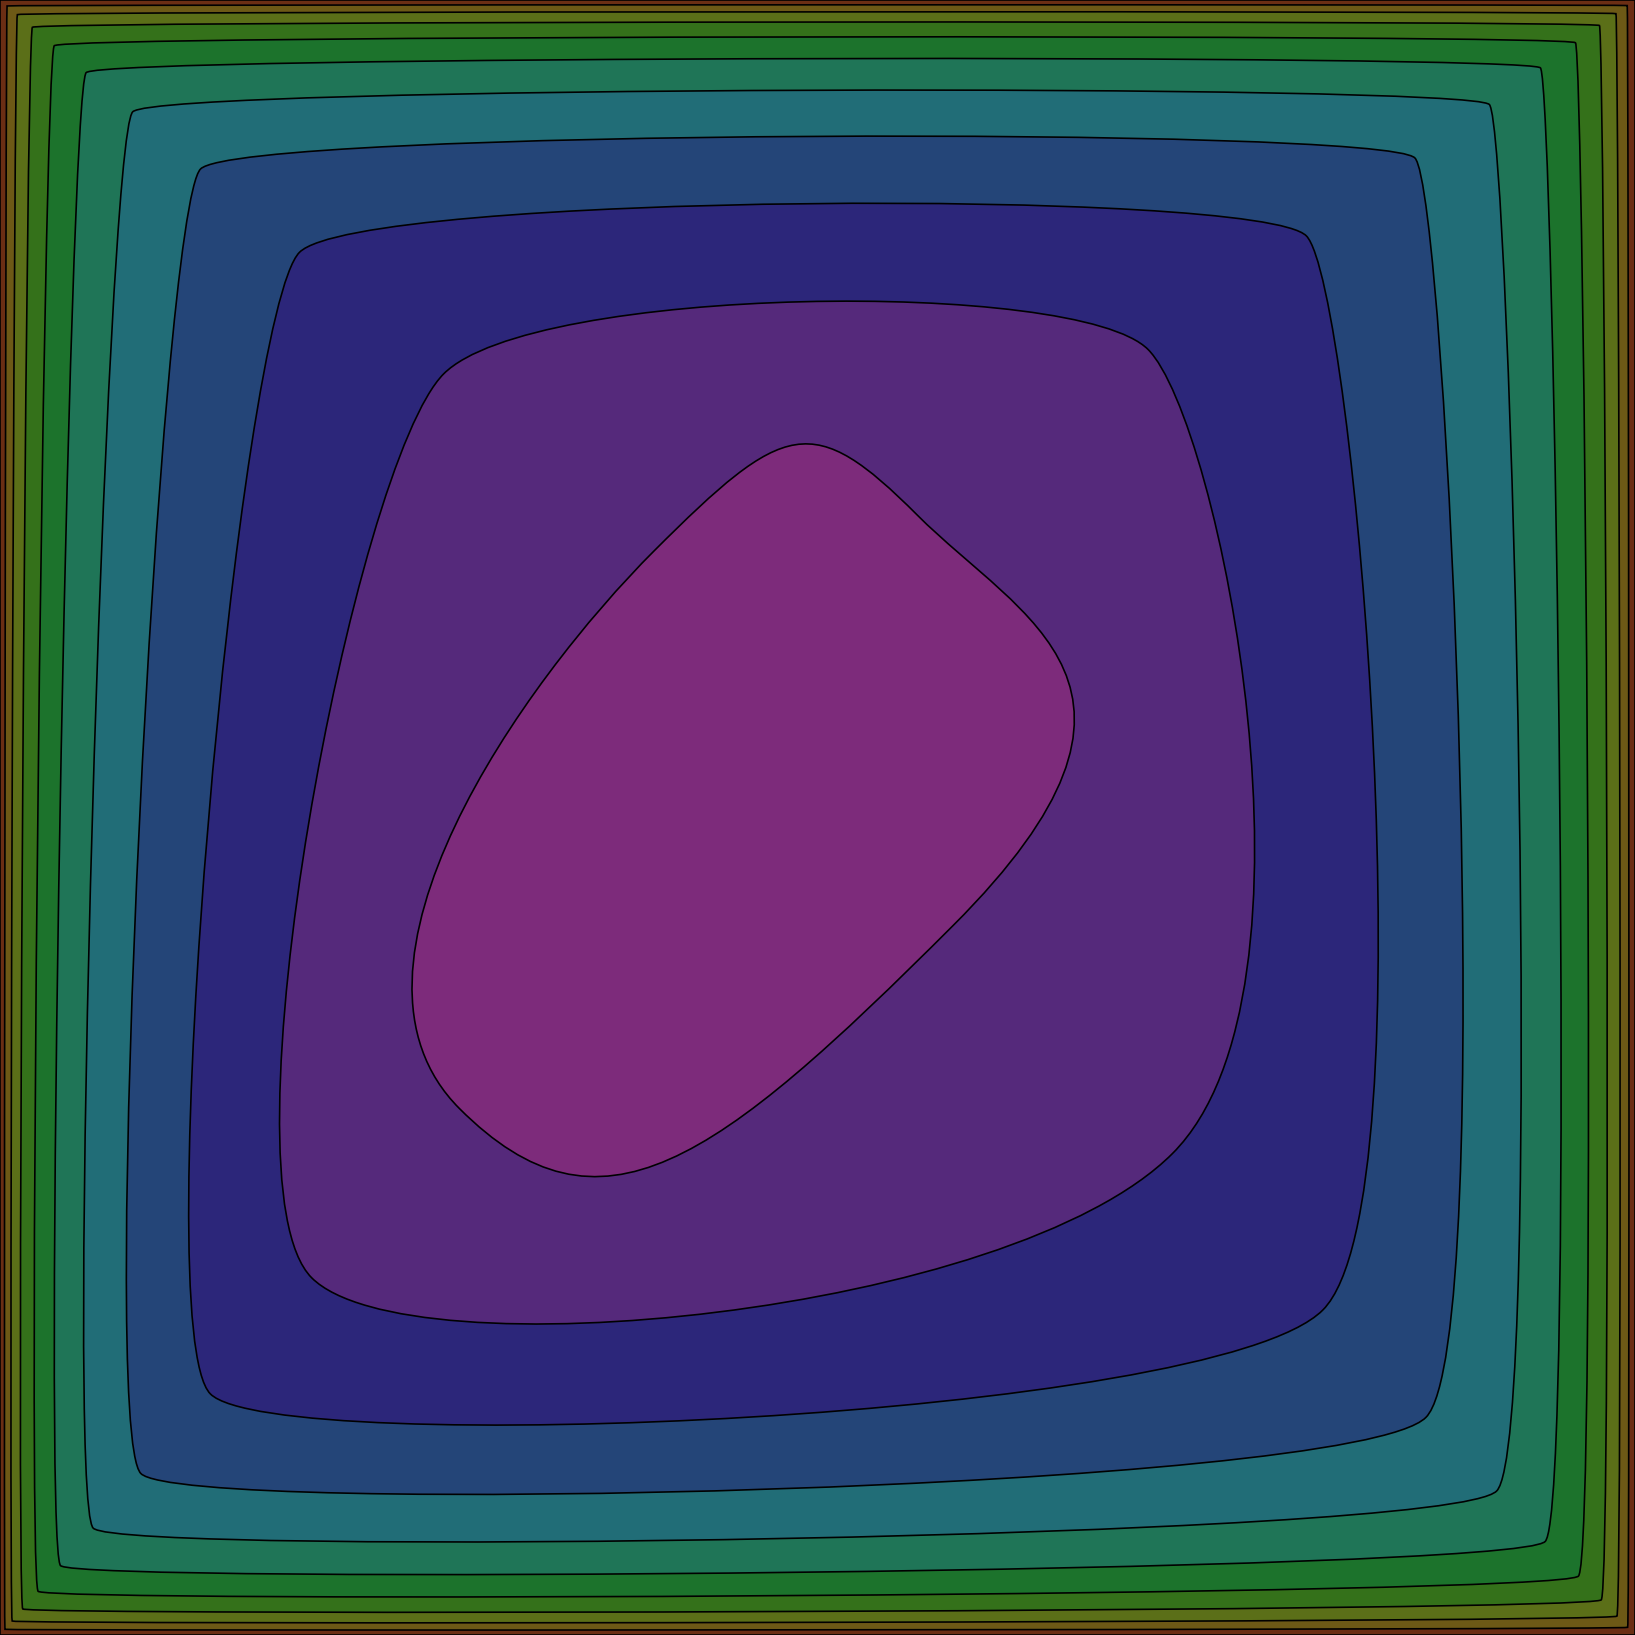

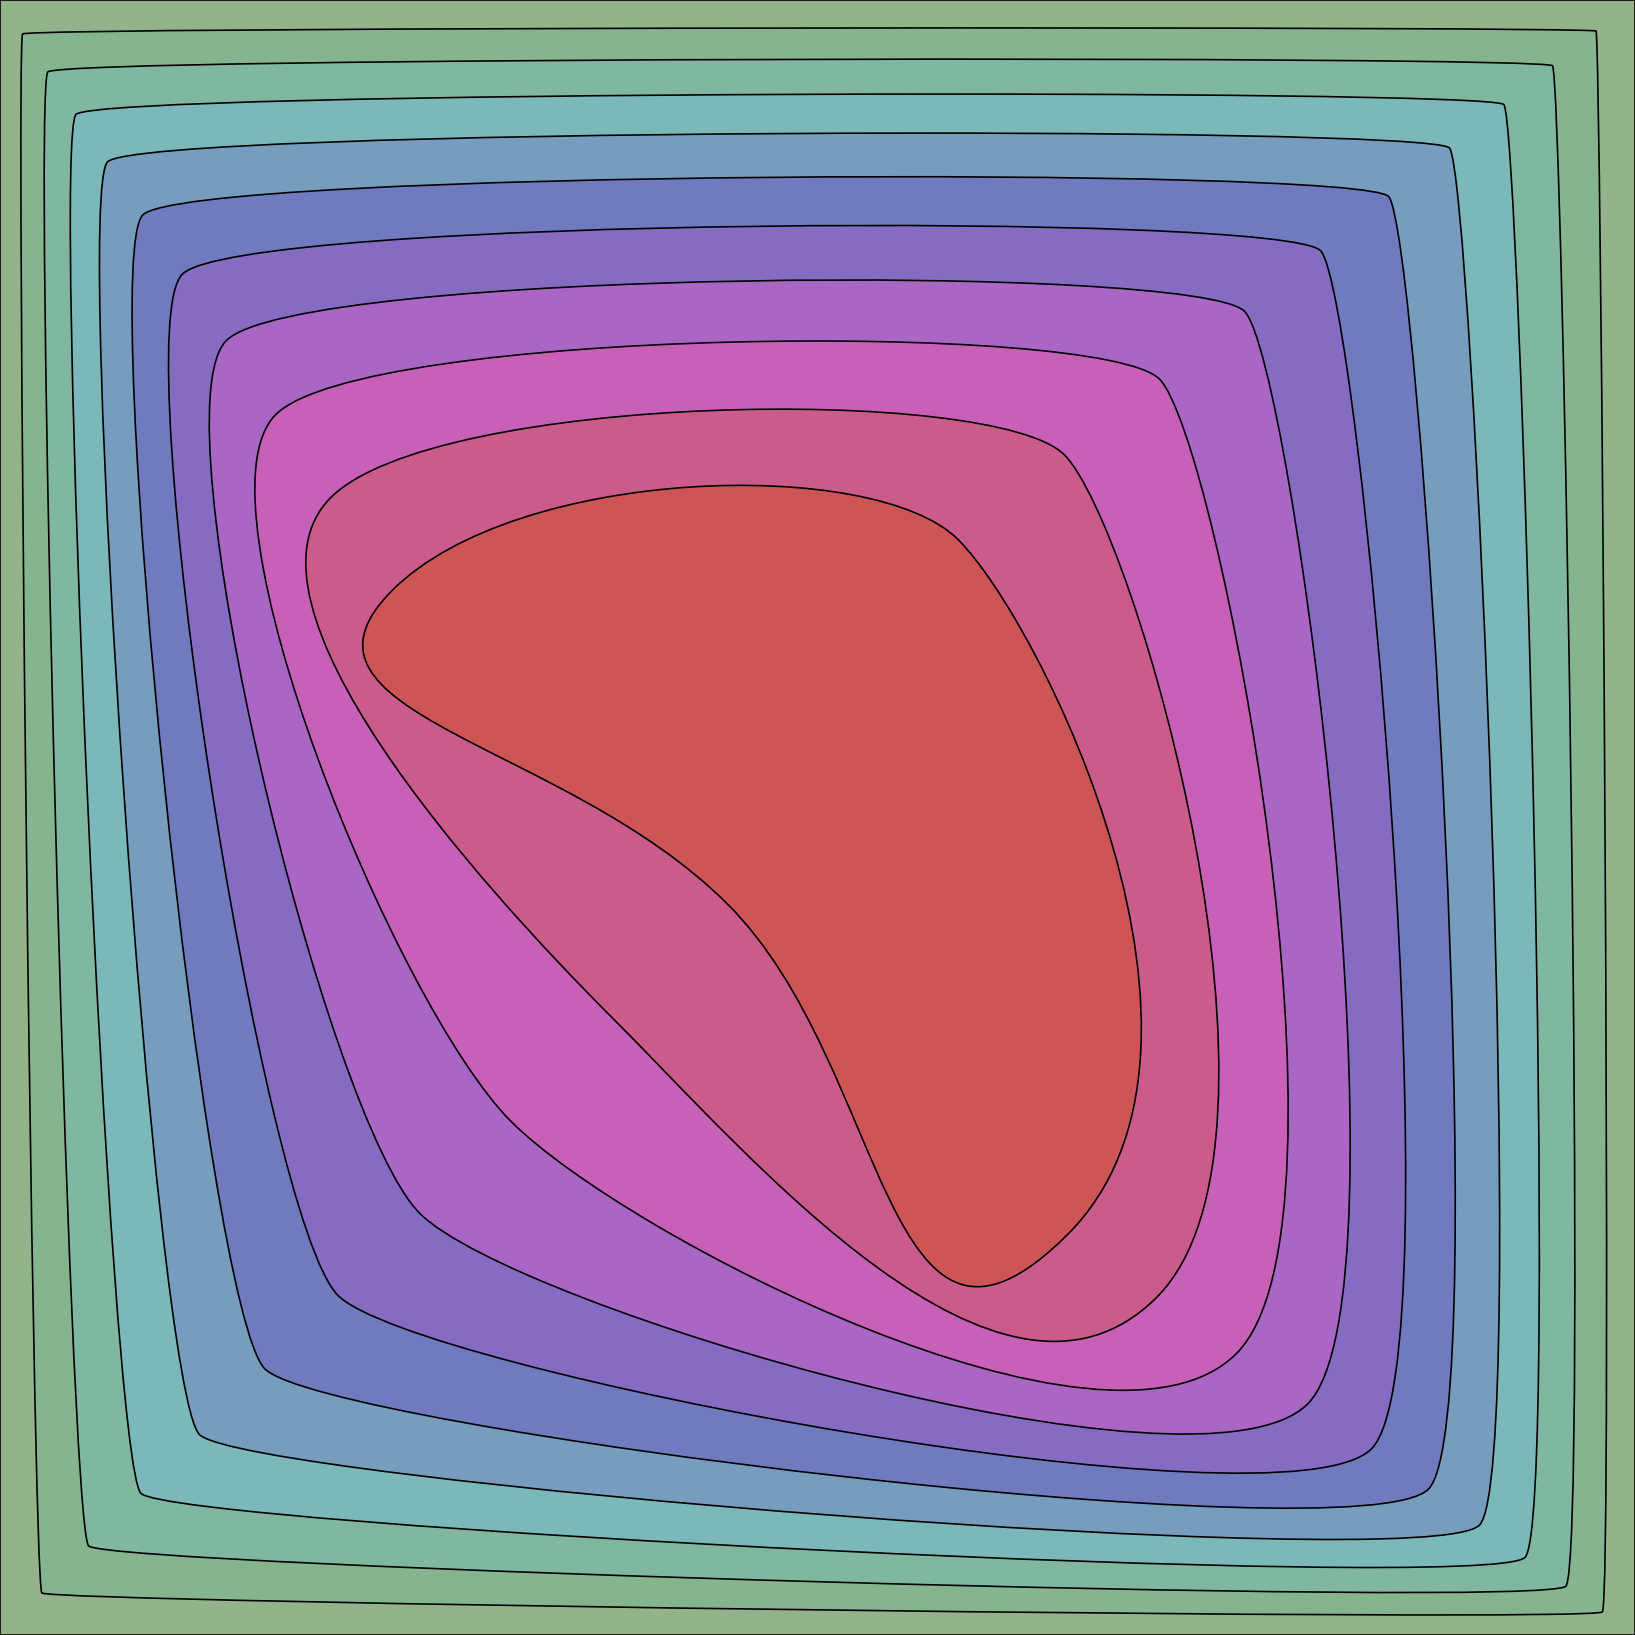

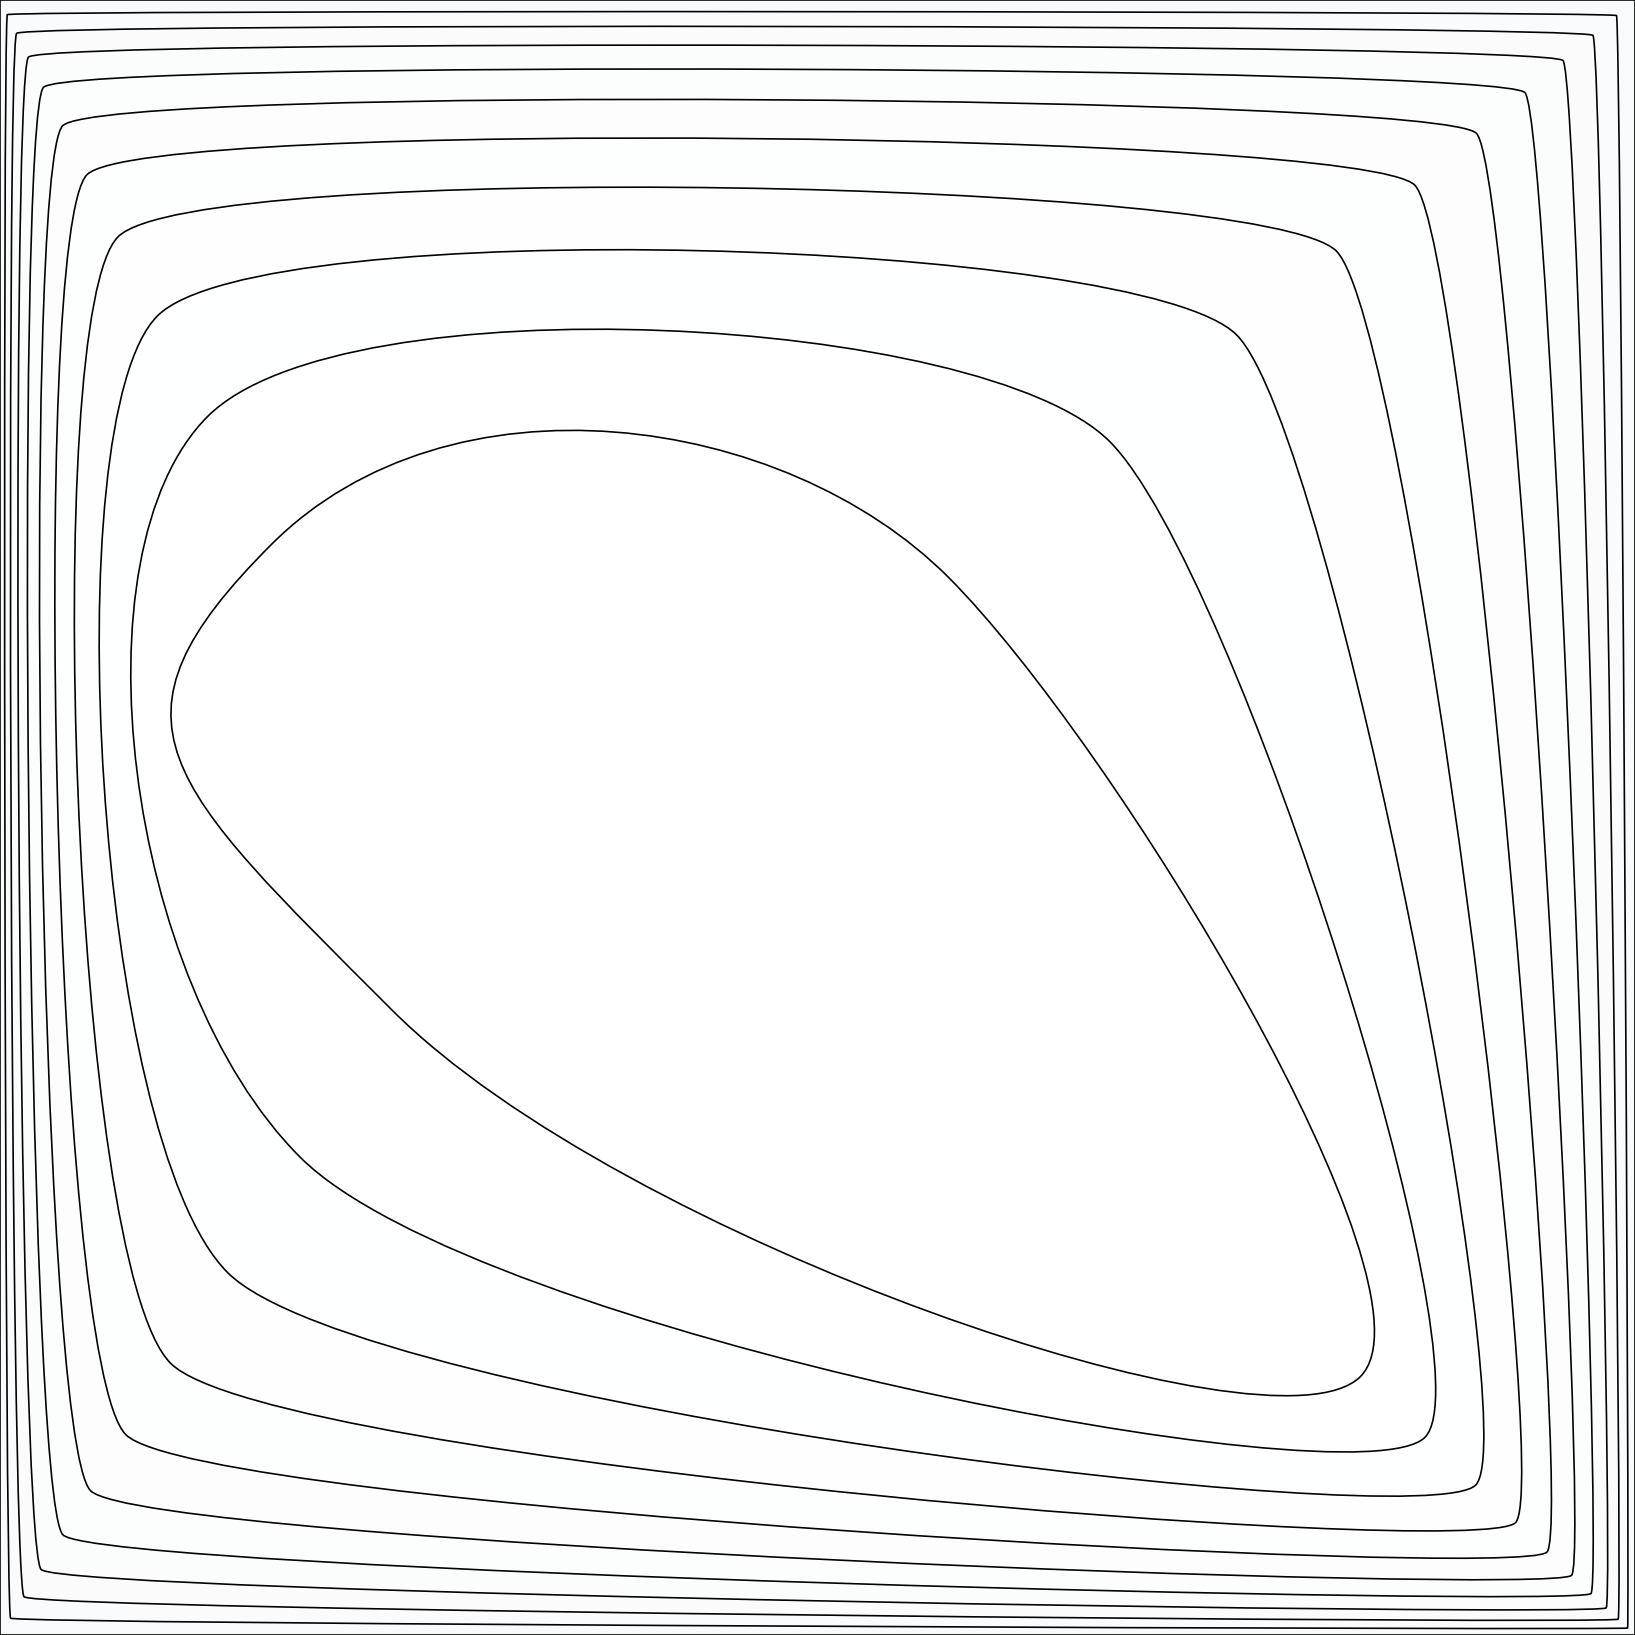

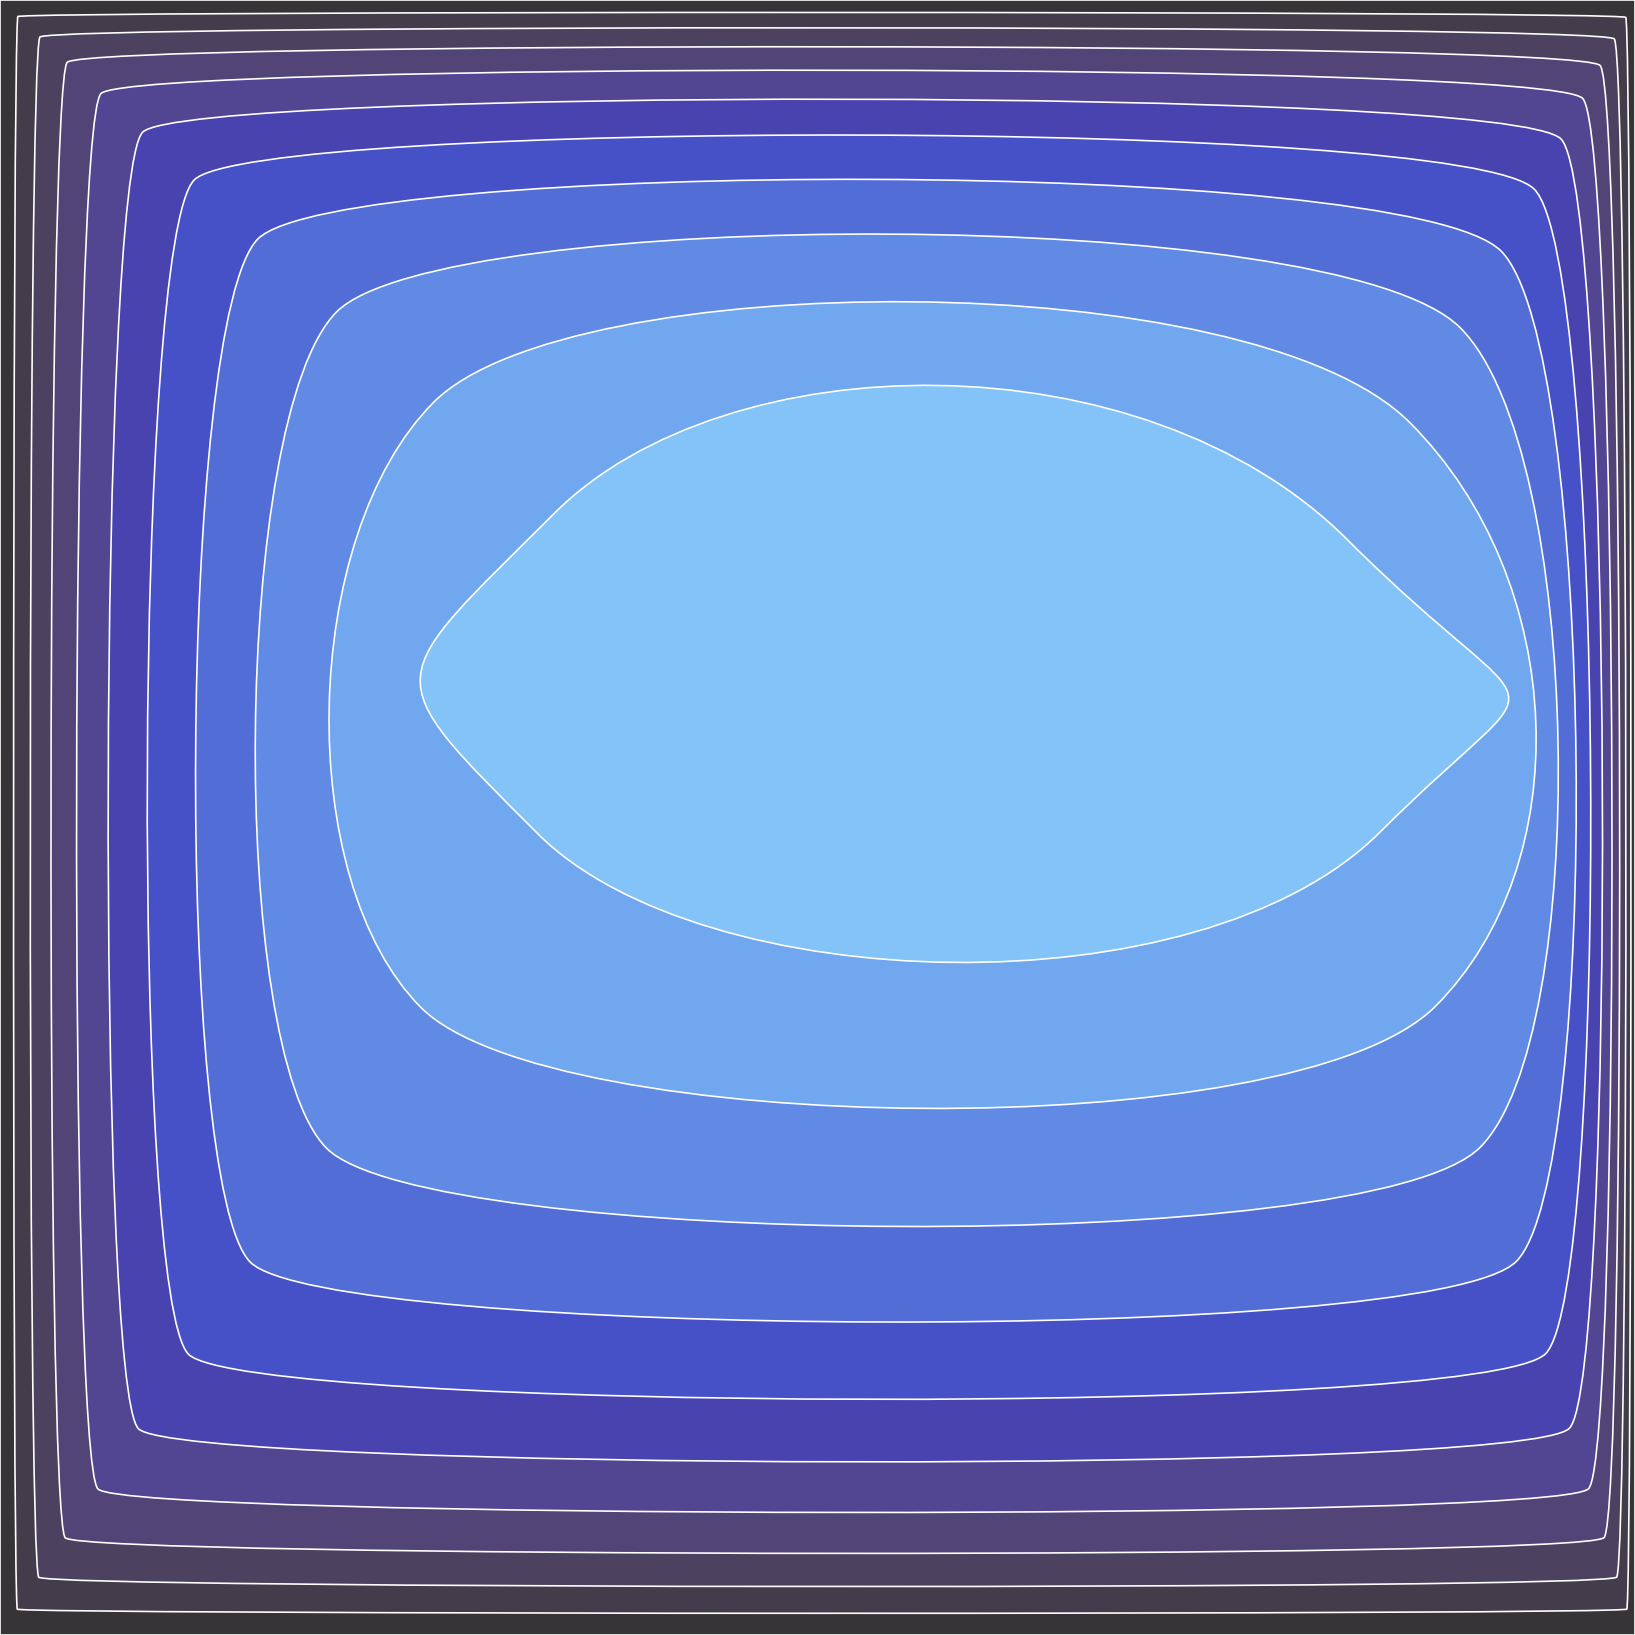

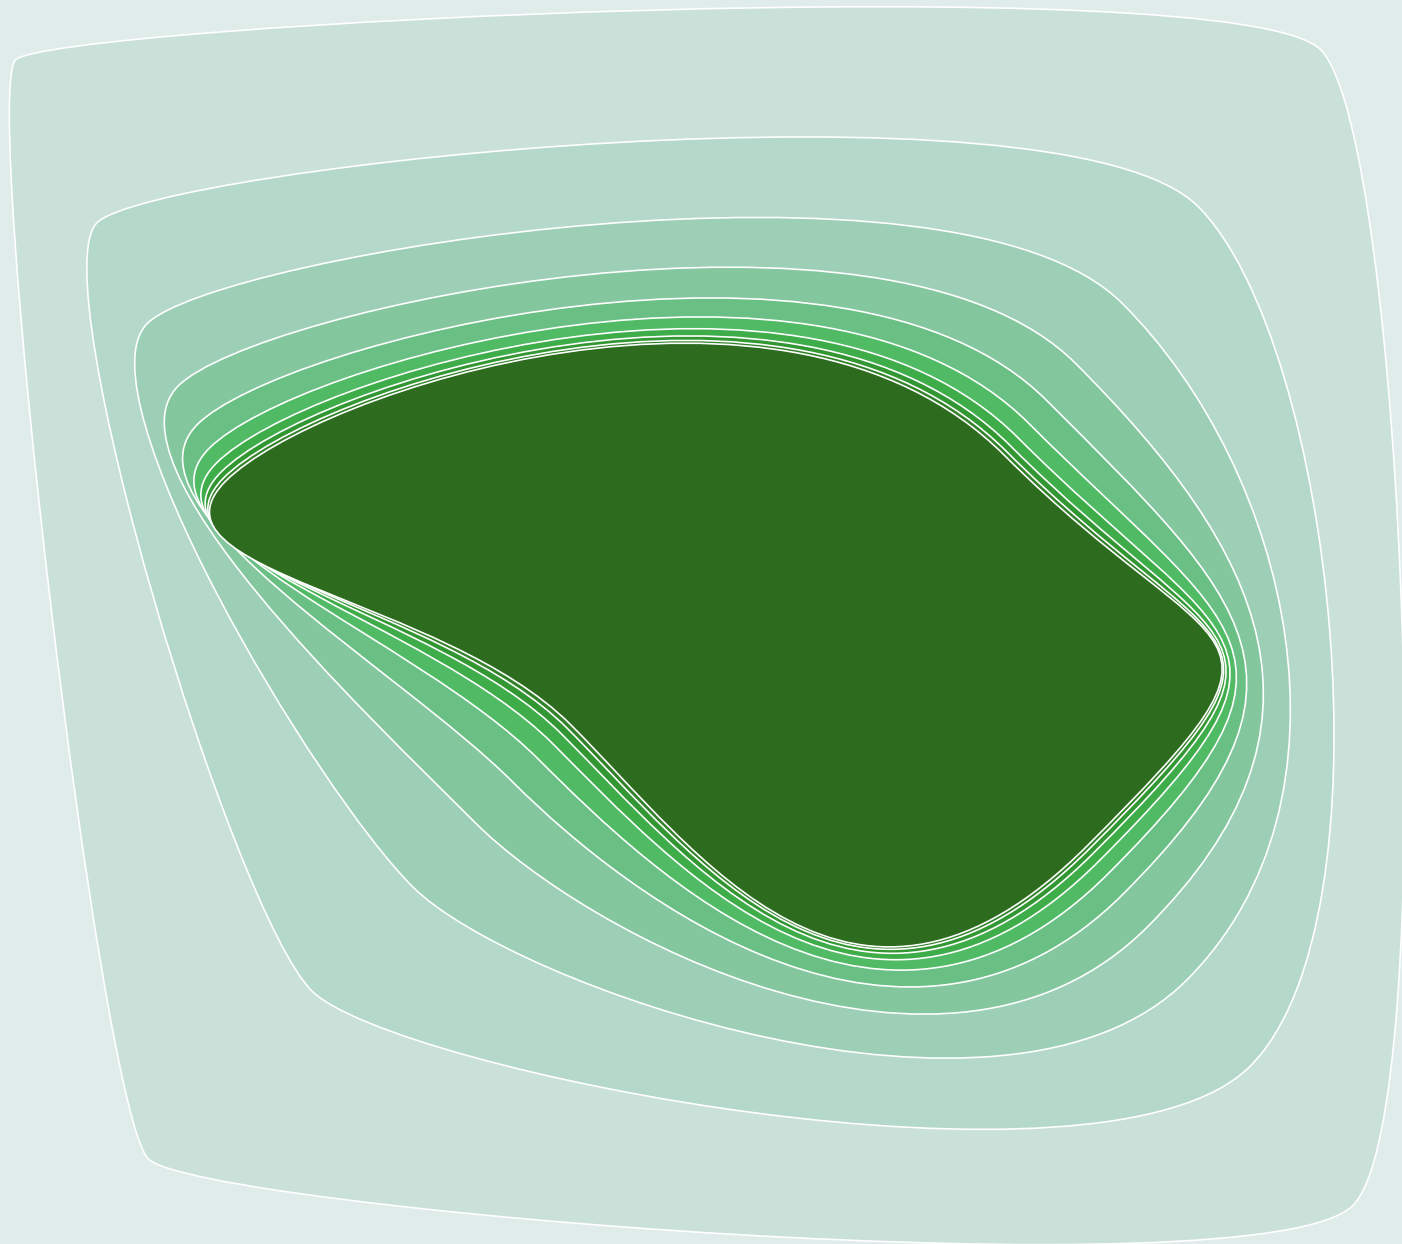

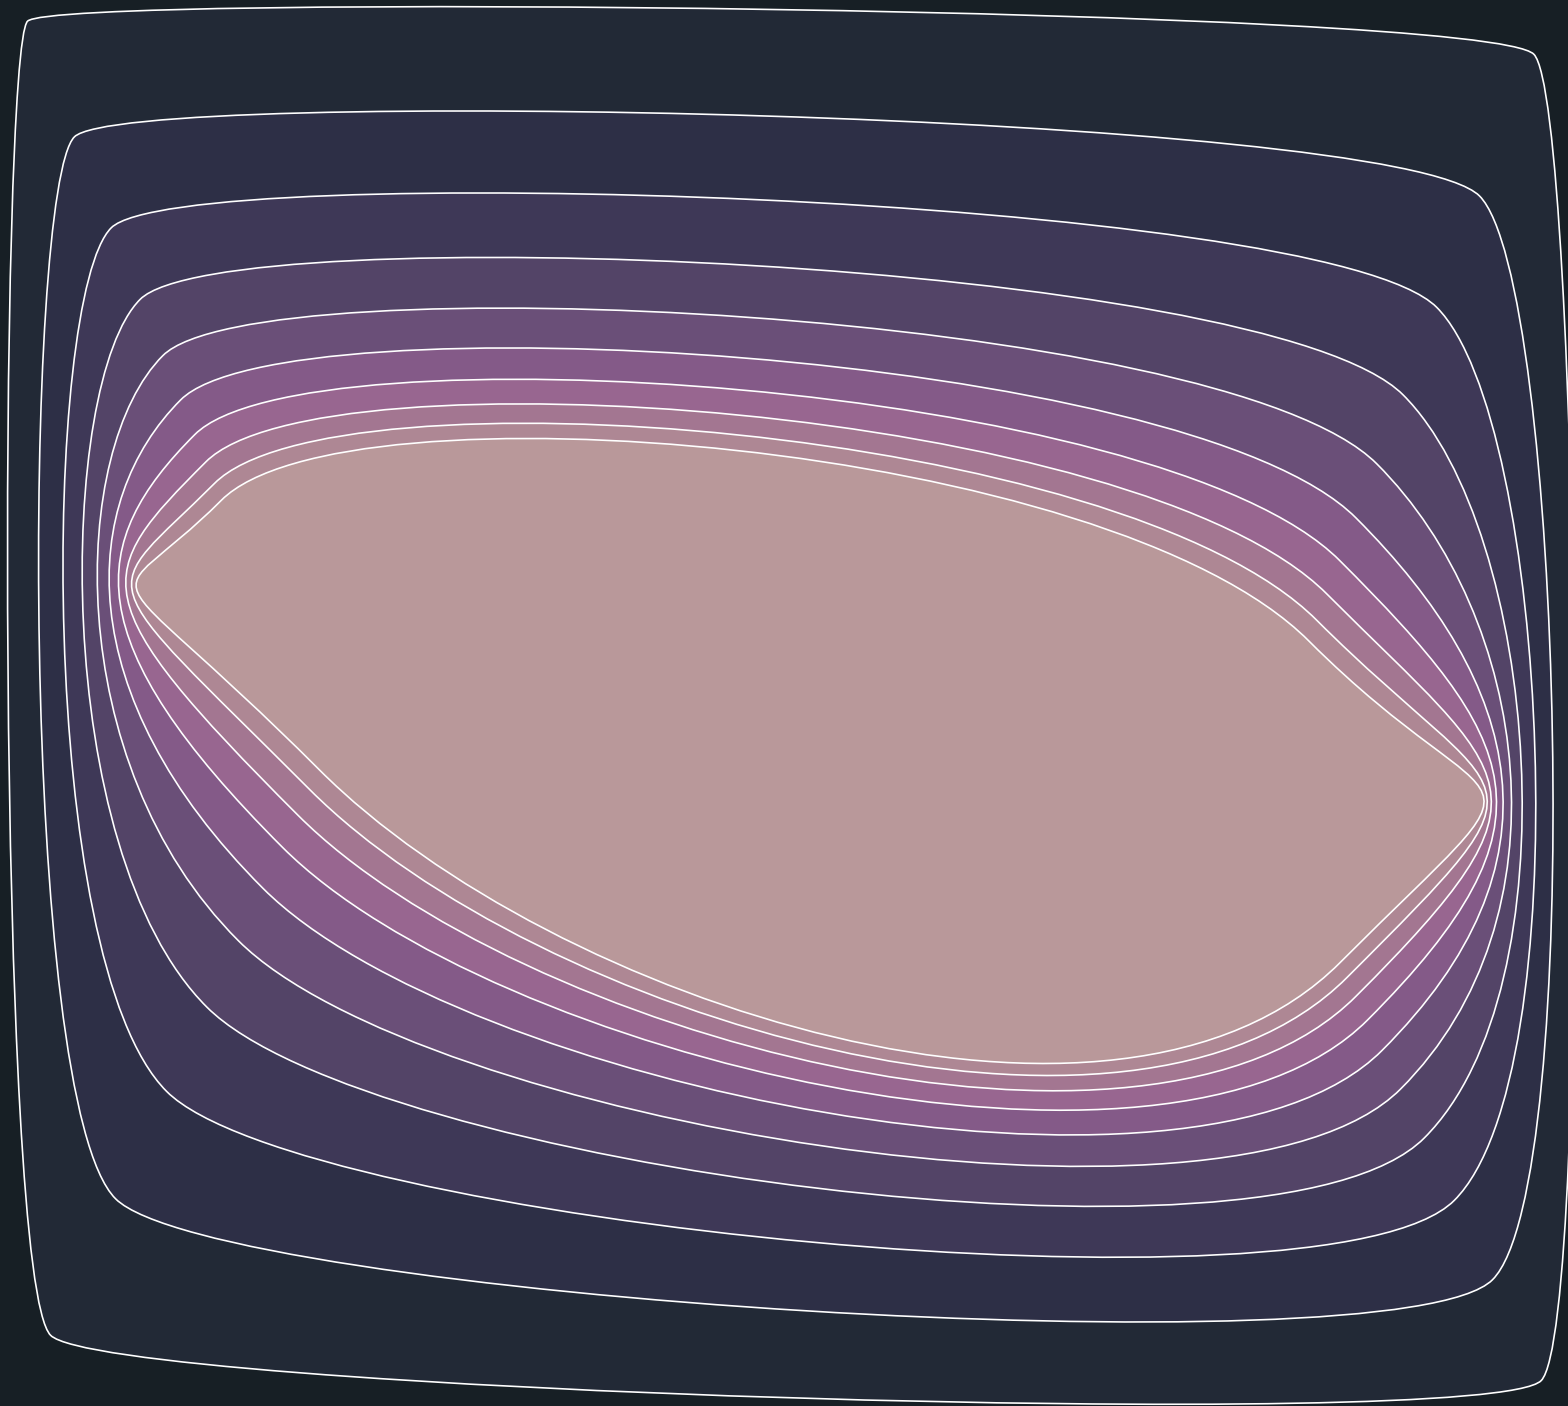

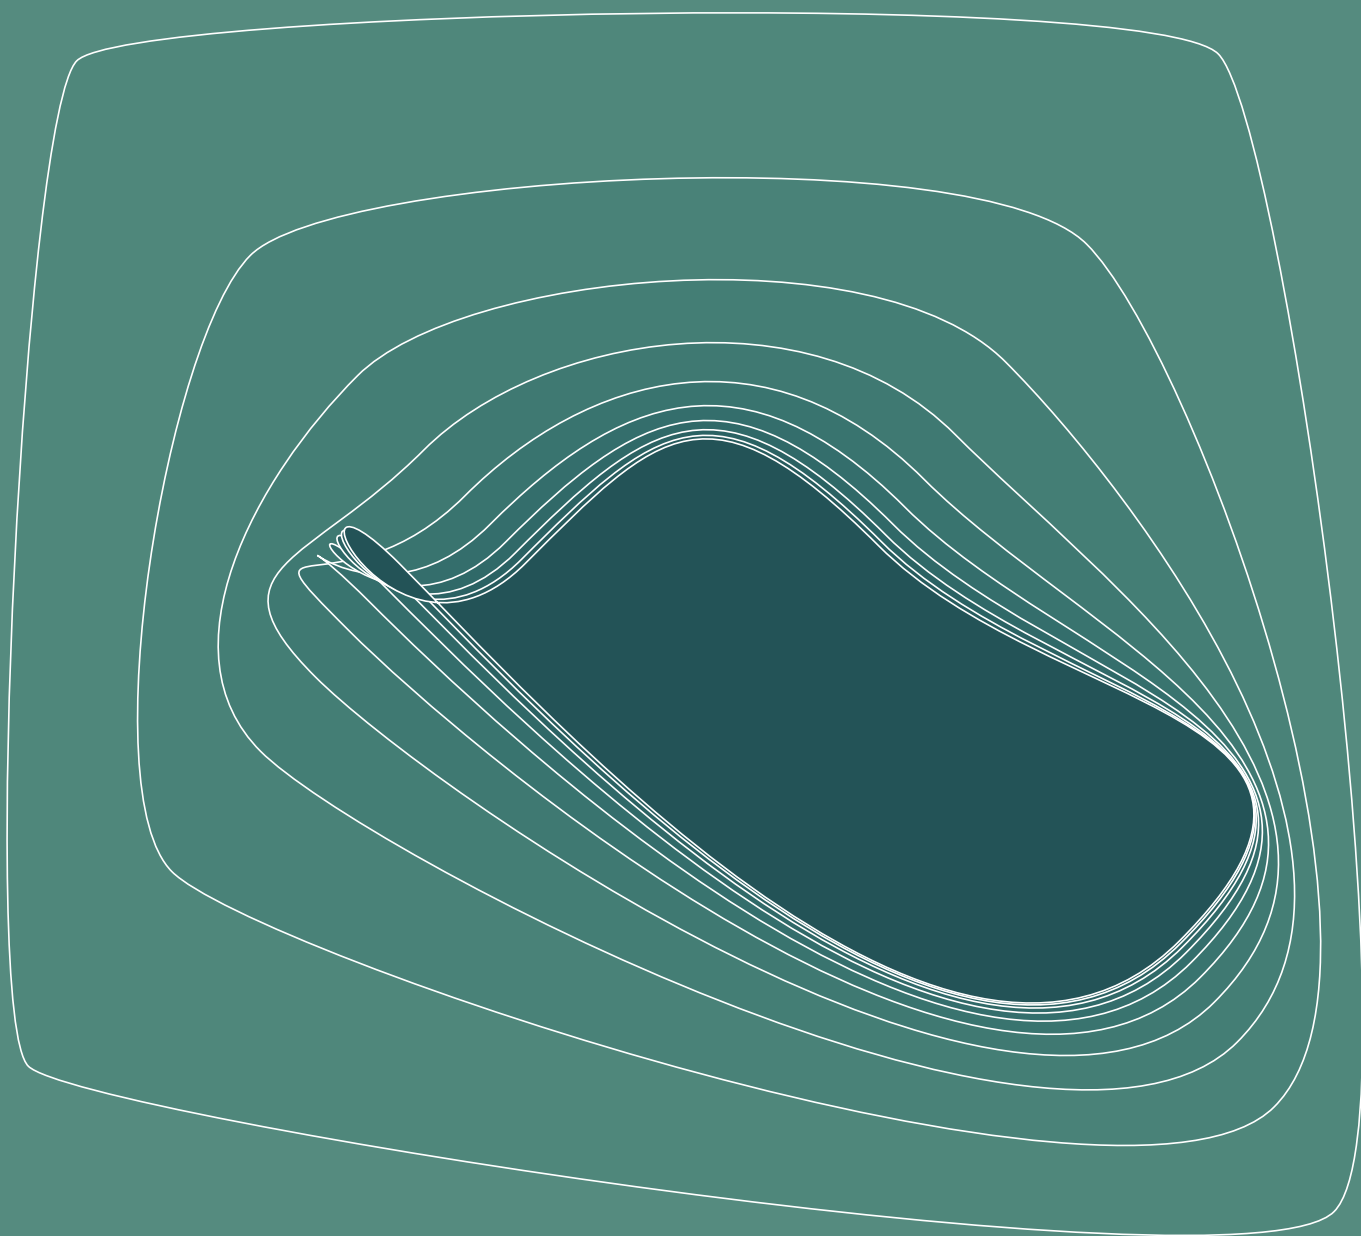

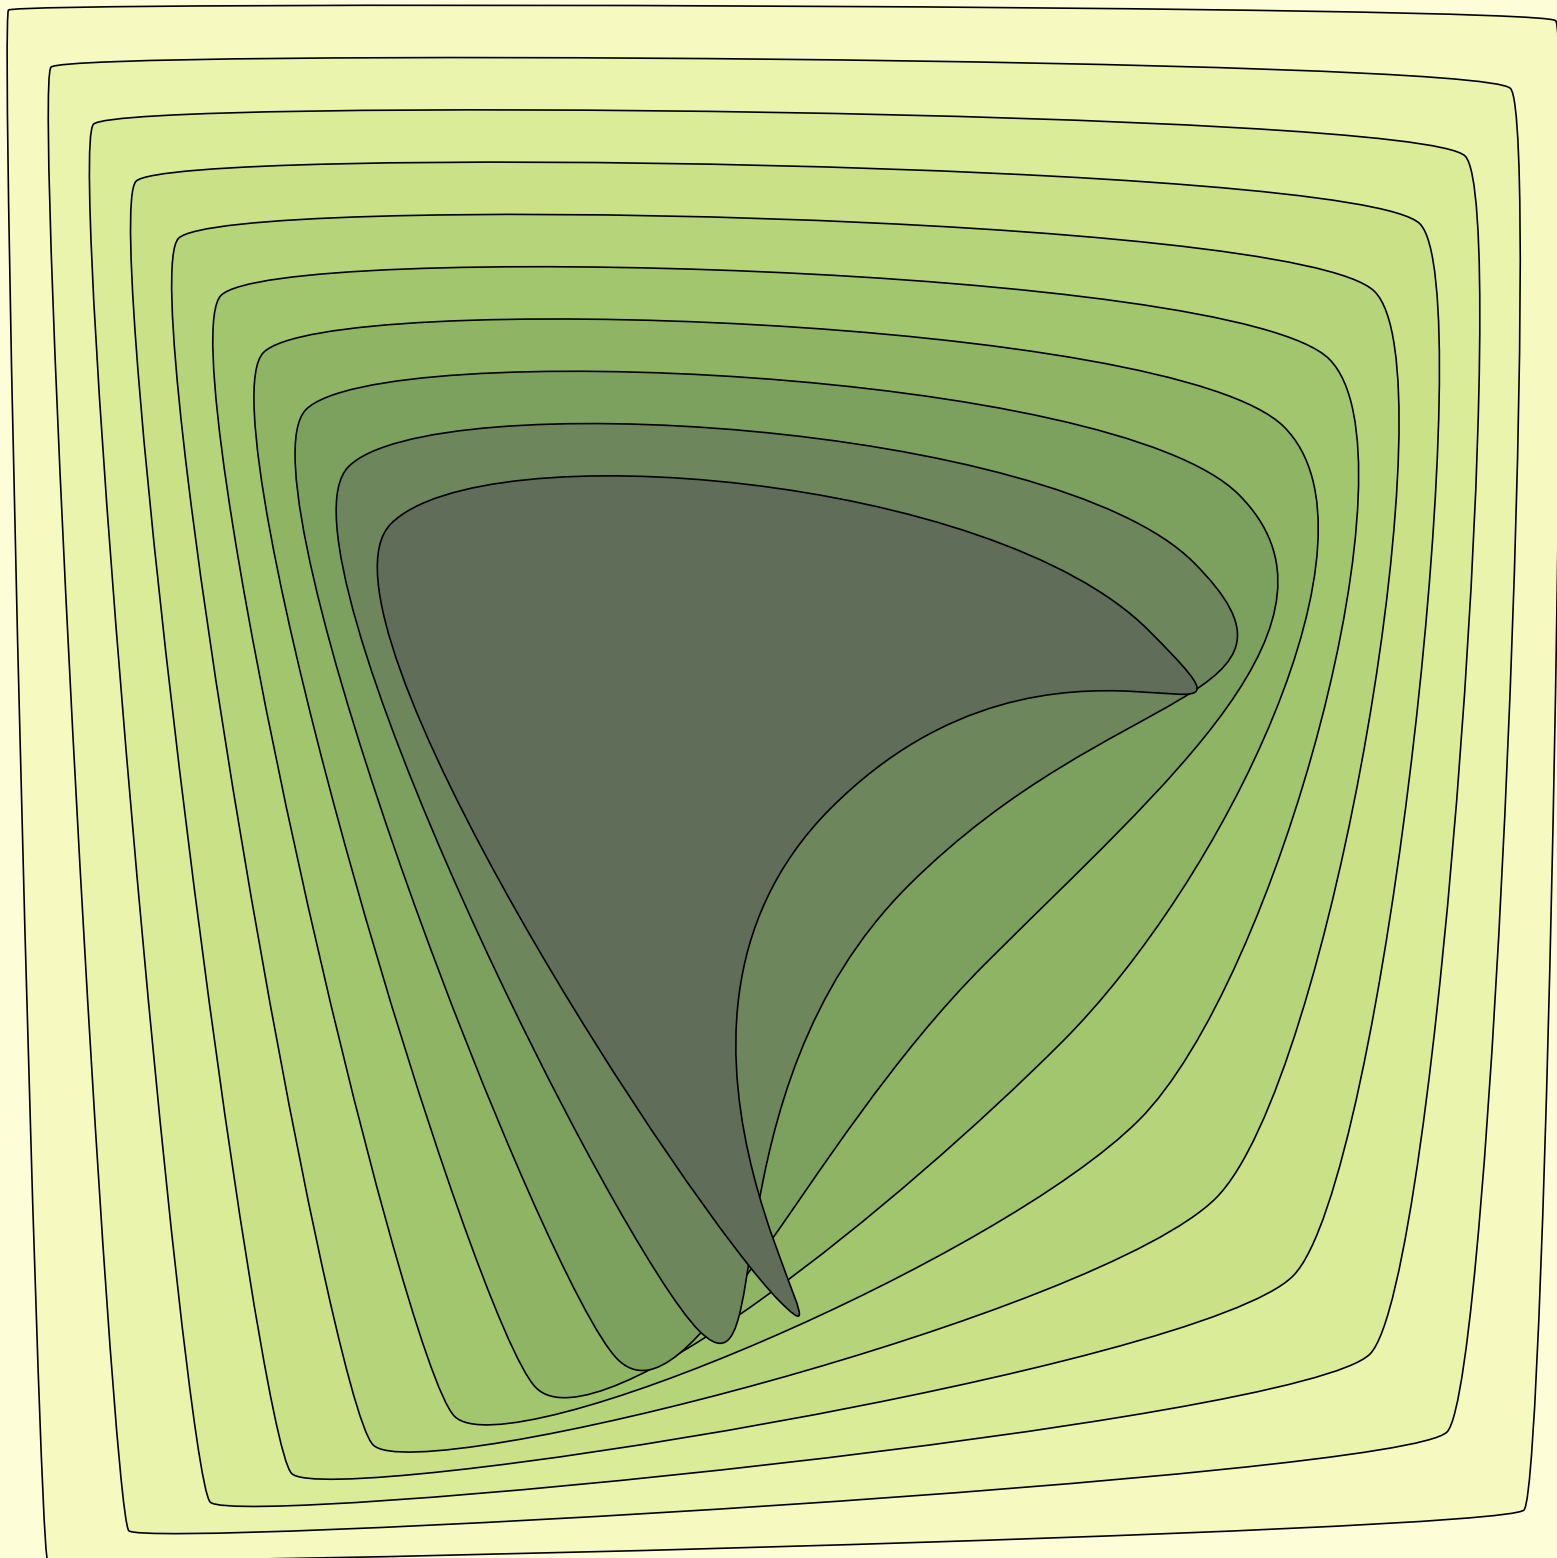

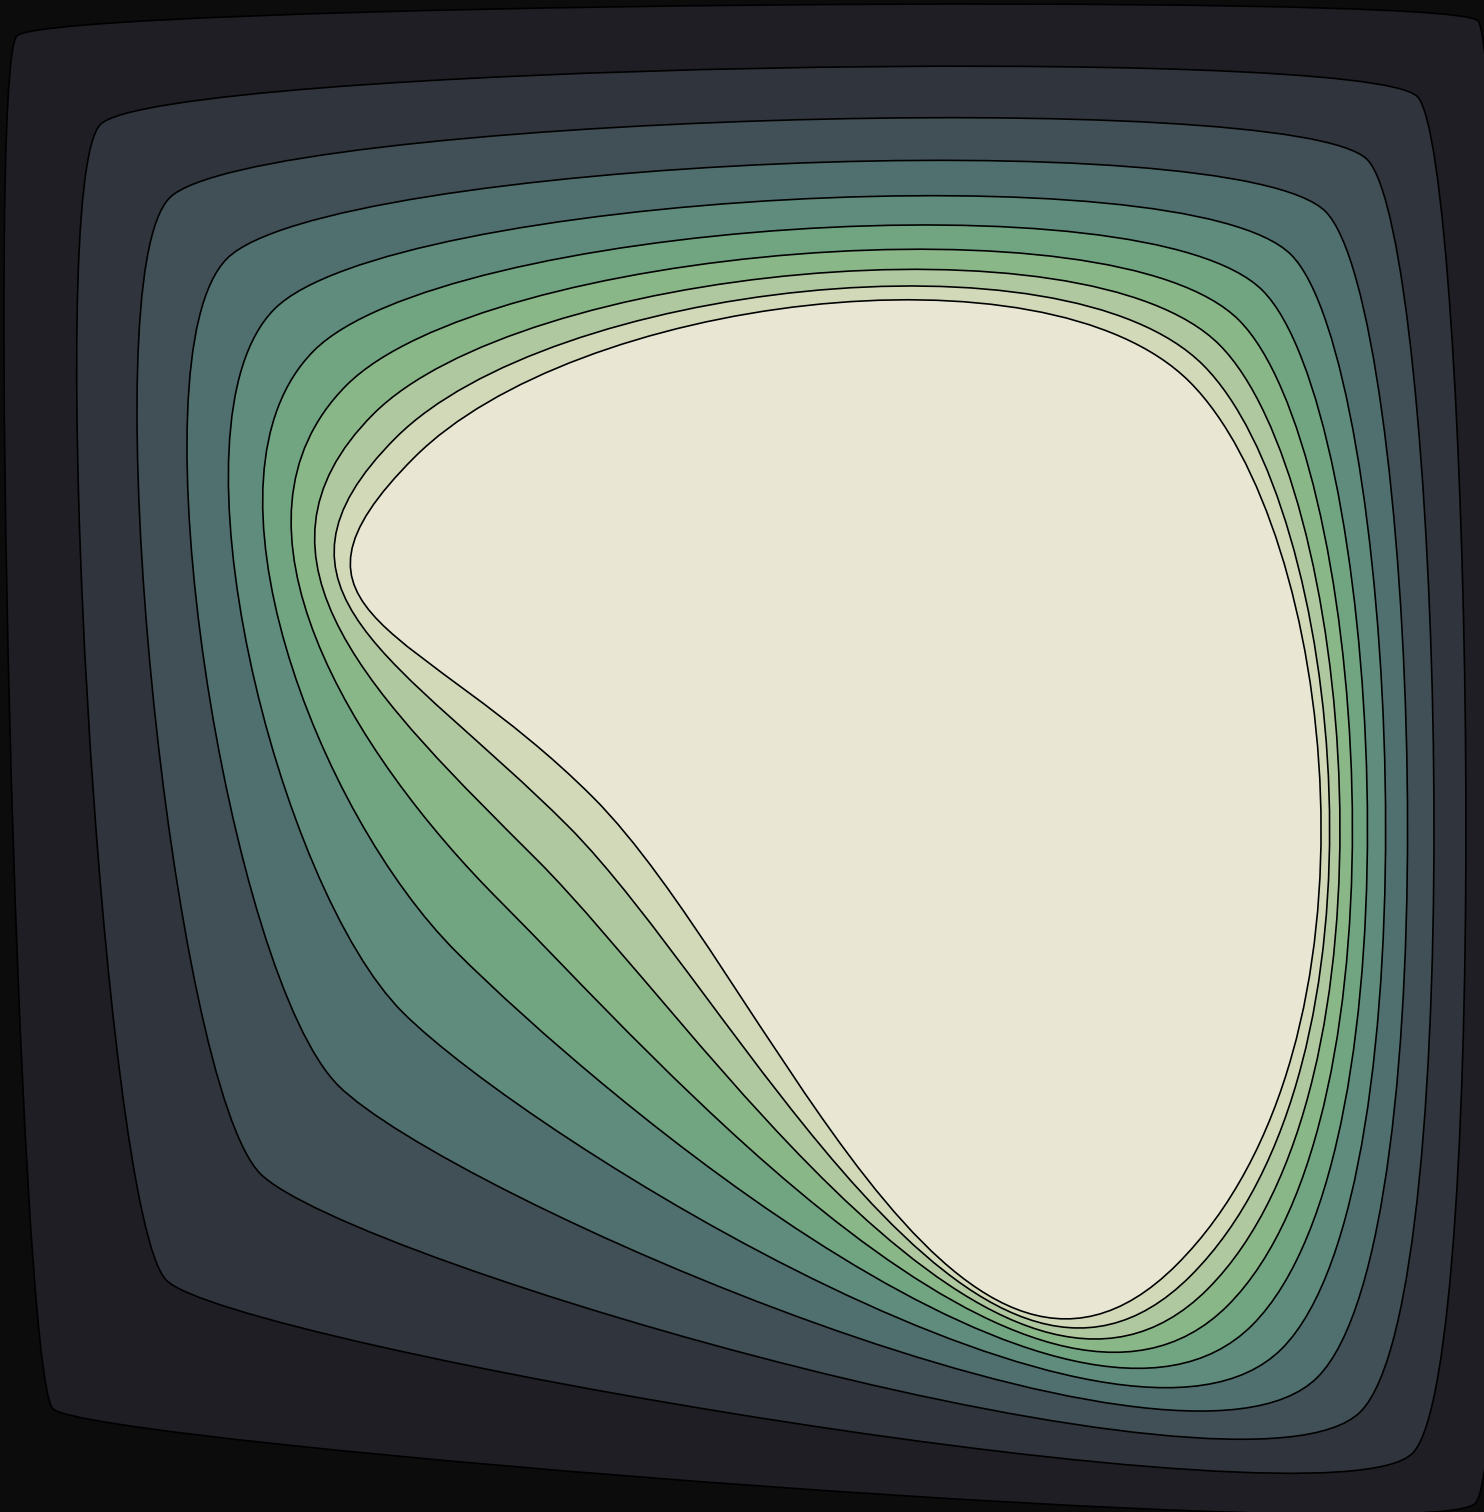

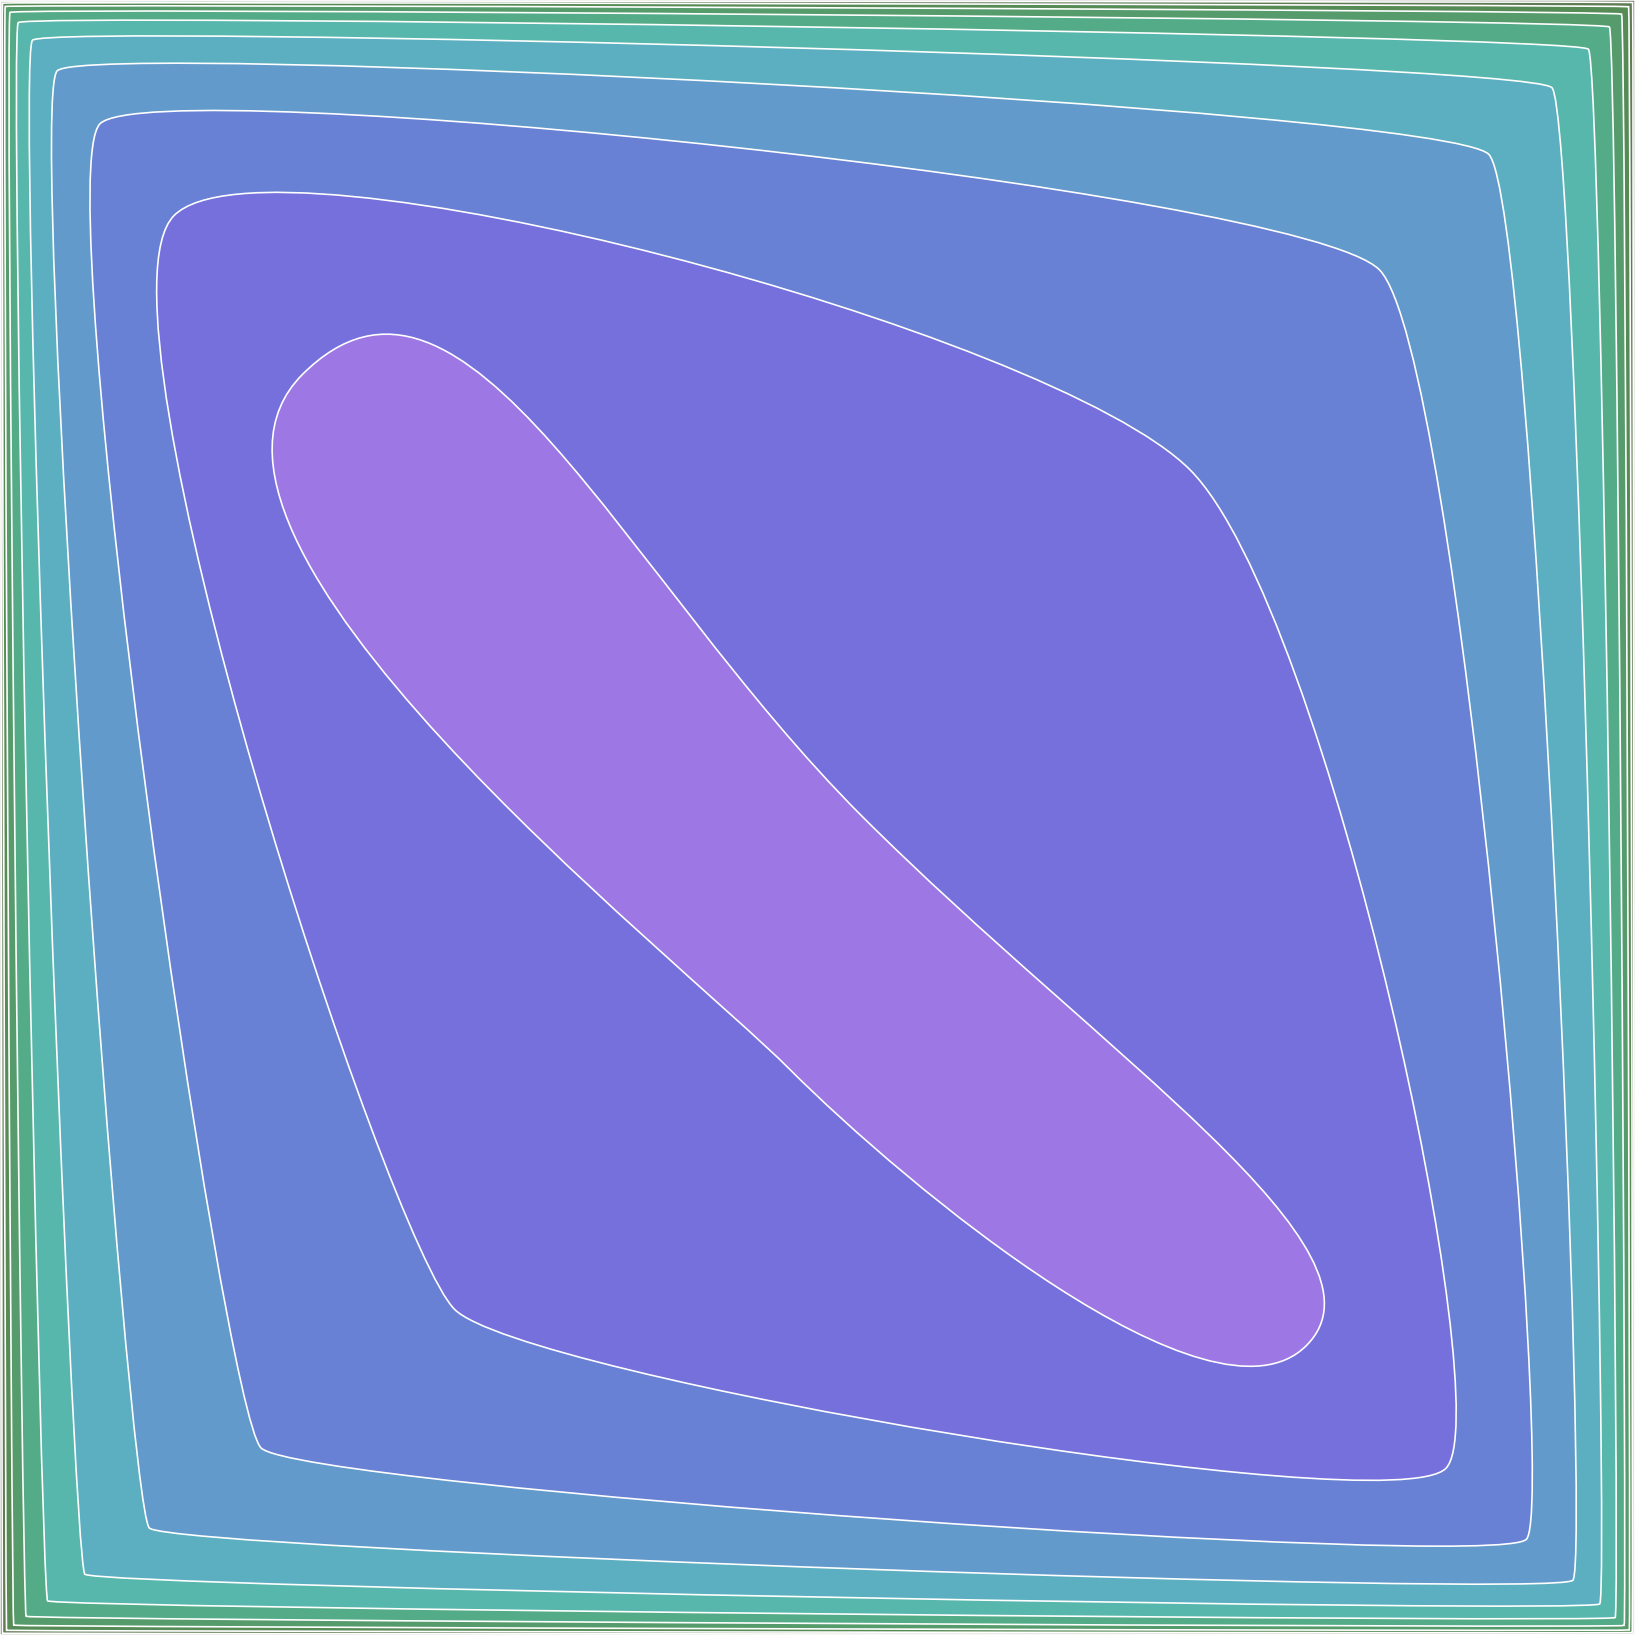

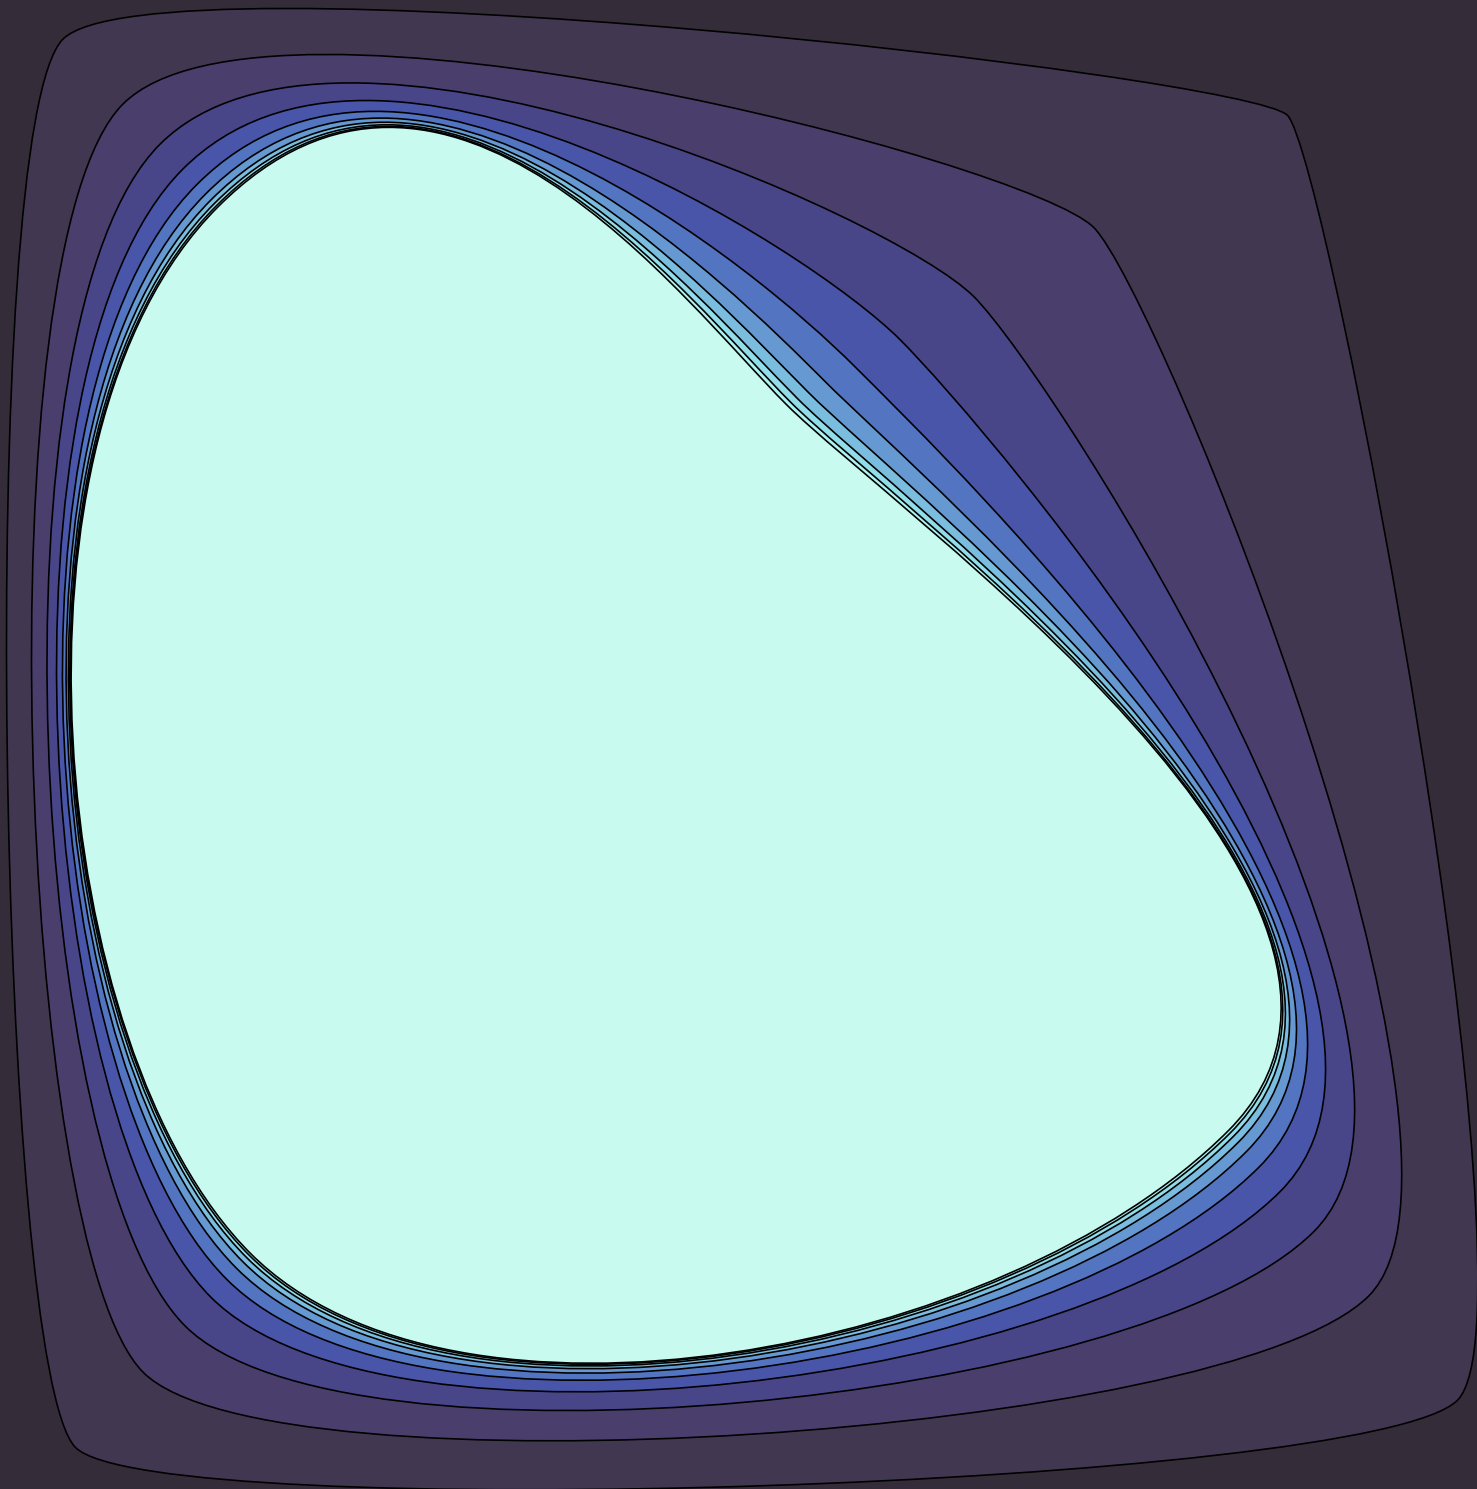

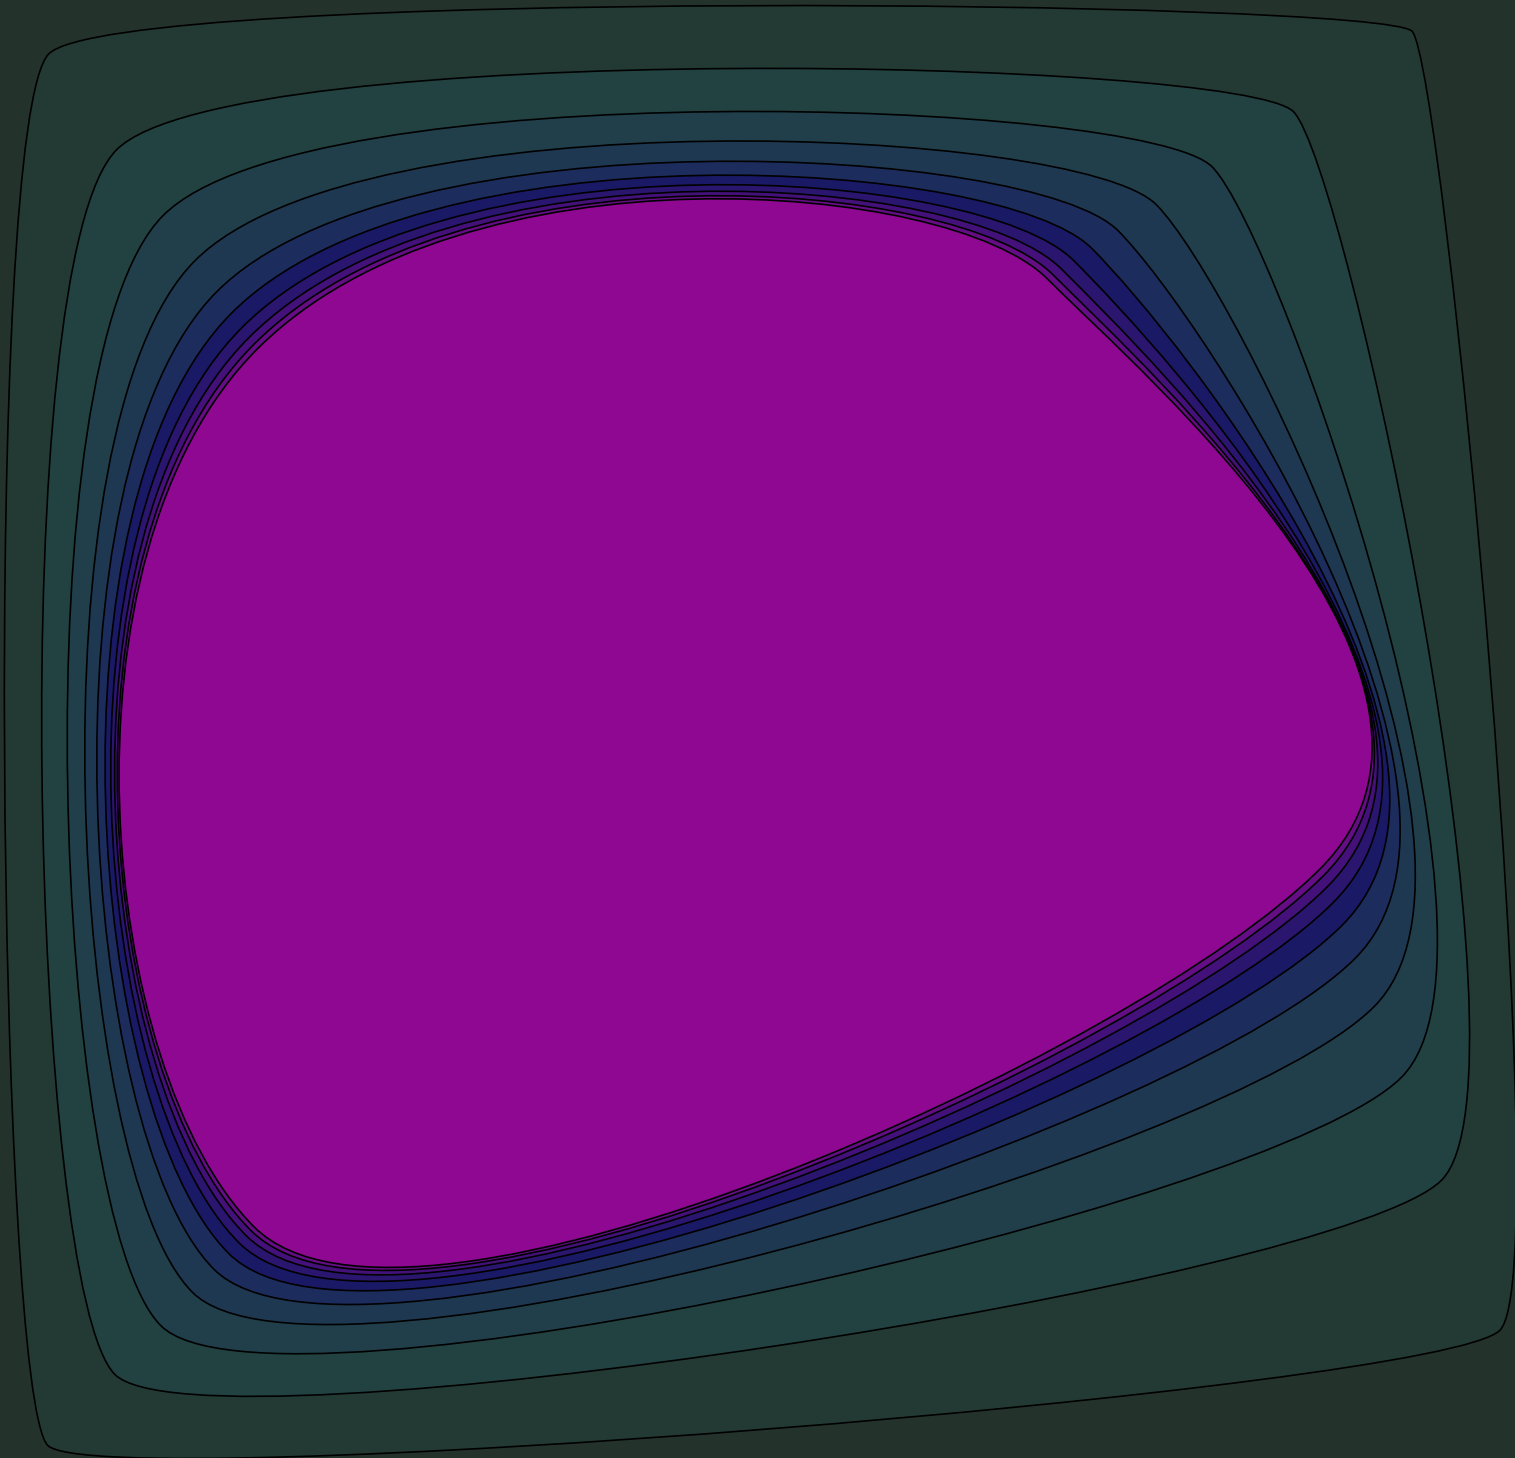

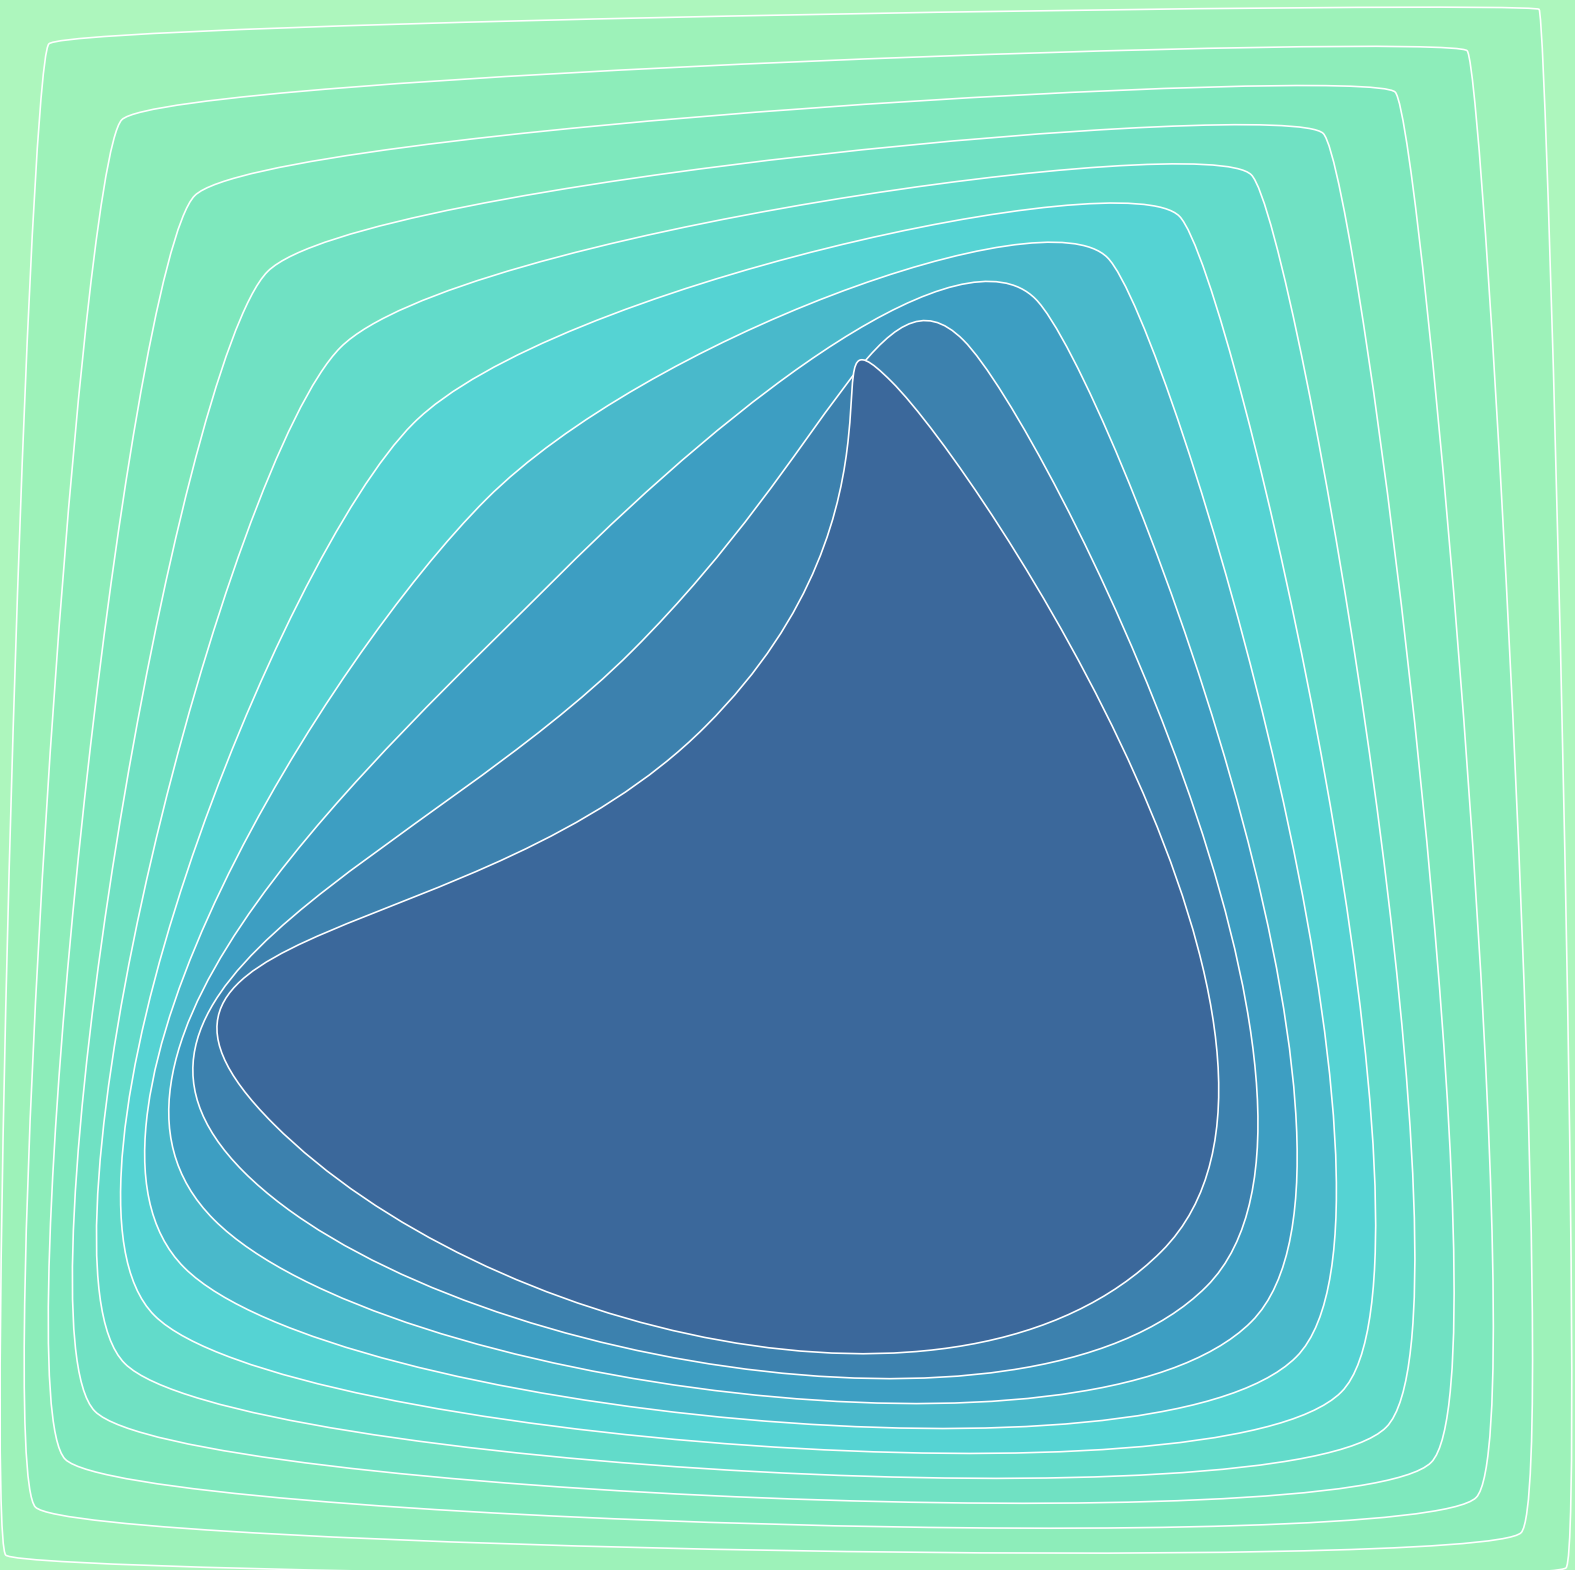

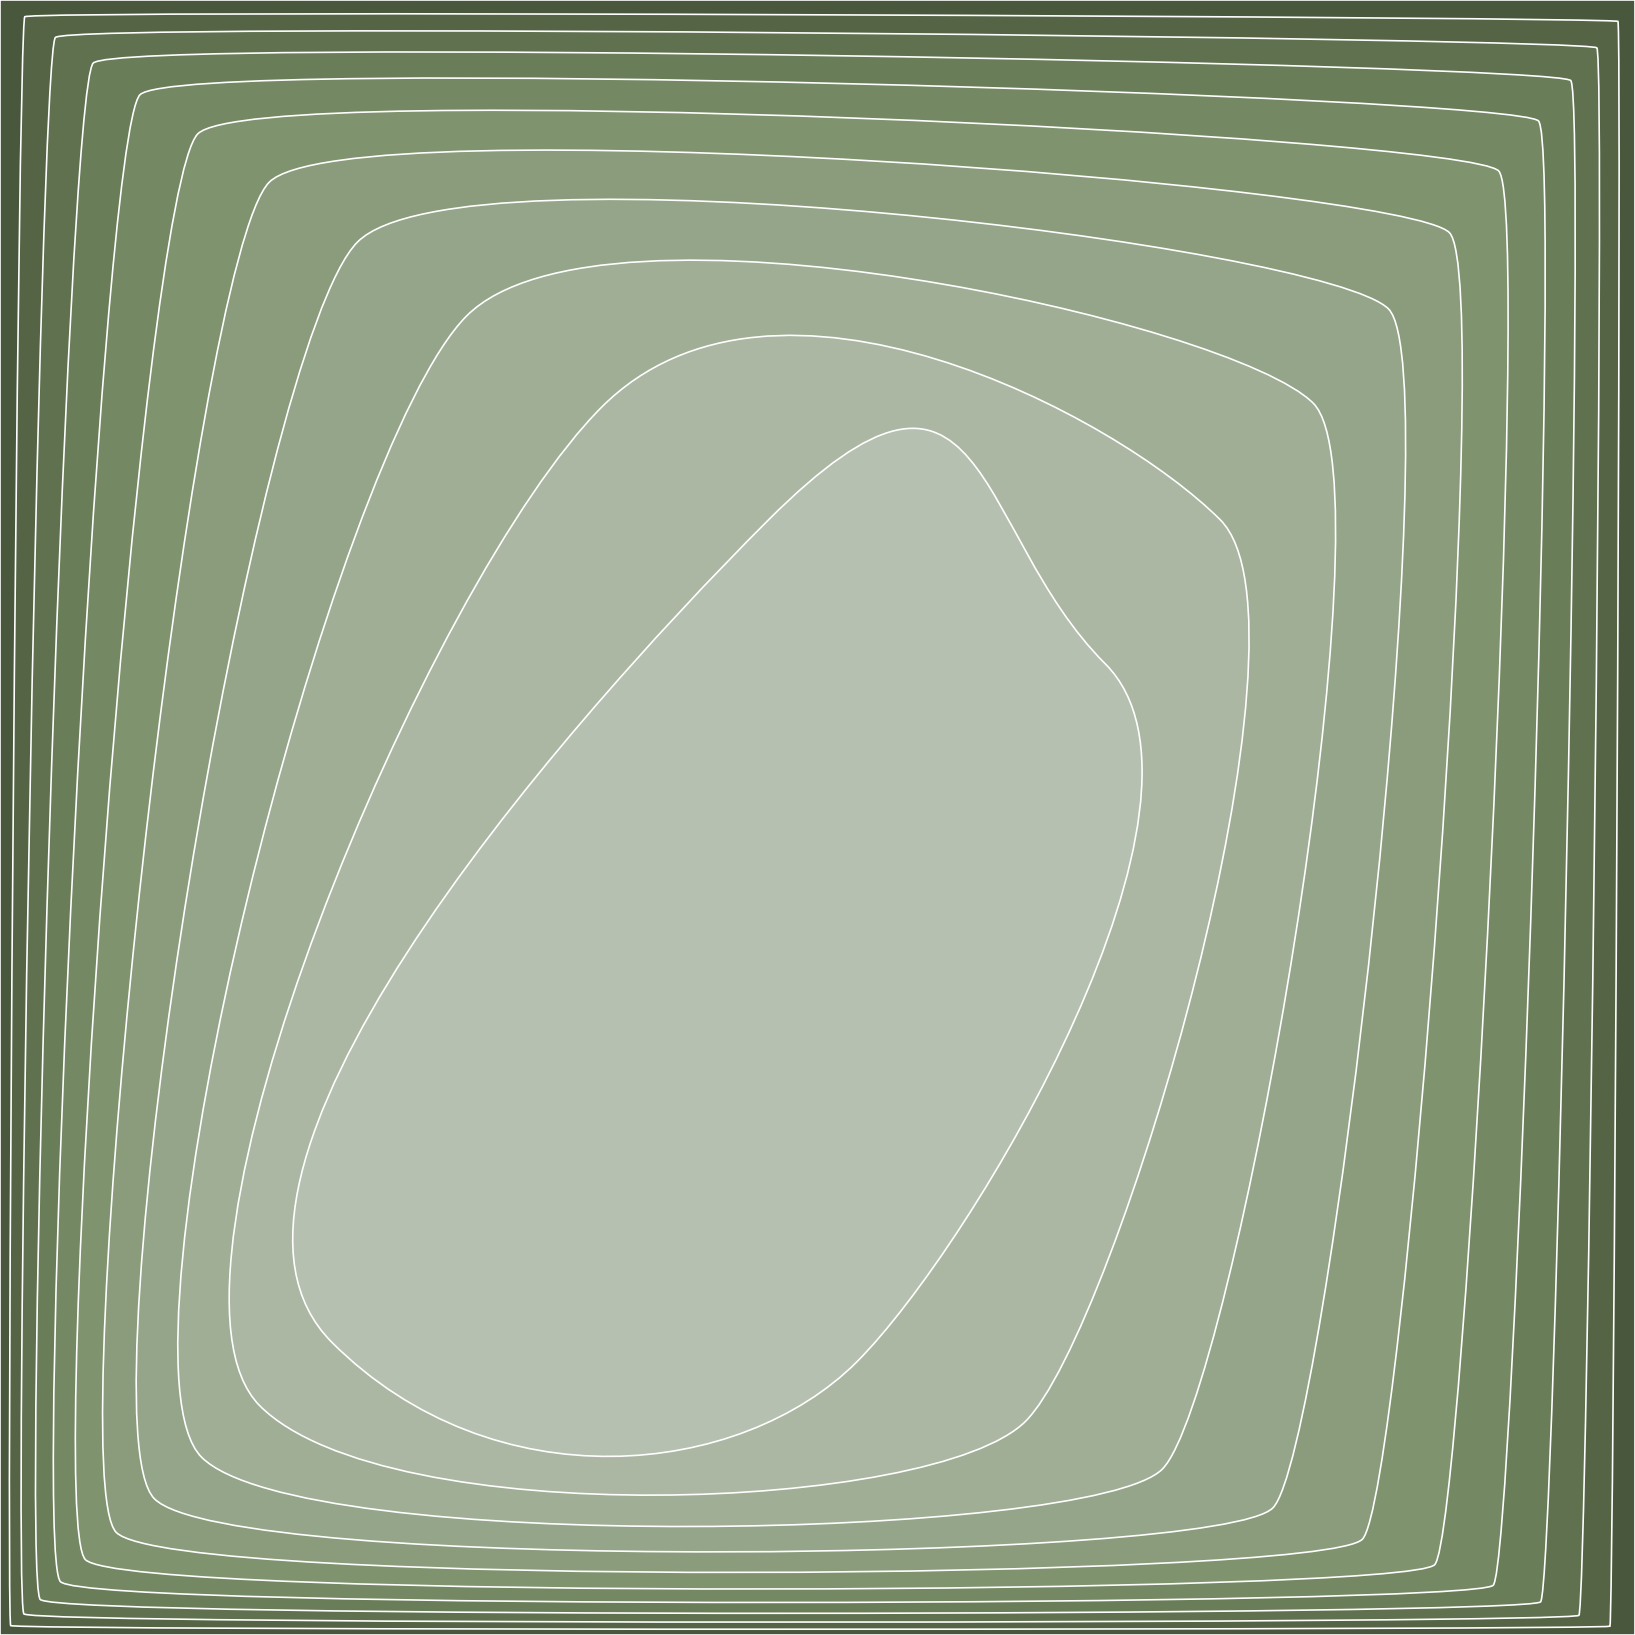

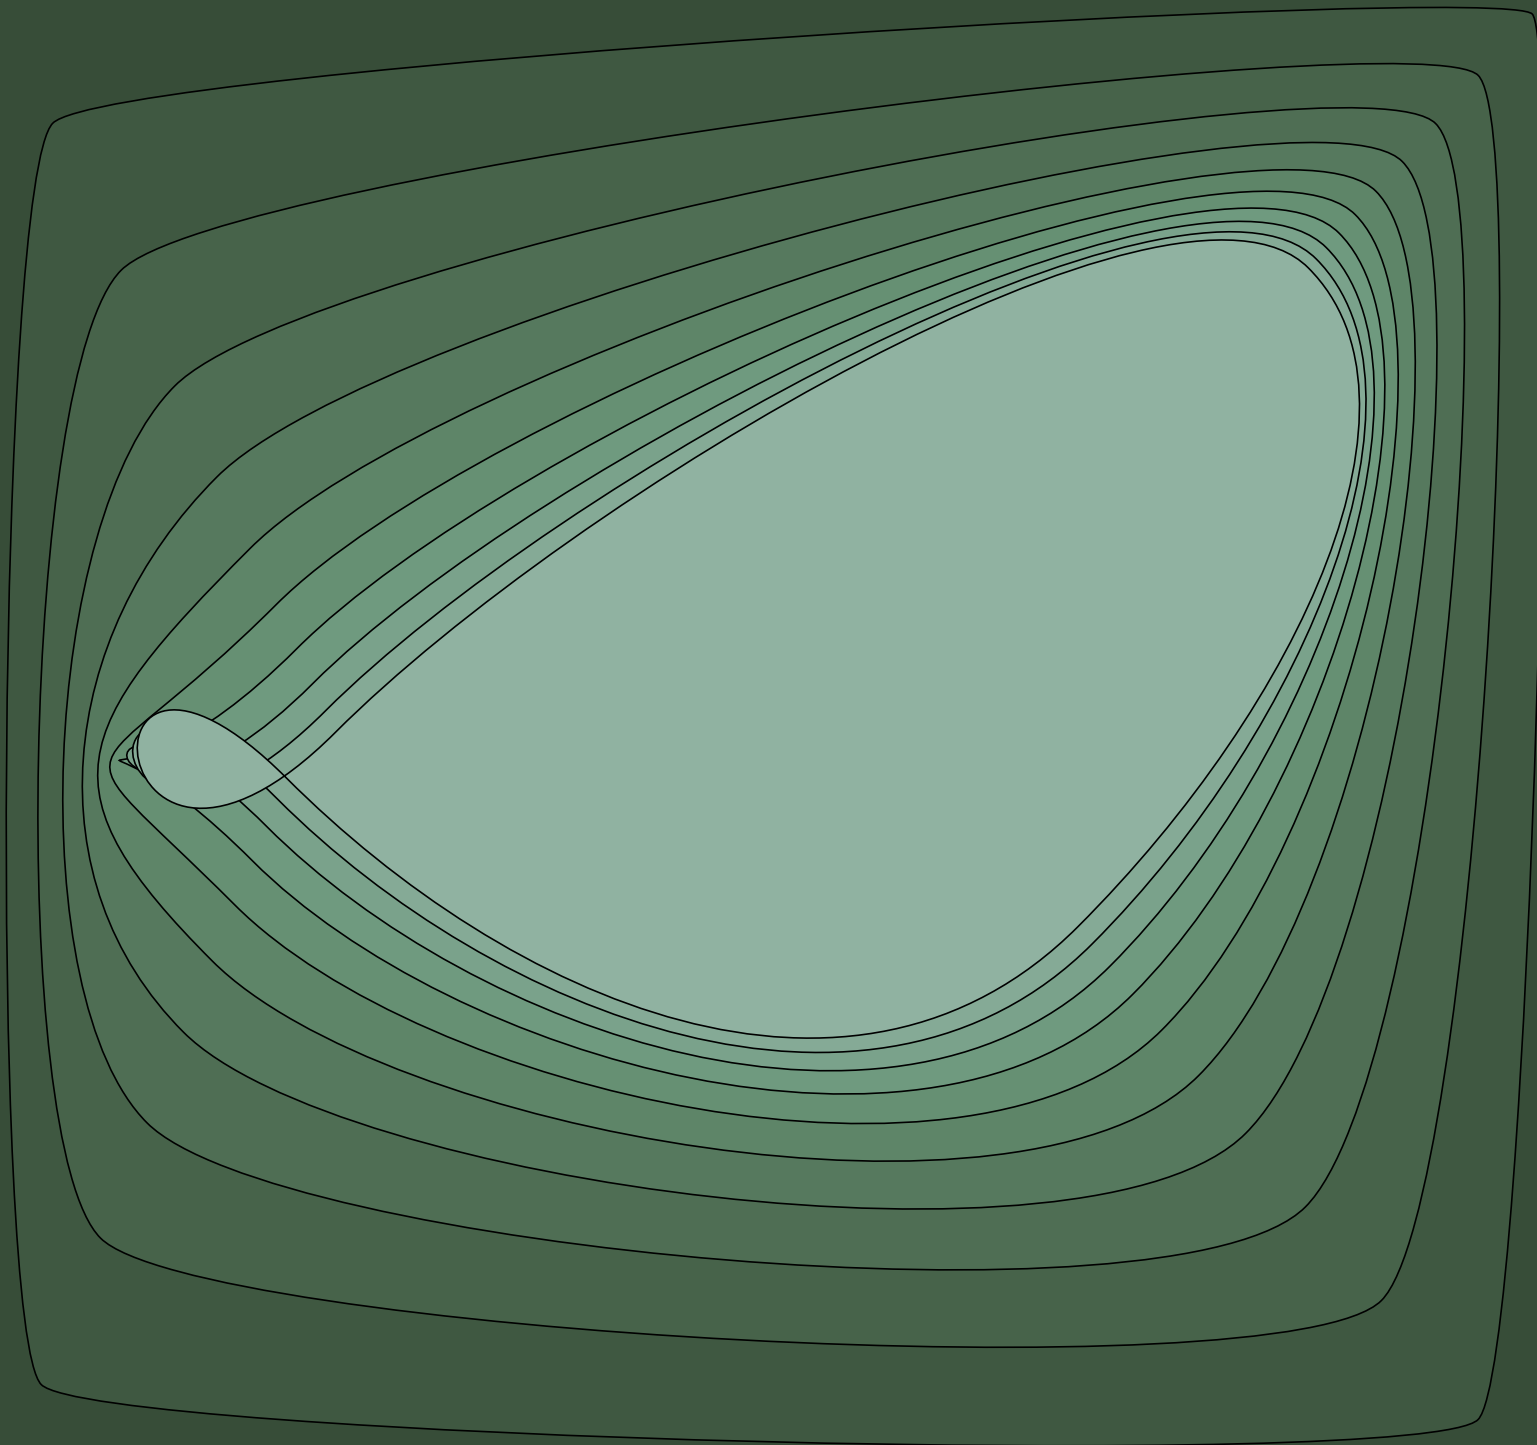

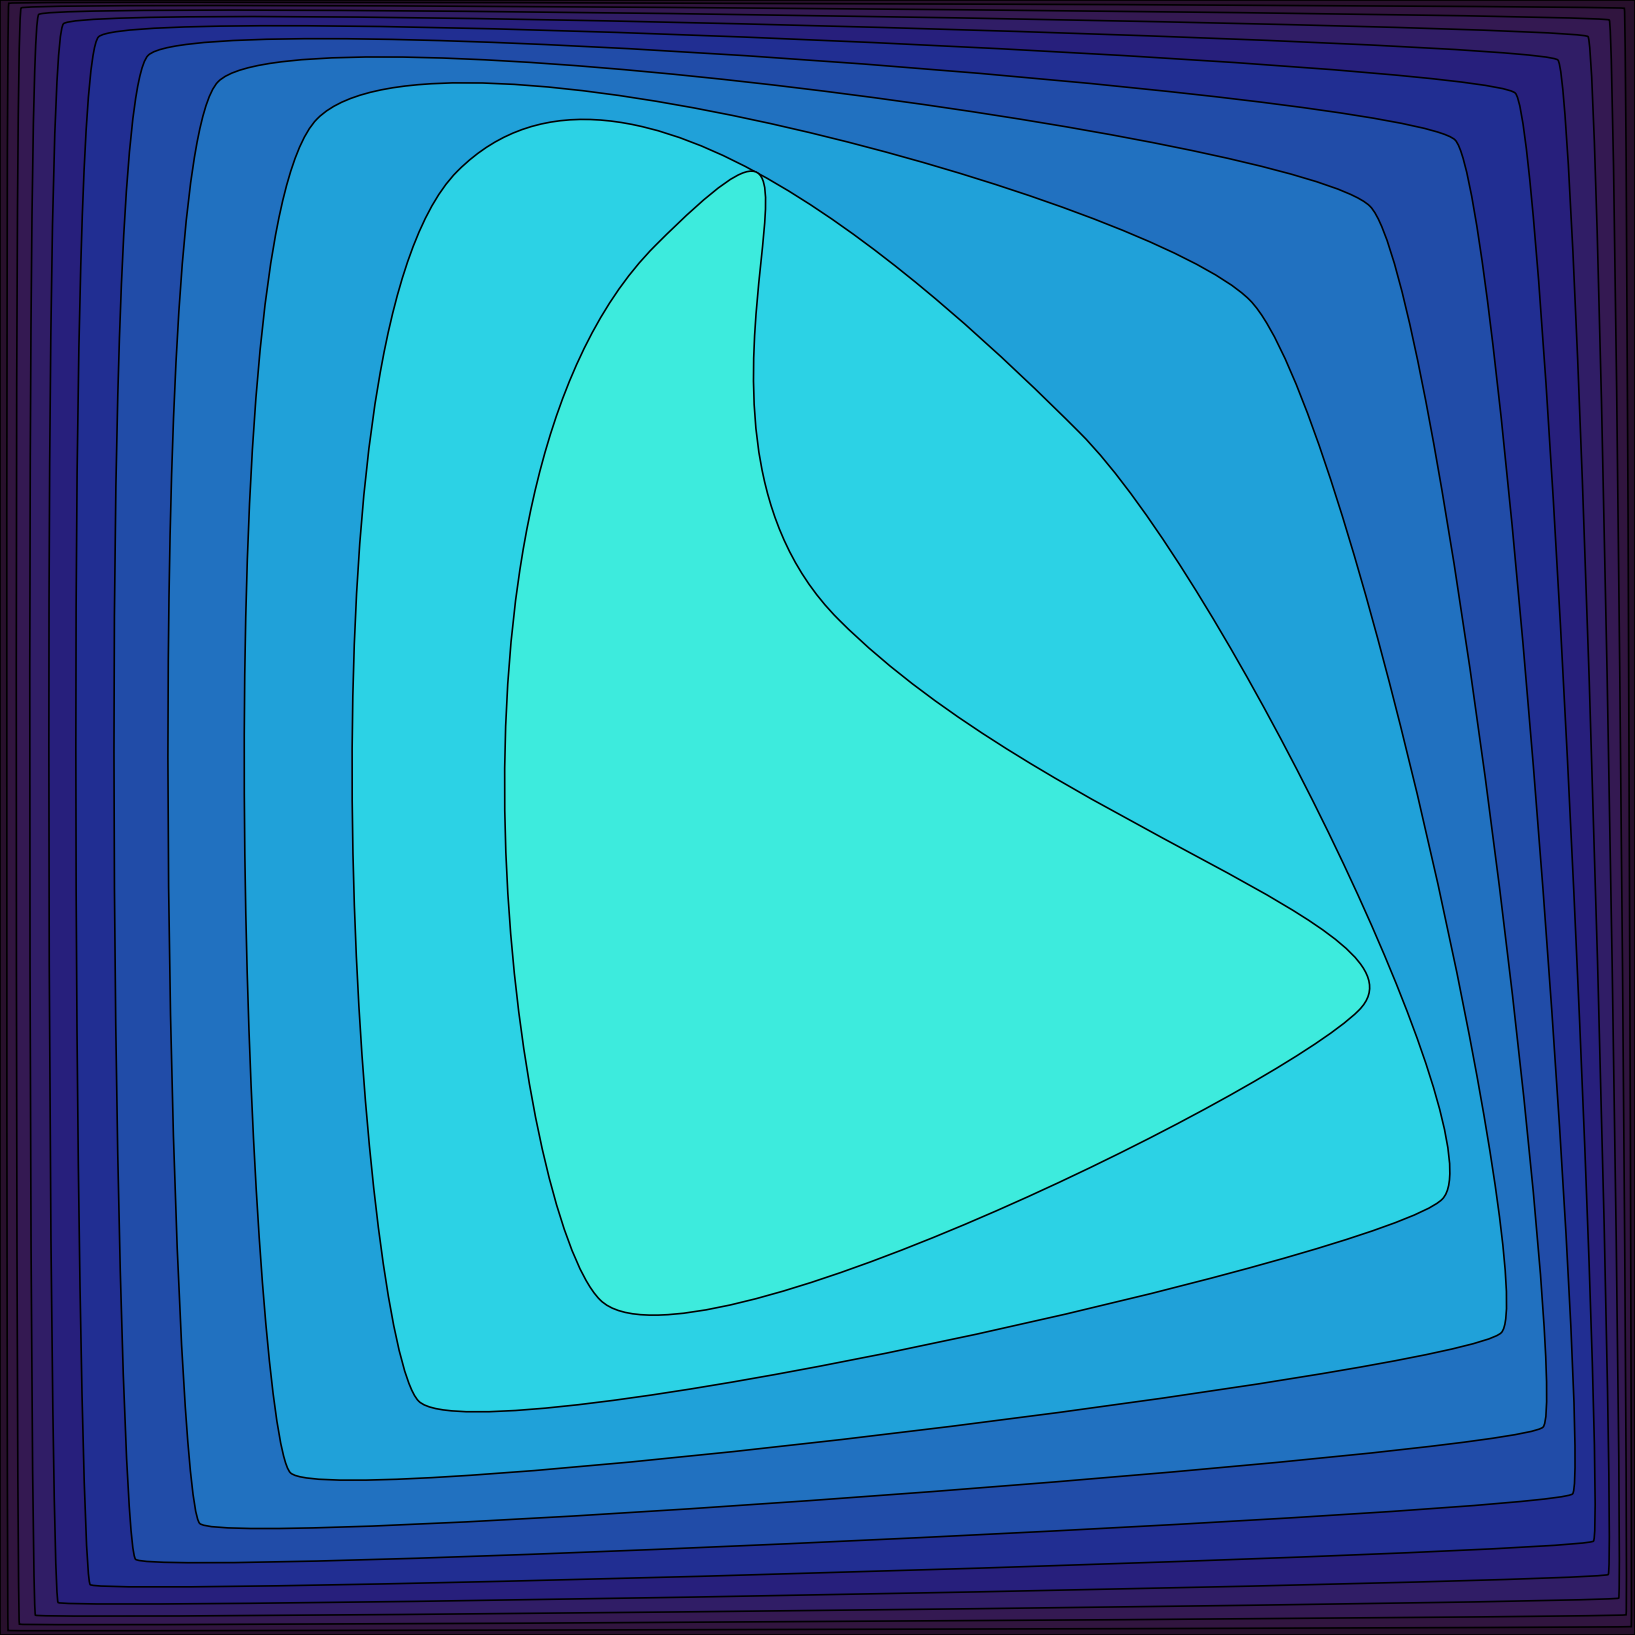

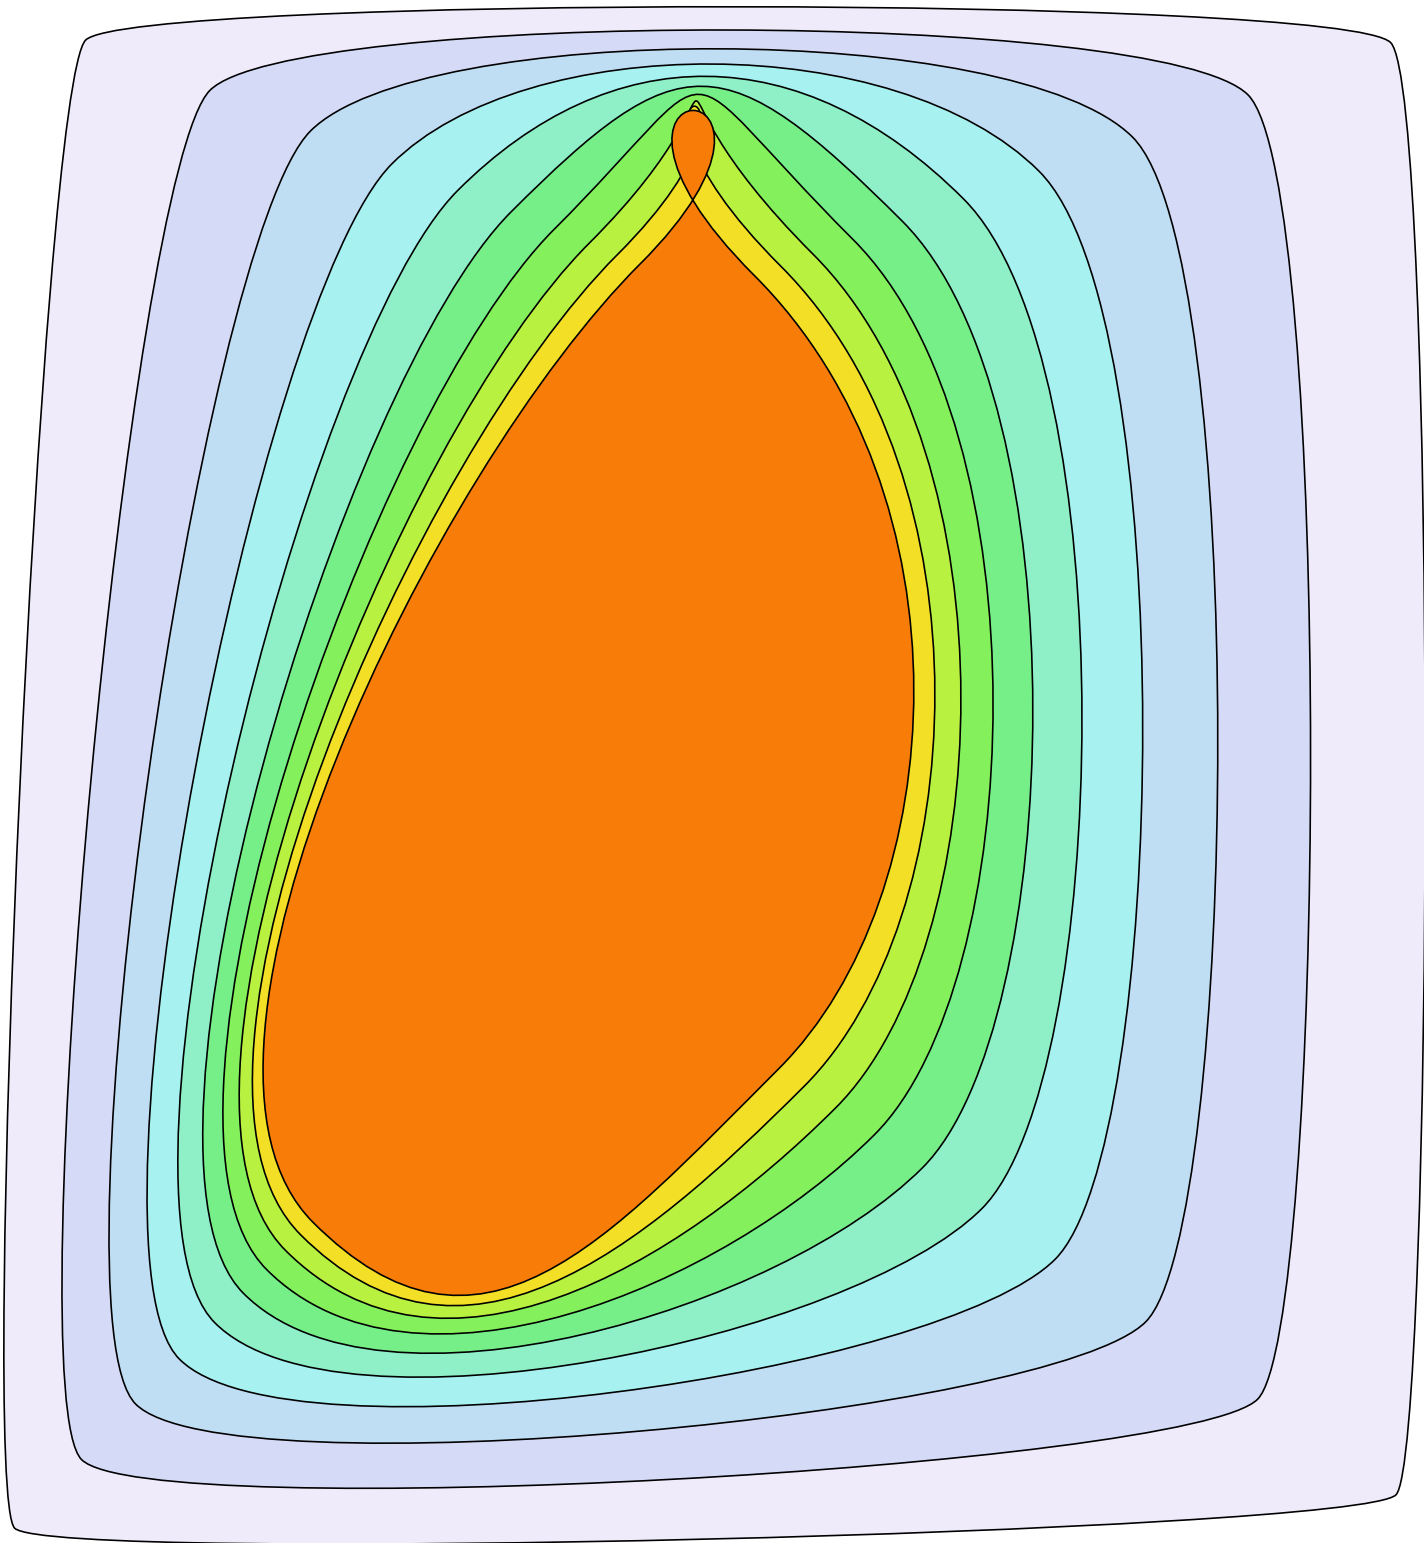

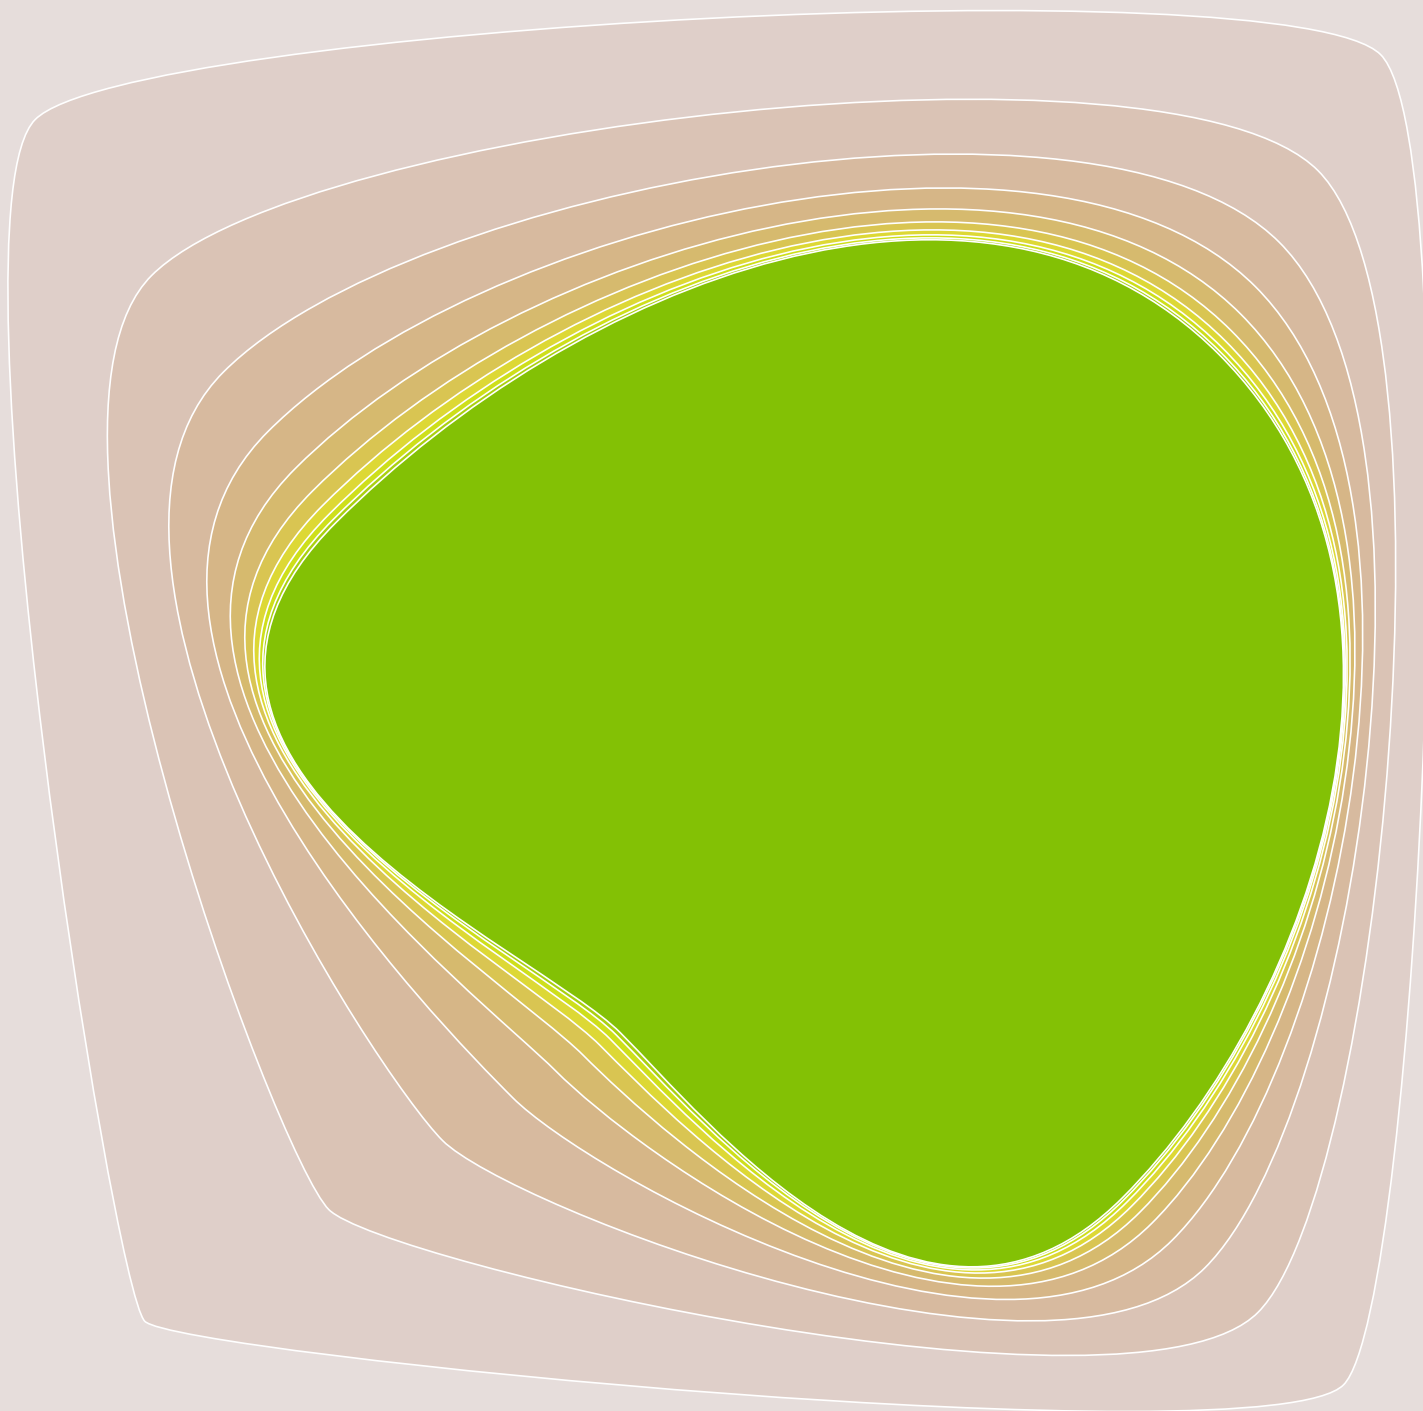

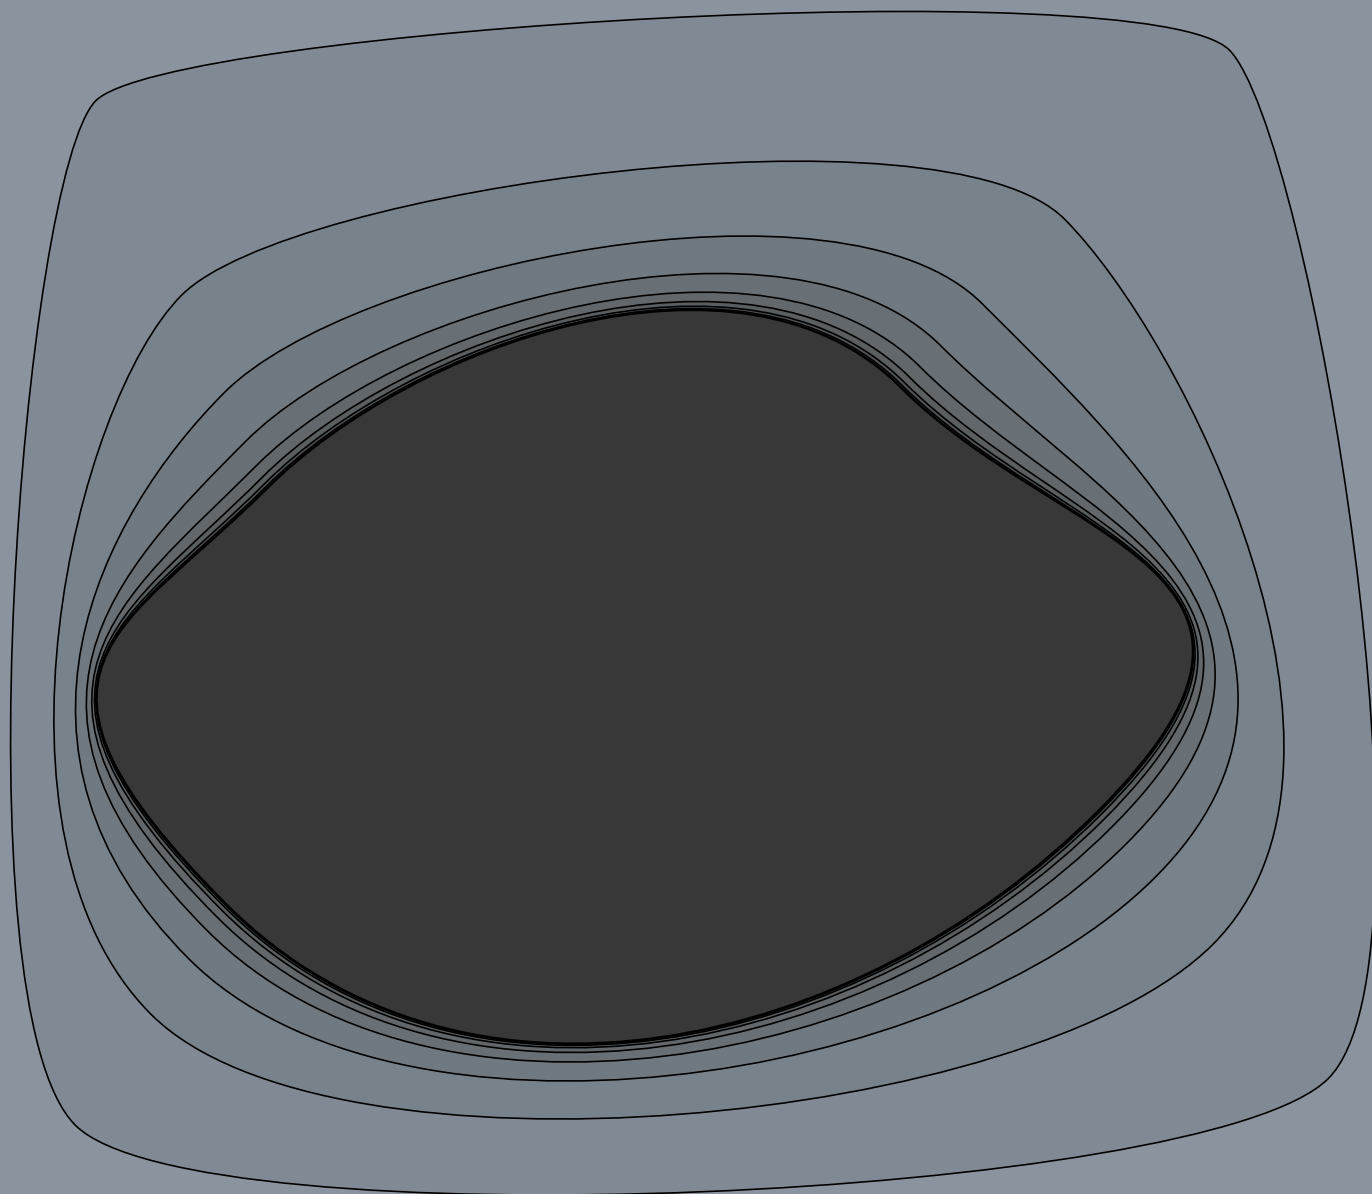

Created by Vasilis van Gemert. More random stuff on <http://ghehehe.nl/random/>